			Adam Green	My name is Adam Green; I am a resident of Los Angeles City, CD 13, member of the Los Angeles Tenants Union and I strongly support the Healthy LA platform. There are many items on the agenda I provide my support for. It is imperative that the County quickly, and act NOW to extend the temporary eviction moratorium and make it the baseline for all cities within the County. It has been documented and evidenced that despite the eviction moratorium, landlords continue to harass and illegally evict tenants. Providing the bare minimum of tenant protections during a pandemic is your absolute responsibility. Next, the LA Justice Fund must be renewed and $1 million must be set aside for funding of the LAJF. 5,580 people were detained by ICE in May of this year. LA County residents need to be protected from their families being torn apart, and the LA Justice Fund is one tangible way to do that. Lastly, I urge the Board of Supervisors to move quickly &amp; decisively to include an amendment to the LA County charter on the November 2020 ballot that will prioritize investment in under-resourced and low-income communities. I have one major opposition, the CARES Act spending plan. LA County residents deserve transparency from you and the County CEO about how it will be used. Three days' notice on how to spend $1.2 billion dollars is not keeping good faith with us, your constituents. We have been transparent with you about the devastating impacts of COVID-19 and our needs, including clear, concrete policies addressing the disproportionate burdens facing low-income &amp; BIPOC communities. Delay the vote and ensure that this budget truly reflects the values, priorities, and urgent needs of our communities. In order for us to come out from this pandemic and civil unrest ahead of where we were, we must invest in the communities most impacted by the economic downturn and decades of failed policies. Thank you.

			Auriyana Jackson
			Azad Amir-Ghassemi	The eviction wave will only exacerbate the pandemic, creating more economic problems.  We need to hold the line on evictions, and even work on reducing post pandemic rent debt
			Barbara Broide	As a response to the current Coronavirus pandemic and the fact that many in LA County are out of work, it is critical that the County act now to extend the temporary eviction moratorium for tenants and and that it be the baseline for all cities within the County.  Understanding that both tenants and their landlords are affected by the current situation, it is also critical that the Board of Supervisors adopt measures that would allow for landlords, if needed, to defer mortgage payments and to place any unpaid mortgage payments incurred as a result of missed tenant rental payments to the end of their mortgage -- thus delaying those payments and not penalizing them for continuing to house those unable to pay rent. The burdens of the pandemic are being felt by both tenants and landlords. While corporate landlords may have assets to cushion against the missed rent payments, smaller property holders and mom & pop operators (many of whom live in their income properties) do not. It would be a terrible outcome if those properties held by smaller investors and mom & pop owners were lost and became part of corporate portfolios and REITs as was seen as a result of the mortgage crisis.

Extending the moratorium is appreciated but it is simply kicking the can down the road. Most struggling working class people without access to other funds such as Unemployment will not recover from this huge rent debt and will end up getting evicted and on the streets.

The County must act now to extend the temporary eviction moratorium and make it the baseline for all cities within the County. Next, the LA Justice Fund must be renewed and $1 million must be set aside for funding of the LAJF. 5,580 people were detained by ICE in May of this year. LA County residents need to be protected from their families being torn apart, and the LA Justice Fund is one tangible way to do that. Lastly, I urge the Board of Supervisors to move quickly &amp; decisively to include an amendment to the LA County charter on the November 2020 ballot that will prioritize investment in under-resourced and low-income communities. I have one major opposition, the CARES Act spending plan. LA County residents deserve transparency from you and the County CEO about how it will be used. Three days' notice on how to spend $1.2 billion dollars is not keeping good faith with us, your constituents. 25.	8	Favor	Bruno Huizar	The County must act now to extend the temporary eviction moratorium and make it the baseline for all cities within the County. The eviction moratorium is a temporary solution to a structural problem that has caused people and families to lose their homes. 60,000 people in Los Angeles are living without housing and in the streets because of decades of rent increases and disinvestment from our local and state governments to support community members who are experiencing job insecurity, housing insecurity and/or people with disabilities. On average, 3 people a day die in Los Angeles because of homelessness and not having access to food, clean water, shelter, medical services, and other vital services. It is clear that our elected officials in the LA City Council are corrupt and have been caught breaking the law in order to profit off of deals made with corporations who buy off property in Los Angeles and contribute to the housing crisis in Los Angeles. It is clear that elected officials have been prioritizing corporations and not the people of Los Angeles. The COVID-19 pandemic has magnified structural problems that have been plaguing Los Angeles for generations. Housing is a human right. Every single human being deserves access to safe and affordable housing. I urge you to support Item #8: Extend the Eviction Moratorium permanently and extend protections to ALL of LA County.
			Bryan Sandoval
			Bryne Rasmussen	DUH, a tsunami of evictions is coming and it is going to devastate this city and its people. This is the absolute bare minimum. Rent should be cancelled and forgiven for the duration of the pandemic and only small time landlords should be bailed out. Corporate and huge investors in a basic human right can deal with the fall out in investing in an already corrupt system.

25.	8	Favor	Caleb W Crowder	I'm in favor of this motion. I'm glad to see the county extending this moratorium until September 30th, rather than having this be a matter that is revisited every month. I would add only that this eviction moratorium should be extended indefinitely. We will certainly see a continued spike in COVID-19 cases and subsequent economic fallout. In knowing this, we need to ensure that we have an indefinite eviction moratorium in place to protect all of our most impacted residents.
			Carey Li	This is just the right thing to do. Please do your jobs.
			Carl Kloss	Dear Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, I urge the Board to modify its current eviction moratorium and oppose the jurisdictional overreach of item #8. Cities have worked hard to create sensible paths forward during this pandemic. We should not create further confusion or supersede these policies. I understand the challenges and uncertainty COVID-19 present but the County must promote balance and reason as we navigate this crises. As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution. I urge the County to insert requirements demonstrating financial hardship due to COVID-19 to obtain further rent deferral. As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation is appropriate. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically affected by the pandemic. The County should review a financial plan for repayment installments during the payback period. It is in the community's interest to avoid large repayments and create a stable plan to financial recovery. This will help our shared goal of stabilizing housing. Housing providers continue to receive no income from the services they provide and are facing tenuous financial circumstances. This is effecting all contractors, suppliers, employees and those that depend on these buildings for their livelihood. We must take common sense steps to help all residents and avoid furthering this economic catastrophe. Please insert hardship requirements, create a financial plan to facilitate installment payments during the payback period and continue to allow cities the flexibility to make balanced decisions on this matter. Thank you for your consideration

For over 20 years, ABC has advocated for Latinos and immigrants in Los Angeles as we know that they shape and strengthen for our cities and counties throughout the United States. The County must act now to extend the temporary eviction moratorium and make it the baseline for all cities within the County. As new safer at home orders are becoming a reality, families are yet again will face the unprecedented choice to pay rent, feed their families, or pay other basic necessities. Next, the LA Justice Fund must be renewed and $1 million must be set aside for funding of the LAJF. 5,580 people were detained by ICE in May of this year. LA County residents need to be protected from their families being torn apart, and the LA Justice Fund is one tangible way to do that. With the current climate, separating families and disrupting whole communities will have a negative impact for years and decades to come. More than ever before, this fund reinforces a safety net that is pro-family, pro-economic growth and pro-civil and human rights. This fund is essential to provide legal representation for people whose only crime was looking to create a better life for their family. ABC respectfully urges your support for an extension on an eviction moratorium, and renew the LA Justice Fund to ensure the protection of non-citizen Angelenos. Sincerely, Carla Lopez-Valdes Associate Director of Civic Engagement

25.	8	Favor	Dalila Lopez	Over the last 3 months, the needs and priorities of the client and patient population at The Wellness Center has shifted from chronic disease management and prevention and mental health services to addressing urgent needs such as food security, housing security, eviction prevention, financial needs, and addressing mental health issues of stress and anxiety as we navigate the current reality we are all facing due to covid 19 and other socio-economic events at play. Housing stability is a key issue of the economic stability domain recognized as a social determinant of health by Healthy People 2020. Stress and anxiety brought on by housing instability has a negative impact on health overall and chronic disease management. During these times it is of the utmost importance to address and alleviate the impact of these social determinants of health so that we can focus on addressing the larger issue of Covid 19. The most vulnerable are more likely to comply with public health guidelines and manage their health better if they are experiencing financial and home stability. The County must act now to extend the temporary eviction moratorium to September 30 and make it the baseline for all cities within the County. This will allow community based organizations and legal service providers to better support tenants because we will all be working with a minimum set of requirements vs the patchwork that currently exists.

			daniel aronson	I am opposed to Extending the Eviction Moratorium: At the outset of the C-19 pandemic your Board decreed a blanket Eviction Moratorium as well as allowed for any and all tenant to elect to not pay rent whether or not the tenant was or was not able to do so. I have heard many tenants around the building discuss that they will not pay rent even though they are still employed and can afford to pay. This moratorium , with 12 months to repay back rent, combined with tenants not paying because they simply don't want to is putting immense financial pressure on housing providers. Why? , because your Board has allowed it to happen . Yet, in the cities recent Rental Assistance Program that just rolled out, where funds are provided by the city to the tenants landlords, tenant MUST DOCUMENT NEED BY SUBMITTING PROOF. So, with city funds, tenants must document need. Yet, the entire tenant population can simply not pay rent to landlords if they don't want - NO DOCUMENTATION NEEDED. TOTAL HYPOCRISY ON THE BOARDS PART. Most Housing Providers would gladly work w/ tenants in need, but those that can afford to pay rent should not get a free ride. As for the Moratorium, i am opposed to extending it for another 3 months. you are driving mom and pops into bankruptcy as there is no relief for our bills: mortgage (forbearance means no lender will lend to us) , utilities, trash , repairs and maintenance and many more. Do the right thing and don't be hypocrites. After all, Housing Providers are your constituency as well.

