EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The 2013-14 professional development program final report details the additional training opportunities offered to current OGP grantees as well as the greater Los Angeles County arts community. As in past years, the Arts Commission has provided professional development opportunities at low or no cost to eligible grantees with the limited funds available for the technical assistance program. At the recent work retreat, grants and professional development staff reviewed the number of meetings, convenings, workshops and panels that were either coordinated and/or hosted by the Arts Commission and found that there were over 55 last year, or approximately one opportunity per week.

Opportunities for the Arts Sector
Of special note, there were several offerings open to artists and arts administrators including: a workshop on health care reform and the Affordable Care Act, the first Arts Tune-Up in Leimert Park for 107 participants as well as a special convening focused on dance in Los Angeles. For the first time, the Arts Commission convened all the municipalities that participated in the Municipal Cultural Planning Initiative from 2006-2010 to follow-up on their development of cultural plans for the Cities of Burbank and Beverly Hills, the Lennox Arts and Cultural Committee, the Arts Council for Long Beach as well as the Pomona Cultural Arts Commission.

Grantee Scholarships
Grantees continue to have access to scholarships to take advantage of trainings through partnerships with the Center for Nonprofit Management and the Long Beach Nonprofit Partnership as well as to attend local conferences, and attended 246 workshops this year, an increase of 16% from FY 2012-13.

Leadership Development
In order to continue to broaden support for the arts sector through relationship building and articulate and integrate the nonprofit arts sectors’ contributions to a civil and healthy society, the Arts Commission supported several scholarships for grantee organizations to receive specific leadership training through the Southern California Leadership Network, Long Beach Nonprofit Partnership, Executive Service Corps of Southern California, the Center for Nonprofit Management, as well as the Annenberg Foundation’s Alchemy and Alchemy+ Leadership Seminars. The scholarship support for participation of arts leaders is integral to nonprofit leadership development. For example, prior to 2011, less than 1% of all participants in the Southern California Leadership Network represented the nonprofit arts sector. Staff also found that since the inception of Annenberg Alchemy program, nearly 37% of OGP grantees have participated. Staff shares program announcements regularly, and grantees apply directly to competitive leadership programs of interest to them.
The primary purpose of the Arts Commission’s Professional Development Program is to provide technical assistance and leadership development opportunities to the organizations that receive grants through the Organizational Grant Program (OGP). Special initiatives, leadership development programs, scholarships and workshops assist grantee organizations in building capacity by providing learning opportunities for the individuals who lead and staff them.

The Arts Commission also provides convening and workshop opportunities outside the OGP program for the arts sector in keeping with its mission to provide leadership in cultural services for the County, including information and resources for the community, artists, educators, arts organizations and municipalities.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR THE ARTS SECTOR

Health Care Reform
On December 5, 2013 The Actors Fund conducted a free seminar, Understanding Health Care Reform: Obtaining Insurance for You and Your Employees, at the Arts Commission offices for 16 attendees. Open to everyone who works in the arts sector, the workshop was an opportunity to learn about Covered California options and how to better understand how to get affordable health insurance with the help of tax credits and federal subsidies.

Arts Tune-Ups and Community Convenings: Arts Tune-Ups were first introduced in 2002-03 as a mechanism for the Arts Commission to provide a broad range of technical assistance for both artists and organizations. The Arts Commission typically partners with a local municipality or nonprofit arts organization to present each Arts Tune-Up.

At each Arts Tune-Up, participants visit five successive roundtable discussions where they spend 25 minutes per table with an expert learning about a specific topic, such as Fundraising for Organizations, Marketing for Individual Artists, Cultural and Community Outreach or Understanding Health Insurance and Healthcare Reform. Participants also have the option to gather information about a number of other service providers, such as Center for Cultural Innovation, Claremont Graduate University’s Arts Management Program, The Actor’s Fund and California Lawyers for the Arts.

