Josefa Salinas has been a radio broadcaster in Southern California for 30 years. She can be heard every day from the Central Coast to the Inland Empire.

Ms. Salinas is a two time National Association of Broadcasters "Crystal Award" winner, winner of the Diversity Councils 100 most Powerful and Influential Women in California, appointed by Mayor Garcetti as a Commissioner, a President’s Volunteer Service Award winner from President Barack Obama and a recipient of many other awards! A true champion for women and our communities who has reached another milestone, her own television show that debuted in Southern California in 2019 to 7 million households.

The woman once known as the "Angelita de la Noche" (“Angel of the Night”) on Los Angeles POWER 106 has become the founder and Chief Executive Officer of her own online radio stations, using cutting-edge technology to bring “The Power of Voices” to the local and global community. She is hard at work developing the niche station, “Your Military Voice” which will cater to active-duty servicemen and women and their families and retired veterans, as well as the highly anticipated “Hispanic Talk Network”.

Ms. Salina’s warm, conversational delivery and her penchant for engaging personal anecdotes led her to become a highly sought-after consultant and motivational speaker. As she looks ahead at future possibilities, she continues to dream of ways to make the world a better place as she provides assistance to those in need, gives a voice to the unheard and fosters new opportunities in all areas of a well-lived life.