25.	8	Favor	Diana A Jimenez	I strongly support the extension of the eviction moratorium to September 30, 2020. This pandemic continues to riddle our lives with uncertainty of the future but we have impending realities to confront, so many households across the County are asking ourselves the question about rent. LA County residents are already severely rent burdened, a UCLA study titled Impending Evictions and Homelessness in Los Angeles confirms the precarious economic balance of the county, "as of May 9, 2020, approximately 599,000 workers in Los Angeles County have lost their jobs and have no unemployment insurance or other income replacement." Another stark data point by UCLA researchers denotes the burden of Angelenos: "about 449,000 of those unemployed and with no income live in about 365,000 units of rental housing and have long been bearing the second heaviest rent burdens of all the urban areas in the United States." But many of us do not need a study to confirm our realities, when I walk outside of my apartment complex I have near daily discussions with neighbors about our rental fees, lottery resources that MIGHT help us pay, but the eviction moratorium has enabled many of us to invoke our renters rights to STAY housed during the global pandemic. I urge you to VOTE YES on Supervisor Kuehl and Solis' motion to extend the moratorium. We need housing access always, but especially during this international emergency. I have been personally intimidated by my landlord who has emphasized not to distribute information about the pandemic relief but having a strong eviction moratorium in Los Angeles County allows renters like myself to feel supported in having these tense discussions and ultimately not falling further into housing insecurity. Your leadership is essential to our stability as renters and as a County, please vote in favor of the moratorium extension.

It is the intent of the County, in enacting this Moratorium, to provide uniform, minimum standards protecting residential, mobilehome space renters, and commercial tenants during this local emergency. With shutting down again, a lot of people are not working or don't have enough work hours, making it difficult to make rent. 			Grace Song	CHC strongly supports extending the current eviction moratorium, as the COVID-19 pandemic continues across Los Angeles and the United States. As of last week, the Department of Health Care Services confirmed the federal public health emergency will be extended until October 31, 2020 and the State will extend current policies to follow this guidance. COVID-19 cases and deaths continue to rise on a daily basis in Los Angeles but still disproportionately impact communities of color and low-income communities. These are the same communities that are most likely to face evictions or harassment from their landlords, while continuing to make difficult financial decisions every day between paying rent or putting food on the table. We need stronger protections and resources so every Angeleno can truly be "Safer-at-Home" during this crisis.

			Hana Kommel	My name is Hana Kommel and I am a staff attorney with the Preventing &amp; Ending Homelessness Project at Bet Tzedek Legal Services. We strongly support item 8. With COVID-19 cases in L.A. County on the rise, and as many renters continue to suffer financial impacts of the pandemic, it is imperative that the Board of Supervisors extends the County's temporary eviction protections. Several months ago, Bet Tzedek launched a remote Eviction Prevention Legal Clinic for L.A. County tenants in response to COVID-19. One of the common themes in our clinic cases is the significant amount of stress our clients are experiencing during this time. Tenants are facing heightened levels of stress after suffering layoffs, workplace closure, or reduced hours, and not knowing when things will return to normal. On top of this financial stress, tenants are coping with the trauma of an unprecedented global pandemic—many tenants are terrified that older or disabled household members may contract COVID-19, and many are stretched thin taking care of kids who would normally be in school or other childcare arrangements. Tenants are facing enough stress already. On top of everything, they shouldn't be forced to check the County's website each month to see if tenant protections have been extended. In order to offer some certainty to tenants, the Board should extend the County protections until 90 days after the state of emergency is lifted. If the protections are only extended on a month-to-month basis, tenants who believe the protections are about to expire may move out of their units prematurely for fear that they cannot pay the next month's rent, and will have no place to go. If the Board is unwilling to do this, the protections should be extended through September 30 at the earliest. The Board should also adopt language establishing that the emergency protections are a baseline for the whole County. Our clinic clients are often confused by the patchwork of tenant protections in place throughout the County, and have difficulty understanding which jurisdiction's rules apply to them. By clarifying that the County protections are a uniform floor, the Board would simplify the rules for both tenants and landlords during what is already an uncertain time. The Board should adopt amending language that makes clear that the protections are retroactive to March 4, when the state of emergency was declared, and that the County protections are a uniform floor upon which cities can adopt stricter protections.

As part of the Los Angeles County homeless response system we are acutely aware of the massive inflows to homelessness throughout our County, that already outpace the ability and funding available to address our homelessness crisis. In Los Angeles County, for every 133 people housed, 150 fall into homelessness. Given the economic fallout of COVID-19, it is incumbent on all of us to implement all strategies available to prevent even more families from falling into homelessness, and the motion to extend the eviction moratorium and implement the moratorium's policies as the baseline for all regions of LA County is pivotal to preventing an even greater homelessness crisis. Renters have faced an unprecedented amount of challenges during the pandemic, layered onto the grim reality of existing and devastating disparities between income and housing costs. According to a recent report by the National Coalition of Low Income Housing, "Prior to the pandemic, more than 7.7 million extremely low-income renters were spending more than half of their limited incomes on housing costs." The report found that "the typical renter in California earns $23.96 per hour, which is $13.00 per hour less than the hourly wage needed to afford a modest unit." Low-income families in California are already up against massive challenges, and the COVID-19 pandemic has only served to exacerbate an already dire situation. Working with a housing services provider working against a rising public health crisis, we are acutely aware that individuals are far safer in housing than they are in shelters or on the street. COVID-19 has layered a health crisis on top of an existing one—that of homelessness. As we work as an organization to end homelessness, our staff are committed to daily interventions to support clients experiencing homelessness through case management, tenant retention services and—most importantly—finding housing in one of the most expensive rental markets in the country, which is made possible only through the commitment of rental subsidies by local, state and federal governments. Our clients experience housing stability because their rents are accessible, but unfortunately this level of financial support is not available to many low-income and highly impacted Angelenos.

The eviction moratorium must be extended for the sake of our countywide stability. The 2020 Greater Los Angeles Homeless Count depicts a grim reality: 59% of people who became newly homeless cite economic hardship as the main reason for their unsheltered state. This figure will undoubtedly rise with the economic toll that COVID-19 has taken on our region. A UCLA study titled Impending Evictions and Homelessness in Los Angeles confirms the precarious economic balance of the county, "as of May 9, 2020, approximately 599,000 workers in Los Angeles County have lost their jobs and have no unemployment insurance or other income replacement." Another stark data point by UCLA researchers denotes the burden of Angelenos: "about 449,000 of those unemployed and with no income live in about 365,000 units of rental housing and have long been bearing the second heaviest rent burdens of all the urban areas in the United States."

Los Angeles County has long grappled with the crisis of homelessness, which has been exacerbated by the global pandemic, and as our leaders, we urge you to develop comprehensive policies that will enable our residents to navigate these intertwined crises. Protection for renters, both residential and commercial, as the motion's language denotes, must be as continuous as our public health efforts, given that access to housing and housing stability is a social determinant of health. The extension of the eviction moratorium to September 30, 2020 is not only an extension of policy that works, it demonstrates an extension of our values as a County which is dedicated to the recovery of all residents.

		Jeffrey Curran	LA needs protection from these awful landlords!
		Jeffrey Uno	Dear Honorable Board of Supervisors: The Legal Aid Foundation of Los Angeles (LAFLA) thanks you for your recent actions to protect tenants in the County of Los Angeles from eviction and displacement during the COVID-19 pandemic. Another extension of the eviction moratorium is a necessary and critical step, but it is far from enough to protect our most vulnerable neighbors from falling into homelessness at a time when we are all still "Safer At Home." LAFLA provides legal services to low-income residents throughout the county of Los Angeles. As a non-profit legal services agency specializing in housing and tenant rights, LAFLA has an interest in the preservation of both tenant's rights and safe and affordable housing in the County of Los Angeles as part of its overall mission. We know first-hand that the COVID-19 pandemic has exacerbated long-standing racial, health, economic, and social inequities in our County and has made already vulnerable communities exponentially more vulnerable. Thus, equity must be at the forefront of any and all efforts to mitigate this crisis. On May 28, 2020, a report by the UCLA Luskin Institute on Inequality and Democracy, "UD Day: Impending Evictions and Homelessness in Los Angeles," forecasted the coming avalanche of evictions and homelessness. In Los Angeles County, there are at least 365,000 "high risk" renter households which means there is no adult who is employed or has sufficient replacement income to pay rent. If the current restrictions on evictions expire for these households, they will be in imminent danger of eviction and ultimately homelessness. As explained in this report, those facing eviction will be heavily concentrated in low-income communities of color, and about one-third of those evicted will lack the resources to avoid falling into homelessness. According to the report, that means that in LA County approximately 120,000 household, including 184,000 children, are likely to become homeless at least for some period over the next several months. Given this alarming reality and impending escalation of the homelessness crisis, any efforts to mitigate the housing catastrophe must begin with preventing mass evictions, displacement, and homelessness. To further exasperate the issue, the current record numbers of persons infected with Covid-19 adds to the instability created by the pandemic and has created further uncertainty as to the re-opening of the economy and the return to work of so many County of LA Residents. Without income or with volatile income, households will face evictions at increasingly startling rates. This coupled with the recent announcements of our County's major school districts and cities to close in-person teaching has a dramatic effect on the need for strong legislation to protect the tenants, landlords, and community of our great County. Therefore, LAFLA asks that the Board of Supervisors extend the County Moratorium until specifically revoked by the Supervisors. Further, we request that the moratorium expire 90 days after the Board of Supervisors votes to end the protections. This will provide renters and landlords the necessary notice to plan for the aftermath of the revocation.

The County desperately needs these protections to be withdrawn only upon Board decision and leadership, not lapse at the end of a month when not renewed. The current system of monthly renewals stokes monthly fear and anxiety over whether families will be protected. Decisive and long-term action will provide meaningful stability for tenants planning for an uncertain future. Further, the ordinance needs to be amended to add a ninety (90) days' notice period to provide the community time to prepare for the impact of revocation.

As you know, the State Judicial Council introduced an Emergency Resolution to prevent the issuance of Summonses in Unlawful Detainer cases. In that resolution, the Council established a ninety (90) day period, upon after the orders are lifted to allow the Court to begin issuing Summonses. We ask that a similar ninety (90) day window be provided once the order is lifted.

LAFLA further asks the Board of Supervisors to implement the existing protections as the baseline or the "floor" for tenant protections throughout the County. Individual municipalities can strengthen protections as they see fit; however, to truly protect tenants in the County, the Board of Supervisors must execute leadership and serve as the beacon for the County. The individual municipalities should be given the opportunity to provide their own additions to the County's decisions in order to provide greater protections to their own individual communities as they see fit.

But cities should not have the ability to negate the County's leadership by enacting weaker laws that do less to protect County residents. Nor should county residents suffer through a patchwork of laws or lower protections simply based on the area of the county in which they happen to reside, although they are similarly affected by the pandemic.

The county's rationale is keeping everyone safer at home, which is why it banned no fault evictions. However, many county residents are still being evicted for absolutely no reason, undermining the Safer at Home policy. We ask the County to appreciate the need for consistent cogent regulations which are clear, understandable, and ascertainable to landlords, tenants, advocates & the courts for reliable and consistent interpretation.