In 2013-14, the Arts Commission partnered with the Empowerment Congress Arts and Culture Committee of the Second Supervisorial District, the City of Los Angeles Department of Cultural Affairs and City of Torrance Cultural Services Division, Community Services Department to present two Arts Tune-Up events:

- The first event held at the Vision Theatre in Leimert Park on February 22 was attended by 107 arts learners. The program drew participants from throughout the County including East Los Angeles, Inglewood and Pasadena. The program was geared toward providing individual artists and representatives of arts organizations with practical information and resources on a variety of arts-related topics such as advocacy, arts education, community and cultural outreach, fundraising and public relations. One new topic was introduced at this event: Crowdfunding 101.

- The second Arts Tune-Up was held on April 12, 2014 at the Ken Miller Recreation Center in the Torrance Cultural Arts Center and was attended by 55 artists. The program drew participants from throughout the County, including Lomita, Monrovia, Carson and San Pedro. The free Arts Tune-Up program provides individual artists and representatives of arts organizations with practical information and resources on a variety of arts related topics such as arts education, fundraising, marketing and creating compelling presentations. Two topics were introduced at this event: Creating Compelling Presentations and Effective Self-Promotion for Artists.

To assist in producing the Arts Tune-Up events, the Arts Commission contracted with LA Stage Alliance, the Center for Nonprofit Management and the Center for Cultural Innovation to identify content experts. As in previous years, topics in 2013-14 included advocacy, arts education, fundraising, marketing, and understanding health care.

The Arts Tune Up events continue to draw attendees from throughout the County and participants are willing to travel long distances the opportunity for free training. A Web-based survey was sent out to participants immediately following each event. One participant shared:

"Thank you for providing this highly informative and beneficial event. I walked away feeling empowered with knowledge and inspired to implement what I learned."

In addition to the Arts Tune-Up events, "Conversations Inside & Outside the Box: Expanding the Presence of Dance in LA" was held at the offices of the Arts Commission on October 12 and presented in partnership with the Dance Resource Center and Pentacle. Over forty-five participants attended facilitated conversations on the following topics:

- Bringing Dance to the Public through Technology and Media with Francesca Penzani, Faculty - Dance for Camera, and Theatre Production/Video) Sharon Disney Lund School of Dance; Faculty of Integrated Media; and Faculty of CAP (Community Arts Partnership) at CalArts, Director, Choreographer and Producer
- Dance in the Community with Melanie Rios Glaser, Artistic Director & Co-CEO, The Wooden Floor
- Getting Work in the “Obvious” Places: Theaters, Site Specific Works, Museums, Festivals, Residencies, etc. with Rachel Cohen, Executive Director, Cadence Arts Network, Inc.
- Corporate Work: Parties, Commercial Gigs, Restaurants, Theme Parks, etc. with Allen Moon, Director of Sales, David Lieberman / Artists’ Representatives, Julie McDonald, Senior Agent/Founder, McDonald/Selznick Associates and Felicia Rosenfeld, Director of Programming, Pentacle

The event was well-received and feedback for participants was positive. One participant wrote: “It was terrific to get to know more members of the LA dance community and get a feeling for the well-being and interests of the field” while another shared: “It was beneficial to learn how other companies are dealing with the challenges of technology, social media and the need to engage the community, as well as strategic approaches to booking and being open to corporate work.”
Arts Tune-Ups in 2014-15

The Arts Commission will continue to partner with the LA Stage Alliance, the Center for Nonprofit Management and the Center for Cultural Innovation to deliver Arts Tune-Up events. The first Arts Tune-Up event has been scheduled in San Gabriel for January 31, 2015. A second Arts Tune-Up has been scheduled at the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium on May 2, 2015.

