LOS ANGELES COUNTY ROADMAP TO ECONOMIC RECOVERY

On March 4, 2020, Governor Gavin Newsom proclaimed a State of Emergency in California as a result of the novel coronavirus (COVID-19) global pandemic. On the same day, the Chair of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors ("Board") proclaimed the existence of a local emergency in Los Angeles County, and the County Health Officer declared a local health emergency as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic. That day, the Board ratified both the local proclamation of an emergency and the declaration of a local health emergency, activating the County Emergency Operations Center (CEOC) under the management and direction of the Chief Executive Officer (CEO). Further, on March 16, 2020, the County Health Officer issued a public health order that mandated closure of a variety of businesses. On March 19, 2020, the County Health Officer issued the Safer at Home Order to slow the spread of COVID-19.

In an effort to protect the public health of all Los Angeles County residents, many of California’s thriving industries have been nearly shuttered, including hospitality and tourism, retail and food service, manufacturing, and early childhood education and care.

According to the State of California Employment Development Department (EDD), unemployment increased to 5.3 percent in March 2020 from 3.9 percent in February 2020. More than 3.1 million Californians filed for unemployment benefits over the last month, surpassing the total claims in all of 2008 at the start of the Great Recession. Leisure and hospitality have been the most heavily impacted industries in Los Angeles County, resulting in the largest month over month drop in employment since 1990.

Understandably, businesses are suffering tremendously as they navigate the uncertainty of when they may reopen, adjust to telecommuting and online sales and delivery, practice physical distancing, and reduce their workforce as a result of continued disruption.

Los Angeles County has taken swift action to help workers and businesses, collaborating between multiple departments to launch the first of its kind Disaster Help Center where workers, businesses, non-profits, landlords, and tenants can receive one-on-one counseling and access to essential services. Moreover, Los Angeles County launched an Employer Assistance Grant Fund and a Small Business Loan Fund to offer short-term assistance to bolster the local economy.
Through these efforts, the County has identified more than 9,000 small businesses in need of support. Further, the creation of the America’s Job Center of California Virtual Resource Room connects jobseekers to resources and services. The County established a COVID-19 Relief Fund for small businesses, non-profits, and micro-entrepreneurs, a $28 million public-private partnership, which is expected to deploy loans and grants in the coming days.

Although the Safer at Home order remains in place, Los Angeles County must put forward a comprehensive plan to revive and re-open our economy and return to full employment as we experienced before COVID-19. This will only be possible through public-private partnerships with industries and governments working together. It is important for Los Angeles County to work directly with our business community to stimulate the local economy by evaluating any regulatory and administrative relief for businesses, workers, and local industry. The Chair of the Board, in accordance with the authority granted under Section 2.68.080 of the Los Angeles County Code, will convene an Economic Resiliency Task Force, comprised of the Chair Pro Tem of the Board, representatives of each relevant department, cities, and leaders from industry, labor, and the business community including chambers of commerce and business organizations, to develop actionable recommendations for the County to leverage public-private partnerships to improve the economy, create jobs, and return to full employment.

This task force will work to:

a. Develop a plan and recommendations for short-term, medium-term, and long-term economic recovery in Los Angeles County, including industry partnerships and policy considerations to spur economic growth at the local, state, and federal levels.

b. Identify financial incentives, if any, the County can provide to existing or new businesses to spur economic recovery as the Safer at Home Order is relaxed.

c. Develop a systematic plan for the most COVID-19 impacted industries, and in consultation with labor, provide a systematic plan for rapid reemployment.

d. Formulate policy considerations to spur small business growth and create jobs, including but not limited to: tax credits, public infrastructure investment, and unsecured/business personal property tax rebate, deferral, and/or abatement.

e. Identify alternatives to existing strategies to engage with the business community regularly, using technology and/or surveys for business owners and business organizations.

-MORE-
f. Find options for deferrals, waivers, or reduced permitting and licensing fees or flexible payment structures for qualifying businesses.

g. Strategize on community benefits for the most impacted neighborhoods and industries.