Thank you for your invitation, time, and attention in this matter.

Sincerely,
Jeffrey Uno

Homelessness has increased, help for basic needs such as food, diapers, clothing, and materials for childcare have increased tenfold. And of course, work is scarce and tenants are either unable to find work, have been displaced from their jobs, can't work because they are unable to secure childcare, or they are caring for someone who is vulnerable of getting sick or who is sick. I am urging you, on our communities behalf, and as a tenant and small business owner in this district, to please extend the county emergency tenant protection to at least September 31, 2020, if not the end of the year. I also urge that the County Board of Supervisors make these protections across the floor (Baseline), for all tenants throughout LA County. LA City residents cannot rely on our city council members to do the jobs that we expect them to do, especially considering the ongoing federal investigations having to do with housing development. Please also endorse AB1436, which prohibits evicting a tenant for COVID-19 related non-payment of rent. Thank you so much, Jessica Ceballos y Campbell instead choose to not only side with but protect many of the same corporate landlords who exploit these tenants. So when the COVID crisis hit, our members have been negatively affected by the countless impacts of this pandemic. For tenants, where their cities refused to act, the County tenant protections are their only sense of stability. Currently we have members who have been dealing with landlord harassment, and because these tenants lost income or got their hours they were unable to pay their rent. And their landlords immediately took that opportunity to threaten them with eviction or even trying to lock them out. So if the County votes to not extend this eviction moratorium, this essentially guarantees that these tenants will have no protections during COVID whatsoever, because these cities are not going to act. We can tell you from experience, that these cities, many of which are in Solis' district are going to ignore tenants' calls to implement tenant protections.

And what about those cities that do have their own temporary tenant protections in place? Cities like Maywood or Long Beach? The issues are the same, tenants in these cities are still getting locked out, they're still getting harassed. So it is SUPER important to strengthen the county ordinance to be the floor, because residents in these cities with weaker ordinances are locking out on necessary tenant protections. It's also important that you not only make the county ordinance the baseline, but also you make it retroactive! South Gate had a terribly written COVID protection ordinance that expected tenants to immediately payback the rent after the state of emergency ends. If you make the county ordinance retroactive it alleviates South Gate tenants from having to pay back rent without any time to recuperate that loss of income.

So EYCEJ and our members, again many of them in District 1, 2, and 4. We all urge you to extend this ordinance indefinitely and to expand it to be the baseline for the whole county.
Thank you for your time.

I strongly support the Healthy LA platform and there are many items on the agenda I support. The County must act now to extend the temporary eviction moratorium and make it the baseline for all cities within the County. Next, the LA Justice Fund must be renewed and $1 million must be set aside for funding of the LAJF. 5,580 people were detained by ICE in May of this year. LA County residents need to be protected from having their families being torn apart, and the LA Justice Fund is one tangible way to do that. Lastly, I urge the Board of Supervisors to move quickly & decisively to include an amendment to the LA County charter on the November 2020 ballot that will prioritize investment in under-resourced and low-income communities.

I have one major opposition, the CARES Act spending plan. LA County residents deserve transparency from you and the County CEO about how it will be used. Three days' notice on how to spend $1.2 billion dollars is not keeping good faith with us, your constituents. We have been transparent with you about the devastating impacts of COVID-19 and our needs, including clear, concrete policies addressing the disproportionate burdens facing low-income & BIPOC communities. Delay the vote and ensure that this budget truly reflects the values, priorities, and urgent needs of our communities.

As daily statistics show us, the pandemic is still raging in Los Angeles and almost nothing has changed since emergency measures first began to take hold. People are still out of work, still struggling to find work, still cut off from child care options, still caring for elderly relatives, and still in need of help. Any eviction moratorium made with the intention of protecting vulnerable people during this pandemic must be extended as long as the pandemic/ emergency situation continues. In general, if Los Angeles is to come out of this pandemic and time of civil unrest safely and in the position to move forward towards a better future, the board must prioritize the goals of the Healthy LA platform. This not only includes supporting the extension of eviction moratoriums, but supporting the LA justice fund, investing in alternatives to incarceration, and ultimately, investing in the communities most impacted by the economic downturn and decades of failed policies. Lorna Xu	I write in support of the motion by Supervisors Kuehl and Solis to Extend the Eviction Moratorium through September 30, 2020 and Establish County's Eviction Protections as Baseline in Incorporated Cities. The massive inflows to homelessness throughout our County already outpace the ability and funding available to address our homelessness crisis. In Los Angeles County, for every 133 people housed, 150 fall into homelessness. Given the economic fallout of COVID-19, it is incumbent on all of us to implement all strategies available to prevent even more families from falling into homelessness. The motion to extend the eviction moratorium and implement the moratorium's policies as the baseline for all regions of LA County is pivotal to preventing an even greater homelessness crisis. Renters have faced an unprecedented amount of challenges during the pandemic, layered onto the grim reality of existing and devastating disparities between income and housing costs. According to a recent report by the National Coalition of Low Income Housing, "Prior to the pandemic, more than 7.7 million extremely low-income renters were spending more than half of their limited incomes on housing costs." The report found that "the typical renter in California earns $23.96 per hour, which is $13.00 per hour less than the hourly wage needed to afford a modest unit." Low-income families in California are already up against massive challenges, and the COVID-19 pandemic has only served to exacerbate an already dire situation. Individuals and families are far safer in housing than they are in shelters or on the street. COVID-19 has layered a health crisis on top of an existing one—that of homelessness. Housing individuals and families in one of the most expensive rental markets in the country is absolutely possible, but only through the commitment of rental subsidies by local, state and federal governments. The eviction moratorium must be extended for the sake of our countywide stability. The 2020 Greater Los Angeles Homeless Count depicts a grim reality: 59% of people who became newly homeless cite economic hardship as the main reason for their unsheltered state. This figure will undoubtedly rise with the economic toll that COVID-19 has taken on our region. A UCLA study titled Impending Evictions and Homelessness in Los Angeles confirms the precarious economic balance of the county, "as of May 9, 2020, approximately 599,000 workers in Los Angeles County have lost their jobs and have no unemployment insurance or other income replacement." Another stark data point by UCLA researchers denotes the burden of Angelenos: "about 449,000 of those unemployed and with no income live in about 365,000 units of rental housing and have long been bearing the second heaviest rent burdens of all the urban areas in the United States." Los Angeles County has long grappled with the crisis of homelessness, which has been exacerbated by the global pandemic. As our leaders, I urge you to develop comprehensive policies that will enable our residents to navigate these intertwined crises. Protection for renters, both residential and commercial, as the motion's language denotes, must be as continuous as our public health efforts, given that access to housing and housing stability is a social determinant of health. The extension of the eviction moratorium to September 30, 2020 is not only an extension of policy that works, it demonstrates an extension of our values as a County which is dedicated to the recovery of all residents.

	tenants, the extension should not be revisited monthly but rather extended until 90 days after the end of the State of Emergency. Under the current method of only extending one month at a time, renters who are unable to pay next month's rent voluntarily leave their homes erroneously thinking that protections are expiring at the month's end. If the Board is unwilling to provide the certainty that tenants need, extending to September 30th is better than the uncertainty created by month-to-month extensions. We support the following Motion language: "WE THEREFORE MOVE that the Board of Supervisors adopt the attached Resolution further amending and restating the Executive Order to extend the County's Eviction Moratorium through September 30, 2020, unless further extended or repealed by the Board..." For the sake of clarity and consistency, we also strongly support the Board adopting language that establishes its protections as the baseline protections for the whole County. This will prevent renters and landlords from suffering the current uncertainty of determining which rules apply to them. However, to accomplish the County protections being a uniform floor, current motion language must be changed in two ways: First, the language must make clear that the protections are retroactive to March 4th, 2020, the establishment of the State of Emergency. Second, the language should be clarified to make clear that the County establishes a uniform floor upon which the cities can adopt stricter protections. As currently written, there is potential for ambiguity over whether an existing city protection is stricter than the County.

LA County residents need to be protected from their families being torn apart, and the LA Justice Fund is one tangible way to do that. Lastly, I urge the Board of Supervisors to move quickly &amp; decisively to include an amendment to the LA County charter on the November 2020 ballot that will prioritize investment in under-resourced and low-income communities. I have one major opposition, the CARES Act spending plan. LA County residents deserve transparency from you and the County CEO about how it will be used. The Monrovia Housing &amp; Tenants Advocates, is a grassroots group of concerned citizens who bring a collective voice for affordable for-purchase and rental housing in Monrovia by ensuring adequate public and private resources, efficient and effective housing programs, and strong support among public officials at all levels of government. As residents of Monrovia, we urge Supervisor Barger to support the motion as is, including using the County's moratorium as a baseline for all communities in LA County. We have many vulnerable tenants in the San Gabriel Valley who would be protected by this moratorium. As an organization that advocates for appropriate housing for all individuals, we are concerned that the current unpredictable conditions relating to COVID-19 pandemic will lead to many to remain unemployed or underemployed and will consequently put their housing needs at risk. We applaud and agree with the motion's assessment that, "...an emergency continues to exist within the County, threatening the lives, property and welfare of its constituents, thereby creating the need to extend the Moratorium Period through September 30, 2020."

