EVACUATIONS POSSIBLE FOR AT-RISK BURN AREA RESIDENTS

Evacuation orders could be issued later today to residents of at-risk communities impacted by burn areas due to present weather conditions over the Los Angeles area.

These weather conditions are forecast to continue throughout today and tomorrow.

Members of the Foothill Incident Management Team including County Public Works, Fire, and Sheriffs continue to closely monitor the storm system. Several communities are at risk to potential debris flows following the Station Fire and other previous fires.

Residents are advised to remain on high alert today and tomorrow and continue to monitor radio and television news broadcasts for further updates information.