OGP Workshops for Grantseekers in 2013-14: Seven Organizational Grant Program Application Workshops were offered at various locations throughout Los Angeles County from September through November 2013. The workshops took place in Downtown Los Angeles, Boyle Heights, North Hollywood, Pasadena, Venice and Long Beach. In addition to learning basic application skills, nonprofit specialists provided arts organizations with technical assistance on topics such as Evaluation Made Easy(ier), Building Your Case: How to Design Compelling Grant Projects, Arts Education, Grantseeking Basics and Improving Artistic Samples. Over 150 prospective applicants attended the workshops from September through November 2013.

Staff again offered “Office Hours” appointments during which applicants met one-on-one with Arts Commission staff. Staff provided guidance and information about other resources, in addition to Arts Commission programs and opportunities.

OGP Workshops in 2014-15: Seven workshops will be offered at various locations throughout Los Angeles County from September through November 2014. The workshops will take place in East LA, Pasadena, North Hollywood, Venice, Long Beach and Central and Downtown LA. Nonprofit specialists will provide arts organizations with specific applications, information and special technical assistance around topics relating to grant writing and proposal development.

In addition to the convenings, meetings and workshops referred to above, the Arts Commission convenes the Los Angeles Arts Funders on a monthly basis. See Appendix A for full list of convenings, meetings, workshops, panels and site visits organized and/or conducted by the Arts Commission during the 2013-14 fiscal year.

Municipal Convenings: In 2013-14 the Arts Commission convened municipalities for four meetings. On October 30, 2013 the Arts Commission convened the municipalities that participated in the Municipal Cultural Planning Initiative to support the development of five cultural plans. The initiative was funded by the National Endowment for the Arts and the Los Angeles County Quality and Productivity Commission’s Productivity Investment Fund. Representatives from the City of Burbank, the Lennox Arts and Cultural Committee, the Arts Council for Long Beach and the Pomona Cultural Arts Commission attended the meeting. Participants had an opportunity to provide updates on how implementation of each municipality’s cultural plan has gone, as well as to discuss challenges and successes. Participants were also able to share resources and best practices.

Also on the afternoon of October 30, 2013 the Arts Commission convened 22 municipal arts funders and arts and culture representatives for an informational meeting that included information about The Actors Fund Health Exchange workshops on Obamacare, updates on the World Cities Culture Forum and a presentation on Cultural Asset Mapping by Arts for LA.

On January 30, 2014 the Arts Commission convened all seven municipal arts funder to review and assess what should continue to be common and what can be specific to each application in order to further streamline the grant application process for common grantees. Municipal arts funders in LA County developed common questions to help nonprofit organizations in LA County save time in the grant application process. Common questions are indicated with a sun ☼ symbol in each municipality’s grant application. Partnering organizations are the Arts Council of Long Beach, City of Los Angeles Department of Cultural Affairs, City of West Hollywood, Culver City Cultural Affairs Division, Los Angeles County Arts Commission, Pasadena Cultural Affairs and the Santa Monica Cultural Affairs Division.

On May 16, 2014 Nina Ozlu Tunceli, Chief Counsel of Government and Public Affairs of Americans for the Arts and Executive Director of the Americans for the Arts Action Fund, visited the Arts Commission to meet with municipal arts funders to discuss upcoming advocacy issues and elections.

_Municipal Convenings in 2014-15:_
The Arts Commission will continue to convene both municipal arts funders as well as municipal arts and culture representatives for information meetings as well as to discuss issues pertinent to the field. In the fall, municipalities will convene to discuss use and participation costs of the California Cultural Data Project.

GRANTEE SCHOLARSHIPS

Continuing a strategy begun in 2003-04, the Arts Commission provides scholarships to staff, board members and volunteers from grantee organizations with budgets under $1.5 M. Scholarships are offered for trainings and workshops at local management support organizations, as well as arts or discipline-specific conferences held regionally. In addition, the Arts Commission offers workshops to meet the specific needs of grantees that are not covered by other service providers in the region.

The purpose of the scholarships is to provide individuals with the ability to self-determine their individual and organizational needs and encourage staff and board development at all levels of the organization. Contracting with service providers for scholarships also provides support to service organizations in the County.