			Natalie Nguyen	I write in support of the motion by Supervisors Kuehl and Solis to Extend the Eviction Moratorium through September 30, 2020 and Establish County's Eviction Protections as Baseline in Incorporated Cities. Housing is a human right that I believe is actively being taken away without proper tenant protection. Due to the current COVID-19 crisis, mass numbers of people are losing their income and/or struggling with major healthcare costs. Without proper support from the county, these people will additionally lose housing which will only make their circumstances even more challenging to recover from which would cause an even deeper economic fall-out than we have already seen. The massive inflows to homelessness throughout our County already outpace the ability and funding available to address our homelessness crisis. In Los Angeles County, for every 133 people housed, 150 fall into homelessness. Given the economic fallout of COVID-19, it is incumbent on all of us to implement all strategies available to prevent even more families from falling into homelessness. The motion to extend the eviction moratorium and implement the moratorium's policies as the baseline for all regions of LA County is pivotal to preventing an even greater homelessness crisis. Renters have faced an unprecedented amount of challenges during the pandemic, layered onto the grim reality of existing and devastating disparities between income and housing costs. According to a recent report by the National Coalition of Low Income Housing, "Prior to the pandemic, more than 7.7 million extremely low-income renters were spending more than half of their limited

	incomes on housing costs.” The report found that “the typical renter in California earns $23.96 per hour, which is $13.00 per hour less than the hourly wage needed to afford a modest unit.” Low-income families in California are already up against massive challenges, and the COVID-19 pandemic has only served to exacerbate an already dire situation. Individuals and families are far safer in housing than they are in shelters or on the street. COVID-19 has layered a health crisis on top of an existing one—that of homelessness. Housing individuals and families in one of the most expensive rental markets in the country is absolutely possible, but only through the commitment of rental subsidies by local, state and federal governments. The eviction moratorium must be extended for the sake of our countywide stability. The 2020 Greater Los Angeles Homeless Count depicts a grim reality: 59% of people who became newly homeless cite economic hardship as the main reason for their unsheltered state. This figure will undoubtedly rise with the economic toll that COVID-19 has taken on our region. A UCLA study titled Impending Evictions and Homelessness in Los Angeles confirms the precarious economic balance of the county, “as of May 9, 2020, approximately 599,000 workers in Los Angeles County have lost their jobs and have no unemployment insurance or other income replacement.” Another stark data point by UCLA researchers denotes the burden of Angelenos: “about 449,000 of those unemployed and with no income live in about 365,000 units of rental housing and have long been bearing the second heaviest rent burdens of all the urban areas in the United States.” Los Angeles County has long grappled with the crisis of homelessness, which has been exacerbated by the global pandemic. As our leaders, I urge you to develop comprehensive policies that will enable our residents to navigate these intertwined crises. Protection for renters, both residential and commercial, as the motion’s language denotes, must be as continuous as our public health efforts, given that access to housing and housing stability is a social determinant of health. The extension of the eviction moratorium to September 30, 2020 is not only an extension of policy that works, it demonstrates an extension of our values as a County which is dedicated to the recovery of all residents.

	Oscar U Zarate	I want to start my public comment by grounding us in a simple understanding that under this pandemic evictions put lives at risk. With no vaccine, housing and folk staying in their homes are the only solutions we have to deal with this health crisis. Any uncertainty, confusion, or inconsistency allowed in our emergency eviction protections endanger people. Period. This is why extending and expanding eviction protections is so important. Extensions should not be revisited monthly but rather extended for the full course of the pandemic and until our communities have fully recovered. Our protections shouldn't be a confusing patchwork of laws that provide inconsistent coverage but rather a clear county-wide standard that tenants can rely on. The ownership class preys on confusion and uncertainty to displace and harm our communities especially under crisis. We cannot be accomplices to this immorality. Let's do the right thing. All power to the people. Thank you.
	Pamela G Agustin Anguiano	As a tenant union volunteer, I have seen first hand the fear and anxiety that tenants face whenever their basic rights under COVID-19 are not honored by their property owners. I also hear and see their anxiety over the weak repayment protections in our city which currently dictate that tenants pay back 25% of their past due rents every 3 months post the lifting of the local emergency. But supervisors, how can Glendale tenants pay a quarterly repayment when they are facing unemployment and reduced hours at work? Assuming a rent of $2000 per month and a repayment of 25% post september 30, a tenant in Glendale would need to pay $3000 on top of their monthly rent. Tenants in LA County need the baseline protection because it would ensure that we are all equally protected and that organizers and legal service providers can better inform and service residents because we would all be starting with verifying the implementation of YOUR baseline protections. For my fellow Glendale tenants, passing Item 8 today will mean that they would be protected by eliminating the quarterly repayment plan, protections against evictions for unauthorized occupants, unauthorized pets, or nuisance as necessitated by or related to the COVID-19 emergency, During these difficult times, our communities need all available public resources and policy action TO PREVENT further displacement and homelessness.

Reaghan K Murphy	Without an end in sight to the dangers of the COVID-19 pandemic, it is absolutely crucial that we continue programs and policies which have allowed citizens to remain at home and practice safe social distancing. The moratorium on evictions allows rent-burdened citizens to focus on staying safe, healthy, and socially distanced rather than forcing them to return to work immediately (often in high-risk, low-wage positions) to make their rents. I support an extension of the existing moratorium and the development of rent repayment subsidies and programs to assist low-income renters with the impending impacts of this crisis so they are not forced to risk their lives.

The pandemic has significantly exacerbated this dire situation, and has left countless families—many of them Black and Latino—in a perilous position. If they should lose these tenant protections before they can go back to work, they will be evicted, and many will become homeless. A recent report estimates that 365,000 renters in the County are unable to pay rent because of pandemic-related job losses, and will be in imminent danger of eviction once the moratoriums are lifted. Which is why we are so heartened at the action you are proposing today. We request that, rather than reviewing the extension each month, the moratorium should be extended until 90 days after the lifting of the State of Emergency. This will provide both tenants and landlords greater clarity and certainty. If the Board is unwilling to adopt this extension, we request that it amend the Motion to automatically extend the moratorium by increments of 30 days, unless specifically repealed by the Board. Given the uncertainty of the health crisis and the inability to predict if and when the Board will be able to meet, this will ensure the extension of the moratorium in the event the Board is unable to conduct a vote at the end of any future extensions. NLSLA further supports and applauds the author's effort to set a floor or baseline of tenant protections throughout the County, including incorporated Cities. To ensure there is no ambiguity regarding this point, it is requested that: (i) the language be amended to make clear that it is retroactive to March 4, 2020; (ii) that cities are permitted to enact stricter tenant protections and that the County's protections will be enforced in those cities whose ordinances provide fewer protections to tenants. Finally, with regard to what constitutes financial impact to an individual, it is requested that it include the necessity to care for other members of a household, rather than be restricted to just childcare.

Sophia Li	I write in support of the motion by Supervisors Kuehl and Solis to Extend the Eviction Moratorium through September 30, 2020 and Establish County's Eviction Protections as Baseline in Incorporated Cities. As someone who works within the Los Angeles County homeless response system, I am acutely aware of the massive inflows to homelessness throughout our County that already outpace the ability and funding available to address our homelessness crisis. In Los Angeles County, for every 133 people housed, 150 fall into homelessness. Given the economic fallout of COVID-19, it is incumbent on all of us to implement all strategies available to prevent even more families from falling into homelessness. The motion to extend the eviction moratorium and implement the moratorium's policies as the baseline for all regions of LA County is pivotal to preventing an even greater homelessness crisis. 	reality of existing and devastating disparities between income and housing costs. According to a recent report by the National Coalition of Low Income Housing, "Prior to the pandemic, more than 7.7 million extremely low-income renters were spending more than half of their limited incomes on housing costs." The report found that "the typical renter in California earns $23.96 per hour, which is $13.00 per hour less than the hourly wage needed to afford a modest unit." Low-income families in California are already up against massive challenges, and the COVID-19 pandemic has only served to exacerbate an already dire situation. As a former Housing Coordinator, I have seen firsthand that individuals are far safer in housing than they are in shelters or on the street. COVID-19 has layered a health crisis on top of an existing one—that of homelessness. Housing individuals and families in one of the most expensive rental markets in the country is absolutely possible, but only through the commitment of rental subsidies by local, state and federal governments. My former clients experience housing stability because their rents are accessible, but unfortunately this level of financial support is not available to many low-income and highly impacted Angelenos. The eviction moratorium must be extended for the sake of our countywide stability. The 2020 Greater Los Angeles Homeless Count depicts a grim reality: 59% of people who became newly homeless cite economic hardship as the main reason for their unsheltered state. This figure will undoubtedly rise with the economic toll that COVID-19 has taken on our region. A UCLA study titled Impending Evictions and Homelessness in Los Angeles confirms the precarious economic balance of the county, "as of May 9, 2020, approximately 599,000 workers in Los Angeles County have lost their jobs and have no unemployment insurance or other income replacement." Another stark data point by UCLA researchers denotes the burden of Angelenos: "about 449,000 of those unemployed and with no income live in about 365,000 units of rental housing and have long been bearing the second heaviest rent burdens of all the urban areas in the United States." Los Angeles County has long grappled with the crisis of homelessness, which has been exacerbated by the global pandemic. As our leaders, I urge you to develop comprehensive policies that will enable our residents to navigate these intertwined crises. Protection for renters, both residential and commercial, as the motion's language denotes, must be as continuous as our public health efforts, given that access to housing and housing stability is a social determinant of health. The extension of the eviction moratorium to September 30, 2020 is not only an extension of policy that works, it demonstrates an extension of our values as a County which is dedicated to the recovery of all residents.

	As a housing services provider working against a rising public health crisis, we are acutely aware that individuals are far safer in housing than they are in shelters or on the street. COVID-19 has layered a health crisis on top of an existing one—that of homelessness. As we work as an organization to end homelessness, our staff are committed to daily interventions to support clients experiencing homelessness through case management, tenant retention services and—most importantly—finding housing in one of the most expensive rental markets in the country, which is made possible only through the commitment of rental subsidies by local, state and federal governments. Yvonne Marialaki	I'm calling on all members of the Board of Supervisors to vote in favor of extending the eviction moratorium to September 30, 2020. Unemployment is on the rise in LA County currently standing at 19.4%, more than most areas within the state of California. People are making decisions between food and rent, a choice no one should ever have to make especially during a pandemic. As public officers representing your constituents who are hurting, you need to step up and protect your constituents and fellow community members. Opposing this measure would only raise the number of those who will lose their homes and become homeless, which would exacerbate controlling covid infection rates and the already rising number of homeless people in the county. Do the right and logical thing and vote in favor of this measure. Thank you.

Three days' notice on how to spend $1.2 billion dollars is not keeping good faith with us, your constituents. We have been transparent with you about the devastating impacts of COVID-19 and our needs, including clear, concrete policies addressing the disproportionate burdens facing low-income &amp; BIPOC communities. Delay the vote and ensure that this budget truly reflects the values, priorities, and urgent needs of our communities. In order for us to come out from this pandemic and civil unrest ahead of where we were, we must invest in the communities most impacted by the economic downturn and decades of failed policies. Thank you.
Zachary L Frank	We also need rental relief - you absolutely need to declare all rent and mortgage debt incurred during COVID crisis cleared. Half of adults are unemployed, how are they going to pay for the back rent? I urge the Board of Supervisors to move quickly &amp; decisively to include an amendment to the LA County charter on the November 2020 ballot that will prioritize investment in under-resourced and low-income communities.

As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation is appropriate. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically affected by the pandemic.

The County should review a financial plan for repayment installments during the payback period. It is in the community's interest to avoid large repayments and create a stable plan to financial recovery. This will help our shared goal of stabilizing housing.

Housing providers continue to receive no income from the services they provide and are facing tenuous financial circumstances. This is effecting all contractors, suppliers, employees and those that depend on these buildings for their livelihood. We must take common sense steps to help all residents and avoid furthering this economic catastrophe.

Please insert hardship requirements, create a financial plan to facilitate installment payments during the payback period and continue to allow cities the flexibility to make balanced decisions on this matter.

Thank you for your consideration

Sincerely,

Dear LA Board of Supervisors Clerk,

Dear Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors,

I urge the Board to modify its current eviction moratorium and oppose the jurisdictional overreach of item #8.

Cities have worked hard to create sensible paths forward during this pandemic. We should not create further confusion or supersede these policies. I understand the challenges and uncertainty COVID-19 present but the County must promote balance and reason as we navigate this crises. As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution.

My father came to this country with nothing and was able to get the American dream. As one of your supporters Hilda Solis he understands what you are trying to do. What he asks is that it is fair to every body and that there are protections for landlords. Also to have a method of actually ensuring the tenant is indeed not able to pay rent and not taking advantage. What guarantee is there when this is all over that they will pay. Please help both sides. But this extension will only harm small landlords. Thank you

Dear LA Board of Supervisors Clerk,

Dear Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors,

I urge the Board to modify its current eviction moratorium and oppose the jurisdictional overreach of item #8.

Cities have worked hard to create sensible paths forward during this pandemic. We should not create further confusion or supersede these policies. I understand the challenges and uncertainty COVID-19 present but the County must promote balance and reason as we navigate this crises. As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution.

I urge the County to insert requirements demonstrating financial hardship due to COVID-19 to obtain further rent deferral. As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation is appropriate. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically affected by the pandemic.

The County should review a financial plan for repayment installments during the payback period. It is in the community's interest to avoid large repayments and create a stable plan to financial recovery. This will help our shared goal of stabilizing housing.

Housing providers continue to receive no income from the services they provide and are facing tenuous financial circumstances. This is effecting all contractors, suppliers, employees and those that depend on these buildings for their livelihood. We must take common sense steps to help all residents and avoid furthering this economic catastrophe.

Please insert hardship requirements, create a financial plan to facilitate installment payments during the payback period and continue to allow cities the flexibility to make balanced decisions on this matter.

Thank you for your consideration

Dear Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors,

I urge the Board to modify its current eviction moratorium and oppose the jurisdictional overreach of item #8.

Cities have worked hard to create sensible paths forward during this pandemic. We should not create further confusion or supersede these policies. I understand the challenges and uncertainty COVID-19 present but the County must promote balance and reason as we navigate this crises. As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution.

I urge the County to insert requirements demonstrating financial hardship due to COVID-19 to obtain further rent deferral. As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation is appropriate. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically affected by the pandemic.

Dear LA Board of Supervisors Clerk,

Dear Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors,

I urge the Board to modify its current eviction moratorium and oppose the jurisdictional overreach of item #8.

Cities have worked hard to create sensible paths forward during this pandemic. We should not create further confusion or supersede these policies. I understand the challenges and uncertainty COVID-19 present but the County must promote balance and reason as we navigate this crises. As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution.

I urge the County to insert requirements demonstrating financial hardship due to COVID-19 to obtain further rent deferral. As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation is appropriate. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically affected by the pandemic.

The County should review a financial plan for repayment installments during the payback period. It is in the community's interest to avoid large repayments and create a stable plan to financial recovery. This will help our shared goal of stabilizing housing.

Cities have worked hard to create sensible paths forward during this pandemic. We should not create further confusion or supersede these policies. I understand the challenges and uncertainty COVID-19 present but the County must promote balance and reason as we navigate this crises. As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution.

I urge the County to insert requirements demonstrating financial hardship due to COVID-19 to obtain further rent deferral. As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation is appropriate. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically affected by the pandemic.

The County should review a financial plan for repayment installments during the payback period. It is in the community's interest to avoid large repayments and create a stable plan to financial recovery. This will help our shared goal of stabilizing housing.

Housing providers continue to receive no income from the services they provide and are facing tenuous financial circumstances. This is effecting all contractors, suppliers, employees and those that depend on these buildings for their livelihood. We must take common sense steps to help all residents and avoid furthering this economic catastrophe.

Please insert hardship requirements, create a financial plan to facilitate installment payments during the payback period and continue to allow cities the flexibility to make balanced decisions on this matter.

Cities have worked hard to create sensible paths forward during this pandemic. We should not create further confusion or supersede these policies. I understand the challenges and uncertainty COVID-19 present but the County must promote balance and reason as we navigate this crises. As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution.

I urge the County to insert requirements demonstrating financial hardship due to COVID-19 to obtain further rent deferral. As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation is appropriate. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically affected by the pandemic.

The County should review a financial plan for repayment installments during the payback period. It is in the community's interest to avoid large repayments and create a stable plan to financial recovery. This will help our shared goal of stabilizing housing.

Housing providers continue to receive no income from the services they provide and are facing tenuous financial circumstances. This is effecting all contractors, suppliers, employees and those that depend on these buildings for their livelihood. We must take common sense steps to help all residents and avoid furthering this economic catastrophe.

Please insert hardship requirements, create a financial plan to facilitate installment payments during the payback period and continue to allow cities the flexibility to make balanced decisions on this matter.

Elba Romo	Honorable Supervisor, Please do NOT extend the eviction moratorium and especially do not impose the County's Eviction Protections to all other incorporated cities. While these protections are intended to protect vulnerable tenants affected by Covid-19, the reality is that they actually protect individuals who are gaming the system while permanently hurting mom and pop landlords who have been affected in many ways by Covid-19. Already, the Judicial Council in the State has banned all evictions until 90 days after the Pandemic is declared over. However, additional restrictions will be more burdensome for mom and pop landlords as they face terrible abuses by tenants who are not affected by Covid but are well protected by the laws that have been passed. One property owner who I represent is an elderly retired mailman (I will call him Mr. Elderly) who owns ONE three unit property. Last year, one of the tenants, who has a history of destroying the property, not allowing entry for repairs, and being a nuisance, stopped paying her portion of the Section 8 rent. She obtained a free lawyer (courtesy of the County's block grant monies) who demanded a jury trial in an effort to extort money from Mr. Elderly. He hired a lawyer at a costs of thousands of dollars and fearing an expensive legal battle agreed to pay this tenant a significant amount of money just to get her to leave. He withdrew from his 401k, paid her through her attorney, and she DID NOT LEAVE. The Sheriff lockout did not take place because of Covid-19 and she remains in possession without paying Mr. Elderly a dime. In the meantime, he has fallen behind on his mortgage payments but there is no help for him, no laws to protect him from the abuses he has faced and continues to face from his tenant. Sadly, Mr. Elderly is one of many mom and pop landlords that I represent who are being taken advantage of by tenants who have simply refused to pay rent. Many of these tenants have not been affected by Covid-19. Their incomes have not been reduced. In fact, some tenants who did go on unemployment actually earned more (and continue to earn more) than when they worked, but they do not pay the rent because the laws that you have passed tell them that they don't have to and that the landlord's can not do anything about it. This moratorium and the Eviction protections do not require tenants to provide any proof whatsoever that they were affected by Covid-19. I understand politically it is currently popular to be pro-tenant and anti-landlord because property owners have been painted to be rich, greedy corporations. But this is not true. More than 60% of housing is provide by mom and pops. All 47 of the property owners that I represent as a property manager are Mom and Pops who one one, maybe two properties. Not a single one is rich. Most of my clients have mortgages on the properties and all are either retired seniors or work at least one full time job. But we as mom and pop property owners have no protections

	and carry the heaviest burdens of these tenant protection laws. When one tenant stops paying in a 100 unit apartment complex owned by a corporation, that reduces that corporations income by 1%. When one tenant stopes paying in a 3 unit property for a mom and pop, income is reduced by over 33% and their property starts to run the risk of foreclosure. Yet, despite the burdens and restrictions placed on landlords, I have seen all of my property owners willing to work with tenants and help them if they really need the help. All of them have demonstrated kindness, patience and generosity during this time, not because a draconian law forces them too, but because they truly care about their tenants. Furthermore, any property owner, when viewing being a landlord as a business, understands that it is good business to take care of the tenants and work with tenants to prevent vacancies. Vacancies are costly to landlords, so no landlord actually seeks to just get rid of tenants on a whim. Evictions, even before the moratorium, are expensive, with jury trials costing at least ten thousand dollars in legal fees, so no landlord seeks to incur these expenses without strong reasoning behind it. An eviction for all of my property owners is the tool of last resort to reclaim their property from a tenant who has chosen to not just default on their contractual obligations but to further take advantage of landlords by gaming the system. Lastly, one of the biggest issues facing our society today and before the pandemic hit was the lack of housing which has resulted in a homelessness crisis. Eviction moratoriums and eviction protections do not reduce homelessness, they exacerbate it. This may sound ironic but it is the truth. Eviction moratoriums only protect bad tenants. Sooner or later, those tenants will eventually get evicted (sometimes the process takes more than a year) and in the meantime, that tenant lives off the landlord, stealing the landlord's livelihood. But once that bad tenant gets evicted and they move on to steal from another housing provider, that vacated unit becomes available to someone else. What the eviction protections do is discourage housing providers from building more housing. Once a landlord experiences the grand theft from a tenant not paying rent or destroying the property or both (and the chances of ever recovering any of those damages from bad tenants is less than 10%), they will not want to create more housing. Even without experiencing this, many housing providers will not want to take the risk of investing in creating more housing. They will invest their money elsewhere. Thank you for reading this. Please do not make the situation worse. OPPOSE this item. these policies.

I understand the challenges and uncertainty COVID-19 presents, however the County must promote balance, reason and fairness as we navigate this crisis. As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution.
I urge the County to mandate that tenants demonstrate financial hardship due to COVID-19 in order to obtain further rent deferral, including pay stubs and proof of all sources of income.
I cannot continue to subsidize reduced or zero rent indefinitely. My tenants are now only required to self-authorize. So, I just have to believe their word that they have been impacted. No proof is required, just a silly check box on piece of paper stating that they have been affected with their signature.
Many of my tenants are behind in rent and the debt keeps climbing with no end in sight. It is HIGHLY unlikely that they will ever have the funds to repay what is past due, we all know that is a pipe dream.
I am held responsible for housing people that cannot afford to live in my units for as long as the state mandates. You are holding my property hostage. You don't pay the taxes, maintenance, insurance, yet YOU are deciding who can and can't live in my units. Something is VERY WRONG with this equation.
As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation must be mandatory. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically affected by the pandemic and not those who are gaming the system and taking advantage of landlords.
Tenants have now realized that they can do whatever they want in their rental property in L.A. County and that their landlord can do NOTHING about it for at least 90 days after the eviction moratorium which has now been extended twice!!!
So, for example, my tenants are not only paying very little toward rent, they also have now moved in a dog, deal drugs, keep the property a complete mess with trash everywhere and harass other tenants without consequence. You are making it a NIGHTMARE for me as a landlord. These scofflaws now have a license to steal without any repercussion whatsoever. How is this fair???