Supervisors, as well as alumni from the Arts Internship program, continued to take advantage of opportunities in 2013-14 providing an additional level of career development.

Center for Nonprofit Management: The Center for Nonprofit Management (CNM) provides a wide variety of trainings and workshops ranging from board development to grant writing to strategic planning. In 2013-14, the Arts Commission provided 193 scholarships for trainings and workshops at CNM to 60 OGP organizations. The Cultural Exchange Grant Writing Workshop, Evaluation and Planning Fundamentals, Fundraising for the 1-Person Development Office, Meet the Arts Funders, Persuasive Writing for General Operating Grants, and Understanding Nonprofit Accounting were among the most popular workshops taken by grantees.

Long Beach Nonprofit Partnership: For the fourth year, the Arts Commission partnered with Long Beach Nonprofit Partnership (LBNP), the only nonprofit management support organization in the greater Long Beach area, to offer scholarships to grantees to attend professional development trainings and workshops. The LBNP provides a wide variety of offerings ranging from board development and marketing to fundraising and evaluation. The LBNP made its monthly networking breakfasts and professionally facilitated roundtables for executive directors, volunteer managers, fund development professionals and board leaders available to OGP organizations.

The Arts Commission provided 53 scholarships for trainings and workshops at the LBNP to 32 OGP organizations. Popular workshops at the LBNP included Organizational Sustainability, Power of Nonprofits: Engines of Growth, and Fundraising for the Small Shop. In addition, partial scholarships were given to 2 grantees to attend multi-session certificate programs on grantwriting and human resources management.
Scholarships in 2014-15
The Arts Commission is continuing its scholarship programs with the Center for Nonprofit Management and the Long Beach Nonprofit Partnership, offering grantees the opportunity to self-select specific trainings and workshops.

Analysis of OGP Grantee Workshop and Scholarship Usage

In 2013-14, 86 OGP organizations attended a total of 246 workshops at the Center for Nonprofit Management and the Long Beach Nonprofit Partnership. Overall, we found that 26% of the eligible OGP grantee pool took advantage of the scholarship program in 2013-14, an increase of 16% from 2012-2013.

Of the 86 grantee organizations that participated in the scholarship program:
- 69% attended 1-2 workshops
- 16% attended 3-6
- 9% attended 7-9 workshops
- 6% attended more than 10 workshops.

Conferences: Conferences offer grantees the opportunity to network, forge partnerships and collaborations, develop awareness of resources and best practices in the field, and sharpen skills through practical training. In 2013-14 the Arts Commission provided 18 scholarships to grantees to attend the following conferences in the region: Arts Reach National Arts Marketing Development & Ticketing Conference, Western Arts Alliance Conference, 2014 Theatre Communications Group Annual Conference, LA Stage Day and the 501(c)onference 2014. See Appendix B for full list of attendees.

One participant who attended the Western Arts Alliance Conference wrote:

“I have a better understanding of what presenters are looking for in a dance company. It has given me insight into the booking of performing arts groups and furthered awareness of me as an artist, producer and choreographer both locally and nationally. It has also given us experience in the conference "scene," which will better enable us to make better use of our time and resources at the next booking conference.”

An attendee of LA Stage Day shared:

“I greatly benefited from LA Stage Day’s three-pronged engagement approach of networking opportunities, the "Let’s Inspire" speakers and informational seminars. There were various networking opportunities all throughout the day. The contacts that I received revealed opportunities that I did not know were available, such as low-priced rehearsal spaces in the area, and opened up my network to people that I can call on for advice or collaboration.”