The County should review a financial plan for repayment installments during the payback period. It is in the community's interest to avoid large repayments and create a stable plan to financial recovery. This will help our shared goal of stabilizing housing. Housing providers continue to receive no income from the services they provide and face extremely difficult financial circumstances. This policy impacts all contractors, suppliers, employees and those that depend on these buildings for their livelihood. We must take common sense steps to help all residents and avoid furthering this economic catastrophe.
Please insert hardship requirements, create a strict financial plan to facilitate installment payments during the payback period and continue to allow cities the flexibility to make balanced decisions on this matter.
Thank you for your consideration.

Dear LA Board of Supervisors Clerk,

Dear Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors,

I urge the Board to modify its current eviction moratorium and oppose the jurisdictional overreach of item #8.

As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution.

I urge the County to insert requirements demonstrating financial hardship due to COVID-19 to obtain further rent deferral. As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation is appropriate. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically

Evaristo Capalla	This motion would extend the current County emergency eviction moratorium to all 88 cities in the County even if a city already has its own eviction protections for tenants impacted by COVID-19, forcing landlords to defer rents with no guarantee those rents will ever get collected. The motion would not require tenants to show proof that they need to defer rent nor will it be required that rent be repaid in any timely manner. This will hugely impede the ability for landlords and property owners to pay their mortgages, taxes, vendors, and employees. In order to help both landlords and renters equally, the Board should consider requiring tenants to demonstrate hardship as a result of COVID-19; creating a financial plan to facilitate installment payments during the payback period; and continuing to allow cities the flexibility to make balanced decisions on this matter.

Dear LA Board of Supervisors Clerk,

Dear Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors,

I urge the Board to modify its current eviction moratorium and oppose the jurisdictional overreach of item #8.

Cities have worked hard to create sensible paths forward during this pandemic. We should not create further confusion or supersede these policies. I understand the challenges and uncertainty COVID-19 present but the County must promote balance and reason as we navigate this crises. As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution.

I urge the County to insert requirements demonstrating financial hardship due to COVID-19 to obtain further rent deferral. As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation is appropriate. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically affected by the pandemic.

The County should review a financial plan for repayment installments during the payback period. It is in the community's interest to avoid large repayments and create a stable plan to financial recovery. This will help our shared goal of stabilizing housing.

Housing providers continue to receive no income from the services they provide and are facing tenuous financial circumstances. This is effecting all contractors, suppliers, employees and those that depend on these buildings for their livelihood. We must take common sense steps to help all residents and avoid furthering this economic catastrophe.

Please insert hardship requirements, create a financial plan to facilitate installment payments during the payback period and continue to allow cities the flexibility to make balanced decisions on this matter.

Thank you for your consideration

George Kolovos	While I recognize the difficulties that many tenants are having due to the current pandemic and believe they need assistance, my family and I ask that the Board take into account the extreme economic hardship and peril that property owners, especially small family managers, are facing right now as property taxes, mortgage payments, utility and maintenance bill continue to be due. It is urgent that the board take some steps to address the larger problem and provide rent vouchers to tenants so that property owners, their employees, their taxes and mortgage payments can also be paid. Without a holistic solution-this motion unfairly, unsustainably shifts all the burden to property owners who have continued to sustain losses. I ask that the Board please expand their approach to also help property owners. Thank you for your consideration!

Gloria D Rodriguez	Unfortunately, the board nor the state government are equally invested in the rights of all tax paying residents. You take away from some to give to others, without realizing that some of these property owners are hard working citizens trying to get ahead, with mortgages, utilities and repairs that must be made. Where is the voice for those responsible, hardworking members of society?

		Gretchen K Kubacky	As proposed, this leaves small landlords like me in an ever more fragile and tenuous condition. You MUST consider all of your constituents, including the landlords. Without us, there is no housing. End of story. Tenants must be required to provide appropriate documentation of legitimately being affected by COVID-19-related income losses, along with payment of a significant portion of rents, given that they are receiving unemployment insurance and/or SBA loans and/or PPL if they have businesses. This current situation is unfair, creates an enormous burden upon landlords, and ultimately will result in the permanent removal of much-needed Los Angeles rental housing stock. Dear LA Board of Supervisors Clerk,

Dear Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors,

I urge the Board to modify its current eviction moratorium and oppose the jurisdictional overreach of item #8.

Cities have worked hard to create sensible paths forward during this pandemic. We should not create further confusion or supersede these policies. I understand the challenges and uncertainty COVID-19 present but the County must promote balance and reason as we navigate this crises. As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution.

I urge the County to insert requirements demonstrating financial hardship due to COVID-19 to obtain further rent deferral. As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation is appropriate. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically affected by the pandemic.

The County should review a financial plan for repayment installments during the payback period. It is in the community's interest to avoid large repayments and create a stable plan to financial recovery. This will help our shared goal of stabilizing housing.

Housing providers continue to receive no income from the services they provide and are facing tenuous financial circumstances. This is effecting all contractors, suppliers, employees and those that depend on these buildings for their livelihood. We must take common sense steps to help all residents and avoid furthering this economic catastrophe.

Please insert hardship requirements, create a financial plan to facilitate installment payments during the payback period and continue to allow cities the flexibility to make balanced decisions on this matter.

Thank you for your consideration

Sincerely,

Jackie Kilmer	This should not be extended when renters do not have to be held accountable. This is hurting landlords who will never ever see the rent they lost. Renters are taking advantage and seeing they don't have to pay. My neighbor can pay rent but has decided not to. He currently owes $12k in rent. You extend it out another two months and he will now owe $18k in rent. EIGHTEEN THOUSAND DOLLARS. This is money he will never pay back and the landlords are out of a lot of money. Others own homes they are renting that they have to continue to pay mortgage on and may now lose because renters are just not paying. There needs to be some accountability. At this point you have given everyone a gift of 4 months which will be hard enough for them to repay. There does not need to be any extension. Renters should be able to work it out with their landlords if they have money issues.

Dear LA Board of Supervisors Clerk,

Dear Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors,

I urge the Board to modify its current eviction moratorium and oppose the jurisdictional overreach of item #8.

Cities have worked hard to create sensible paths forward during this pandemic. We should not create further confusion or supersede these policies. I understand the challenges and uncertainty COVID-19 present but the County must promote balance and reason as we navigate this crises. As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution.

I urge the County to insert requirements demonstrating financial hardship due to COVID-19 to obtain further rent deferral. As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation is appropriate. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically affected by the pandemic.

The County should review a financial plan for repayment installments during the payback period. It is in the community's interest to avoid large repayments and create a stable plan to financial recovery. This will help our shared goal of stabilizing housing.

Housing providers continue to receive no income from the services they provide and are facing tenuous financial circumstances. This is effecting all contractors, suppliers, employees and those that depend on these buildings for their livelihood. We must take common sense steps to help all residents and avoid furthering this economic catastrophe.

Please insert hardship requirements, create a financial plan to facilitate installment payments during the payback period and continue to allow cities the flexibility to make balanced decisions on this matter.

Thank you for your consideration

Dear Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors,

I urge the Board to modify its current eviction moratorium and oppose the jurisdictional overreach of item #8.

Cities have worked hard to create sensible paths forward during this pandemic. We should not create further confusion or supersede these policies. I understand the challenges and uncertainty COVID-19 present but the County must promote balance and reason as we navigate this crises. As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution.

I urge the County to insert requirements demonstrating financial hardship due to COVID-19 to obtain further rent deferral. As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation is appropriate. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically affected by the pandemic.

The County should review a financial plan for repayment installments during the payback period. It is in the community's interest to avoid large repayments and create a stable plan to financial recovery. This will help our shared goal of stabilizing housing.

Housing providers continue to receive no income from the services they provide and are facing tenuous financial circumstances. This is effecting all contractors, suppliers, employees and those that depend on these buildings for their livelihood. We must take common sense steps to help all residents and avoid furthering this economic catastrophe.

Please insert hardship requirements, create a financial plan to facilitate installment payments during the payback period and continue to allow cities the flexibility to make balanced decisions on this matter.

Thank you for your consideration

Sincerely,

Jim Rodriguez	Please allow me my family and my tenants to survive this pandemic. My business is to provide quality housing. If some can't pay due to the crisis we should and will work with them. If some who can pay are given a reason to not pay even if they can, the others will suffer. We operate on very slim margins. If only a small percentage don't pay, my family will not have income to survive. We will not be able to provide the most important protection people need during this crisis. A safe and healthy home to live. If a safety net for those who are in need is something you feel is necessary, then provide it by creating a fund for those in need out of general tax dollars. Please don't assume that selecting me and my little business and the only small manner I have to support my family is an ok target. This relief effort should be shouldered by our community as a whole. Many of my residents earn more and have more assets and ability to contribute than I do. Please don't discriminate against me just because you think I may have more. I don't. Many don't. To be fair you would need to do a means test for every landlord who you plan on taking their income from. I spent my life living in basically a hole just to save enough and borrow enough to get into the housing provider market. I work day and night to keep their homes nice. Please don't take that away.

Dear LA Board of Supervisors Clerk,

Dear Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors,

I urge the Board to modify its current eviction moratorium and oppose the jurisdictional overreach of item #8.

Cities have worked hard to create sensible paths forward during this pandemic. We should not create further confusion or supersede these policies. I understand the challenges and uncertainty COVID-19 present but the County must promote balance and reason as we navigate this crises. As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution.

I urge the County to insert requirements demonstrating financial hardship due to COVID-19 to obtain further rent deferral. As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation is appropriate. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically affected by the pandemic.

The County should review a financial plan for repayment installments during the payback period. It is in the community's interest to avoid large repayments and create a stable plan to financial recovery. This will help our shared goal of stabilizing housing.

Housing providers continue to receive no income from the services they provide and are facing tenuous financial circumstances. This is effecting all contractors, suppliers, employees and those that depend on these buildings for their livelihood. We must take common sense steps to help all residents and avoid furthering this economic catastrophe.

Please insert hardship requirements, create a financial plan to facilitate installment payments during the payback period and continue to allow cities the flexibility to make balanced decisions on this matter.

Thank you for your consideration

Sincerely,

Dear LA Board of Supervisors Clerk,

Dear Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors,

I urge the Board to modify its current eviction moratorium and oppose the jurisdictional overreach of item #8.

Cities have worked hard to create sensible paths forward during this pandemic. We should not create further confusion or supersede these policies. I understand the challenges and uncertainty COVID-19 present but the County must promote balance and reason as we navigate this crises. As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution.

I urge the County to insert requirements demonstrating financial hardship due to COVID-19 to obtain further rent deferral. As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation is appropriate. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically affected by the pandemic.

The County should review a financial plan for repayment installments during the payback period. It is in the community's interest to avoid large repayments and create a stable plan to financial recovery. This will help our shared goal of stabilizing housing.

Housing providers continue to receive no income from the services they provide and are facing tenuous financial circumstances. This is effecting all contractors, suppliers, employees and those that depend on these buildings for their livelihood. We must take common sense steps to help all residents and avoid furthering this economic catastrophe.

Please insert hardship requirements, create a financial plan to facilitate installment payments during the payback period and continue to allow cities the flexibility to make balanced decisions on this matter.

Thank you for your consideration

Sincerely,

Dear LA Board of Supervisors Clerk,

Dear Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors,

I urge the Board to modify its current eviction moratorium and oppose the jurisdictional overreach of item #8.

Cities have worked hard to create sensible paths forward during this pandemic. We should not create further confusion or supersede these policies. I understand the challenges and uncertainty COVID-19 present but the County must promote balance and reason as we navigate this crises. As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution.

I urge the County to insert requirements demonstrating financial hardship due to COVID-19 to obtain further rent deferral. As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation is appropriate. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically affected by the pandemic.

The County should review a financial plan for repayment installments during the payback period. It is in the community's interest to avoid large repayments and create a stable plan to financial recovery. This will help our shared goal of stabilizing housing.

Housing providers continue to receive no income from the services they provide and are facing tenuous financial circumstances. This is effecting all contractors, suppliers, employees and those that depend on these buildings for their livelihood. We must take common sense steps to help all residents and avoid furthering this economic catastrophe.

Please insert hardship requirements, create a financial plan to facilitate installment payments during the payback period and continue to allow cities the flexibility to make balanced decisions on this matter.

Thank you for your consideration

I urge the Board to modify its current eviction moratorium and oppose the jurisdictional overreach of item #8.

Cities have worked hard to create sensible paths forward during this pandemic. We should not create further confusion or supersede these policies. I understand the challenges and uncertainty COVID-19 present but the County must promote balance and reason as we navigate this crises. As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution.

I urge the County to insert requirements demonstrating financial hardship due to COVID-19 to obtain further rent deferral. As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation is appropriate. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically affected by the pandemic.

The County should review a financial plan for repayment installments during the payback period. It is in the community's interest to avoid large repayments and create

Leon Khachooni	Let me be very clear, an extension is necessary and warranted. What we oppose is the County Board of Supervisors over-reach with regard to, "Tenant protections based on COVID-19 related violations due to unauthorized occupants, pets, or nuisance." Every city I have looked at in this county has NOT gone that far, and for very good reason, it fails to consider the rights of the other tenants in multi-family unit properties. It also fails to consider the impact such policy could have on the wider neighborhood and community. If you want to establish a "Baseline in Incorporated Cities" the policy has to be rid of these instances of ill-conceived over-reach that betray a profound lack of experience when it comes to people, the law, and housing. I suggest the County removes that part (Tenant protections based on COVID-19 related violations due to unauthorized occupants, pets, or nuisance) if it wants to earn the support of the cities and people it serves.

Cities have worked hard to create sensible paths forward during this pandemic. We should not create further confusion or supersede these policies. I understand the challenges and uncertainty COVID-19 present but the County must promote balance and reason as we navigate this crises. As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution.

I urge the County to insert requirements demonstrating financial hardship due to COVID-19 to obtain further rent deferral. As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation is appropriate. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically affected by the pandemic.

The County should review a financial plan for repayment installments during the payback period. It is in the community's interest to avoid large repayments and create a stable plan to financial recovery. This will help our shared goal of stabilizing housing.

Housing providers continue to receive no income from the services they provide and are facing tenuous financial circumstances. This is effecting all contractors, suppliers, employees and those that depend on these buildings for their livelihood. We must take common sense steps to help all residents and avoid furthering this economic catastrophe.

Please insert hardship requirements, create a financial plan to facilitate installment payments during the payback period and continue to allow cities the flexibility to make balanced decisions on this matter.

Thank you for your consideration

I urge the County to insert requirements demonstrating financial hardship due to COVID-19 to obtain further rent deferral. As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation is appropriate. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically affected by the pandemic.

The County should review a financial plan for repayment installments during the payback period. It is in the community's interest to avoid large repayments and create a stable plan to financial recovery. This will help our shared goal of stabilizing housing.

Housing providers continue to receive no income from the services they provide and are facing tenuous financial circumstances. This is effecting all contractors, suppliers, employees and those that depend on these buildings for their livelihood. We must take common sense steps to help all residents and avoid furthering this economic catastrophe.

Please insert hardship requirements, create a financial plan to facilitate installment payments during the payback period and continue to allow cities the flexibility to make balanced decisions on this matter.

Thank you for your consideration

Dear LA Board of Supervisors Clerk,

Dear Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors,

I urge the Board to modify its current eviction moratorium and oppose the jurisdictional overreach of item #8.

Cities have worked hard to create sensible paths forward during this pandemic. We should not create further confusion or supersede these policies. I understand the challenges and uncertainty COVID-19 present but the County must promote balance and reason as we navigate this crises. As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution.

I urge the County to insert requirements demonstrating financial hardship due to COVID-19 to obtain further rent deferral. As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation is appropriate. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically affected by the pandemic.

The County should review a financial plan for repayment installments during the payback period. It is in the community's interest to avoid large repayments and create a stable plan to financial recovery. This will help our shared goal of stabilizing housing.

Housing providers continue to receive no income from the services they provide and are facing tenuous financial circumstances. This is effecting all contractors, suppliers, employees and those that depend on these buildings for their livelihood. We must take common sense steps to help all residents and avoid furthering this economic catastrophe.

Please insert hardship requirements, create a financial plan to facilitate installment payments during the payback period and continue to allow cities the flexibility to make balanced decisions on this matter.

Thank you for your consideration

Michael J Capkanis	Dear Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, Permit the CITIES to best represent THEIR constituents. Why does the Board insist that every city should foist society's (and therefore government's) problems exclusively on housing providers? What makes the Board believe providers should - or even can - endure such a burden? We have a mortgages, taxes, insurance, maintenance, utilities, and personnel -- similar to a restaurant, and with equally slim margins. Yet, you only ordered restaurants to close – you did not demand that they REMAIN OPEN, AND SERVE FREE FOOD. What does the Board have against housing providers? It's beginning to feel like a personal vendetta. And, typical of any small business owner, nothing is beneath me. Fixing toilets, scrubbing floors... taking calls in the wee hours... counseling tenants with emotional issues. I AM one of the "good ones". I assure you that I will NEVER again invest in LA multifamily housing, EVER. And, it would reasonable to assume that I'm not alone in my feelings. Ask yourselves, what is the future of LA housing when you've run off anyone who wants to invest here? What will be the macro-economic impact when a significant portion of those desiring to reside here cannot find a decent place to live? Then, it won't be a function of price; it will be a function of scarcity (and, so, a logical and direct extension of today's problem.) Put some economists on retainer. Sincerely, Michael Capkanis

MM Management	There has to be a balanced approach on how to deal with evictions. Supervisors should not only protect tenants. Landlords need help as well. We feel rent subsidies should be paid directly to the landlord. It is absolutely galling that tenants do not have to show proof that their income is affected by the Coronavirus. I don't see how developers are going to be building in Los Angeles when conditions for landlords get worse every year.

Nat Feldman	Please please! Consider who you are hurting!! Hurting prospective tenants... landlords not willing to consider applicants who might stop paying. or who might leave town (out of state tenants) Makes it impossible for them to get an apartment. No trust any more. You are hurting current tenants who do not have self responsibility to comply with obligations under lease.. bad for tenants history as a payor.. Does not create good behavior. Tenants who can't pay can work with the landlord to either

	leave or reduce rent.. Landlords have so many expenses you and tenants have no idea! not just mortgage and insurance, taxes.. So many unexpected costs, Landlords do not keep all rent. much goes for improvements, and repairs.. even if tenants fault, landlord often won't charge a good tenants.. And think about the vendors. No putting in nice flooring, no new dishwasher or AC unit. No repainting laundry room, bldg. will become a dump - not what landlord wants. Landlord wants happy tenants. Tenants need to be incentivized to be good citizens. not just paying, but Playing by the rules. So if tenant does something he wasn't supposed to do, the landlord has no recourse. Please open courts and let landlord conduct business. Landlords already reducing rent. It's fine. Free market. but we need to know that we are getting honorable tenants. So easy for them to decide they don't need to be ethical. Please put this incentive back to the tenant. make them be good citizens.. Landlords do not evict without a good reason. Truly.. Please be open minded.. meet with landlords, especially under 16 units.. hear first hand. tour the property.. see how we are losing out.. will never see our rent again. we are so afraid to take on a new tenant....thank you
Natalie Agajanian	Landlords cannot afford this any longer. Tenants are taking advantage and even those renting luxury homes are not paying. I own only one rental house rented to a family who has two homes and vacations during covid and sends their kids to private schools. They can afford to pay but haven't. My loan is not backed by FDA and I have to keep paying. I can't afford this any longer and will be forced to sell it or lose the house. Please vote against this. Thank you

My primary doctor has written a letter that I should live alone because of the risk of being exposed to COVID-19. Because of your moratorium I have been unable to be safe in my own home because I had rented out two rooms before Covid moratorium to someone who does not practice social distancing or wearing masks. My doctor wrote a letter saying that I should be living alone. My tenant did not pay April May June or July's rent and never gave me any feedback on how he was going to repay me. Instead when he knew he was going to be leaving on July 15th , he began verbally abusing me and scaring me as he demanded that I give him back his security deposit. My health was jeopardized every day in my own home because of this moratorium. This gentleman finally left two days ago. I have been traumatized for over four months by the situation and your continuation of this moratorium will hurt other senior citizens like me. There needs to be stipulations for people who have chronic health conditions that are in my age group. Please consider including this before you continue this continuation of the moratorium. Peoples lives are at stake. Also this situation caused me to possibly lose my home and I am struggling to get a modification before they begin foreclosure on me. Please continue this decision until these issues can be explored.