Conferences in 2014-15
Partial scholarships to cover registration fees will continue to be offered to grantees as regional conferences are announced, including the Cal Nonprofits Annual Convention which took place on August 1, 2014, the National Arts Marketing, Development and Ticketing Conference in Los Angeles from October 23-25 and the National Guild for Community Arts Education Conference in November 2014.
WORKSHOPS HOSTED BY THE ARTS COMMISSION

OGP Reporting Workshops in 2013/14: 43 Organizational Grant Program grantees attended one survey and reporting workshop at the Arts Commission in December 2013. The workshop participants were introduced to the fundamentals of planning, designing, and conducting surveys, processing and managing responses, and analyzing and interpreting data from both scaled questions and short-answer questions.

On April 17, 2014, the Arts Commission offered a Reporting 101 workshop for 41 OGP grantee arts organizations. The workshop covered reporting and evaluation terms, definitions and concepts, and gave attendees information on how to plan, implement, and manage their program evaluations, as well as information about the Arts Commission’s new online reporting system.

Both workshops were led by Kamella Tate, Director of Research and Evaluation at the Music Center. These workshops are part of the Arts Commission’s ongoing work to increase arts organizations’ evaluative capacity.

OGP Reporting Workshops in 2014-15: Dr. Tate will lead an expanded version of the survey workshop in November 2014 as well as a basic evaluation workshop for applicants to the OGP.

Human Resource Workshops and Hotline: Since many grantees apply to the Arts Commission to fund new positions or expand existing ones, the Arts Commission again offered workshops on human resource (HR) issues and strategies.

For the ninth year, the Arts Commission contracted with ManagEase, a human resources corporation, to conduct two workshops for grantees. The first workshop, a Human Resources Boot Camp for Nonprofit Organizations, was held on October 10, 2013 at the Arts Commission offices and was attended by 18 representatives of grantee organizations. The all-day workshop provided an overview of HR policies and practices including developing policies and procedures, managing employee issues, performance appraisal, independent contractors, payroll compliance and termination management.

In addition, the Human Resources Workshop on Strategic HR Issues took place on April 2, 2014 and was attended by 16 representatives from OGP organizations. The half-day workshop provided an overview of strategic HR issues such as risk identification and management, leadership, estimating HR costs, organizational structure options, staff development, compensation and setting and measuring executive goals.

As an extension of the workshop, participants also had the opportunity to register for ManagEase’s 24-hour on-call hotline, which they could use to seek guidance on specific HR issues throughout the year. On average, the hotline was used 3-4 times per month by senior employees to provide confidential guidance regarding sensitive human resources issues such as overtime pay, employee management issues and worker’s compensation claims. In 2013-14, 52 calls were made by 16 organizations, an 11% increase in calls from the last fiscal year.

On May 15, 2014, 25 representatives from 21 OGP grantee organizations attended a Supervising for Success Workshop presented by the Center for Nonprofit Management presented for the first time at the offices of the Arts Commission. The workshop was designed for new supervisors to the Arts Internship Program, as well as those who have never had formal training as a supervisor. The workshop reviewed the role of the intern supervisor as well as supervision and mentoring methods.
Human Resources Workshops in 2014-15: Since many organizations continue to request staffing support through the Arts Commission’s OGP grant program, the Arts Commission has again contracted with ManagEase for two HR workshops in 2014-15. The HR Boot Camp for Nonprofit Organizations workshop is scheduled for October 21, 2014 and the Human Resources Workshop on Strategic HR Issues will be scheduled to take place in the spring of 2015. If space is available, non-grantees will have the opportunity to participate for a fee. Grantees who attend one or both workshops will continue to have the opportunity to register for ManagEase’s 24-hour on-call hotline.

The Arts Commission has also contracted with the Center for Nonprofit Management to present Supervising for Success for OGP grantees on October 29, 2014.

In addition, staff will continue to review OGP Final Reports submitted by grantees to inform decisions about additional training needs for the field.

LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT

See Appendix C for full list of organizations participating in leadership development programs.

Leadership Development Opportunities in 2013-14

The Southern California Leadership Network (SCLN): Through a partnership with the Los Angeles Area Chamber of Commerce, SCLN develops exemplary and diverse leaders in the business, government and nonprofit sectors. The organization’s nine-month Leadership L.A. program provides an annual class of 40 fellows with in-depth knowledge of the challenges and opportunities affecting Los Angeles County, access to established regional leaders and policy experts, small group interaction and case studies and personal development exercises. Program participants predominately represent the business and government sectors, as well as the nonprofit social service sector. Prior to 2011, less than 1% of all participants represented the nonprofit arts sector.

In order to continue to broaden support for the arts sector through relationship building and articulate and integrate the arts sectors’ contributions to a civil and healthy society, for the fourth year the Arts Commission supported two scholarships for arts leaders to attend Leadership L.A. in 2014. As a result of the Arts Commission’s participation, the Ralph M. Parsons Foundation provided scholarships for three additional arts leaders.

Long Beach Nonprofit Partnership: The Long Beach Nonprofit Partnership’s Nonprofit Leadership Institute develops nonprofit leaders in Southern California, training an annual class of 10-15 executive leaders through nine monthly sessions, plus six one-on-one coaching sessions. Participants have an opportunity to build supporting relationships with other executive directors, learn new tools and concepts of leadership, share best practices and innovations, increase self awareness as leaders in both communication and leadership styles, as well as re-engage and re-energize leadership skills.

The Arts Commission supported three scholarships for arts leaders to attend the Nonprofit Leadership Institute through Long Beach Nonprofit Partnership as well as one scholarship for a grantee to attend the Nonprofit Leadership Institute for Emerging Leaders.

Executive Service Corps of Southern California: The Arts Commission offered scholarships to four grantee organizations to attend the Developing Development Program 2013-14 (DDP), an 18 month program which includes half-day training sessions, individualized coaching and clinics with the goal of creating a more sustainable development program for the organization. In addition, the Arts Commission also provided two scholarships to grantees to participate in the New Executive Directors Institute (NEDI), a 12 month program geared to help nonprofit chief executives who have been in their position for three years or less to build the critical leadership skills needed to lead with vision and purpose and to increase their organization’s ability to effectively carry out its mission.

Center for Nonprofit Management: The Arts Commission offered two scholarships for a new training program, the Certificate of Nonprofit Management. The six month program covers key nonprofit management topics, including administration, sustainability and planning, fund development, board development, communications, and measuring impact. As part of the program participants engage in peer learning, one-on-one coaching, and work on a Strategic Improvement Project.

The Annenberg Foundation: The Arts Commission continued to support Alchemy Gold, a learning collaborative for funders dedicated to building the capacity of Los Angeles nonprofit organizations and their leaders. Alchemy Gold partners convene quarterly to learn from experts in capacity building around such key issues as fundraising, leadership development, and board governance. They also engage in facilitated conversations and together identify best practices, methodologies, and tactics to increase the sector’s effectiveness and impact in the community.

Since the program’s inception, 138 OGP grantees (37%) have participated in Alchemy: The Leadership Seminar which consists of three days of training in which fundraising, board effectiveness, civic engagement and accountability are covered. Over 20 grantees have gone on to participate in Alchemy+, the second phase of training of the Alchemy Program, which consists of four highly participatory sessions designed to meet the address the specific needs of participating nonprofit organizations and their leaders. Organizations that successfully complete Alchemy+ are eligible to receive a capacity building grant of up to $10,000 which is subsidized in part by members of Alchemy Gold.

Leadership Development Opportunities in 2014-15
The Arts Commission staff will continue to support scholarships for grantees to attend leadership development programs offered by The Southern California Leadership Network (SCLN), Executive Service Corps of Southern California, Long Beach Nonprofit Partnership and the Center for Nonprofit Management as well as possibly supporting scholarships for the Board Leaders Institute (BLI) which is run by the Riordan Leadership Institute, a program of the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce. Arts Commission staff will continue to share additional training and leadership development opportunities such as the Annenberg Foundation’s Alchemy Leadership Seminar and Alchemy+.