It punishes housing providers unduly and will eventually punish tenants, pushing them out of their homes. Housing supply will shrink, not rise or remain stable. Dear Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors,

I urge the Board to modify its current eviction moratorium and oppose the jurisdictional overreach of item #8.

Cities have worked hard to create sensible paths forward during this pandemic. We should not create further confusion or supersede these policies. I understand the challenges and uncertainty COVID-19 present but the County must promote balance and reason as we navigate this crises. As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution.

I urge the County to insert requirements demonstrating financial hardship due to COVID-19 to obtain further rent deferral. As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation is appropriate. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically affected by the pandemic.

The County should review a financial plan for repayment installments during the payback period. It is in the community's interest to avoid large repayments and create a stable plan to financial recovery. This will help our shared goal of stabilizing housing.

Housing providers continue to receive no income from the services they provide and are facing tenuous financial circumstances. This is effecting all contractors, suppliers, employees and those that depend on these buildings for their livelihood. We must take common sense steps to help all residents and avoid furthering this economic catastrophe.

Please insert hardship requirements, create a financial plan to facilitate installment payments during the payback period and continue to allow cities the flexibility to make balanced decisions on this matter.

jurisdictional overreach of item #8.

Cities have worked hard to create sensible paths forward during this pandemic. We should not create further confusion or supersede these policies. I understand the challenges and uncertainty COVID-19 present but the County must promote balance and reason as we navigate this crises. As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution.

I urge the County to insert requirements demonstrating financial hardship due to COVID-19 to obtain further rent deferral. As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation is appropriate. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically affected by the pandemic.

The County should review a financial plan for repayment installments during the payback period. It is in the community's interest to avoid large repayments and create a stable plan to financial recovery. This will help our shared goal of stabilizing housing.

Housing providers continue to receive no income from the services they provide and are facing tenuous financial circumstances. STEVE FARID

Dear LA Board of Supervisors Clerk,

Dear Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors,

I urge the Board to modify its current eviction moratorium and oppose the jurisdictional overreach of item #8.

Cities have worked hard to create sensible paths forward during this pandemic. We should not create further confusion or supersede these policies. I understand the challenges and uncertainty COVID-19 present but the County must promote balance and reason as we navigate this crises. As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution.

I urge the County to insert requirements demonstrating financial hardship due to COVID-19 to obtain further rent deferral. As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation is appropriate. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically affected by the pandemic.

The County should review a financial plan for repayment installments during the payback period. It is in the community's interest to avoid large repayments and create a stable plan to financial recovery. This will help our shared goal of stabilizing housing.

Housing providers continue to receive no income from the services they provide and are facing tenuous financial circumstances. This is effecting all contractors, suppliers, employees and those that depend on these buildings for their livelihood. We must take common sense steps to help all residents and avoid furthering this economic catastrophe.

Please insert hardship requirements, create a financial plan to facilitate installment payments during the payback period and continue to allow cities the flexibility to make balanced decisions on this matter.

Thank you for your consideration

Sincerely,

Steve Farid

Susan Stophel	Dear LA Board of Supervisors Clerk, Dear Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, I urge the Board to modify its current eviction moratorium and oppose the jurisdictional overreach of item #8. Cities have worked hard to create sensible paths forward during this pandemic. We should not create further confusion or supersede these policies. I understand the challenges and uncertainty COVID-19 present but the County must promote balance and reason as we navigate this crises. As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution. I urge the County to insert requirements demonstrating financial hardship due to COVID-19 to obtain further rent deferral. As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation is appropriate. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically affected by the pandemic. The County should review a financial plan for repayment installments during the payback period. It is in the community's interest to avoid large repayments and create a stable plan to financial recovery. This will help our shared goal of stabilizing housing. Housing providers continue to receive no income from the services they provide and are facing tenuous financial circumstances. This is effecting all contractors, suppliers, employees and those that depend on these buildings for their livelihood. We must take common sense steps to help all residents and avoid furthering this economic catastrophe. Please insert hardship requirements, create a financial plan to facilitate installment payments during the payback period and continue to allow cities the flexibility to make balanced decisions on this matter. Thank you for your consideration

Tania Ramirez	My parents are seniors, only my dad work a partime because he was sick with Covid-19 last month. They have a couple renting a room at their house to "help" themselves with mortgage payment. That people had not been affected because the man goes to work every single day. But still they decided not to pay their rent just because there is a moratorium in place. Now my parents are struggling for all the payments and the extra utilities they are consuming, plus those tenants had been calling the cops on my parents several times, arguing harassment. We appreciate all the support and the effort that Board is doing to help everyone during this pandemic time, but about this moratorium definitely needs to be removed or at least something more fair and helpful with landlords too, landlords are humans as well as tenants and landlords are getting sick, hit and struggling with this situation as much as tenants are or maybe even more. Please consider our petition on lifting the moratorium or at least to reconsider the rules and requirements to avoid evictions, to people who is truthful affected and that really need the help and support. Thank you in advance for your help, support and your consideration to this matter. Best regards,

Dear LA Board of Supervisors Clerk,

Dear Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors,

I urge the Board to modify its current eviction moratorium and oppose the jurisdictional overreach of item #8.

Cities have worked hard to create sensible paths forward during this pandemic. We should not create further confusion or supersede these policies. I understand the challenges and uncertainty COVID-19 present but the County must promote balance and reason as we navigate this crises. As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution.

I urge the County to insert requirements demonstrating financial hardship due to COVID-19 to obtain further rent deferral. As the County continues to assess economic reopening, requiring hardship documentation is appropriate. We must ensure we are helping those truly in need and who continue to be economically affected by the pandemic.

The County should review a financial plan for repayment installments during the payback period. It is in the community's interest to avoid large repayments and create a stable plan to financial recovery. This will help our shared goal of stabilizing housing.

Housing providers continue to receive no income from the services they provide and are facing tenuous financial circumstances. This is effecting all contractors, suppliers, employees and those that depend on these buildings for their livelihood. We must take common sense steps to help all residents and avoid furthering this economic catastrophe.

Please insert hardship requirements, create a financial plan to facilitate installment payments during the payback period and continue to allow cities the flexibility to make balanced decisions on this matter.

Thank you for your consideration

Dear LA Board of Supervisors Clerk,

Dear Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors,

I urge the Board to modify its current eviction moratorium and oppose the jurisdictional overreach of item #8.

Cities have worked hard to create sensible paths forward during this pandemic. We should not create further confusion or supersede these policies. I understand the challenges and uncertainty COVID-19 present but the County must promote balance and reason as we navigate this crises. As a housing provider, I am doing everything I can to be part of the solution.

Vlad Polischuk	In the very least require tenants to provide supporting documentation for COVID hardship to continue to be eligible under the eviction moratorium. At present, anyone can say "COVID" and not pay rent. Are you seriously relying on the honor system as a form of housing policy across the 2nd largest city in the country. Or does the honor system apply only against property owners, because to be eligible for any city provided housing benefits, even the newest COVID 103 million, there is a strict documentation requirement.

		William Law	While it may be somewhat defensible to impose a moratorium on residential evictions so that thousands of tenants are not made homeless at the same time, thus overwhelming the County's support services, this rationale does not apply to commercial evictions. Struggling businesses that are not able to pay the rent are usually not able to make payroll or to cover their usual expenses either. Indeed, the premise of this moratorium, that businesses affected by the outbreak are on the verge on re-opening, is faulty. The customer base for many of them would not return, even if they could re-open. It would be better for these companies to shut down operations, move out, and let more viable businesses take their place. LA County should not be enabling moribund businesses by preventing commercial evictions, as this only prolongs the misery. Unlike residential evictions, tenants are not made homeless; the only casualties are failing businesses which ought to be closed so that their employees can seek more gainful employment in other venues. They should move on and let other businesses in their stead begin anew; they can always set up shop when the time is ripe and the economy has recovered.

		Thank you for your consideration
Other	Abigail E Kuhns	I am in favor of the above item but believe it MUST be more robust given the severity of the current crisis. The Board must EXTEND the eviction protections for the pandemic UNTIL communities have made full recoveries. A 2 month extension is not enough time given skyrocketing unemployment rates. In addition, the BOS must EXPAND the eviction protections to be a retroactive county-wide standard and wipe out weaker local protections. Lastly, I urge the BOS to support AB-1436, a statewide Covid-19 eviction prevention bill that would help ALL tenants in the state, many of whom are struggling to pay for basic necessities, notwithstanding rent.
	Arianna Lovelady
	Elizabeth Guzman	Hello, As a lifelong resident of los angeles and housing and tenant rights organizer, I ask that you all extend the current protections until 2021 or at least through your recess period. Also, I ask that you expand these protections, include permanent anti-harassment protections, explore canceling rent debt, and fund full scope legal representation and outreach efforts. People's livelihoods are at stake whether you are on or off session. Without these protections, the first waves of the mass eviction tsunami we expect will hit Los Angeles County residents. Studies have already shown that those most impacted will be Black and Brown and low-income residents. Without a certain future, given the millions of jobs lost to covid, we can leave tenants unprotected. Your decisions can literally help keep people and families sheltered in place and off the streets.
	Greg Spiegel	ICLC strongly supports an extension of the County's emergency tenant protections. For the sake of providing certainty and safety for both landlords and tenants, the extension should not be revisited monthly but rather extended until 90 days after the end of the State of Emergency. Under the current method of only extending one month at a time, renters who are unable to pay next month's rent voluntarily leave their homes erroneously thinking they will avoid the scarlet eviction letter on their credit report. If the Board is unwilling to provide the certainty that tenants need by extending indefinitely, the Board should extend to September 30th. Agenda Item #8 (second half): Making the Board's emergency tenant protections the baseline for the whole County For the sake of clarity and consistency, we strongly support the Board adopting language that establishes its protections as the baseline protections for the whole County. This will prevent renters and landlords from suffering the current uncertainty over which rules apply.

	However, to accomplish the County protections being a uniform floor, current motion language must be changed in two ways: First, the language must make clear that the protections are retroactive to March 4th, the establishment of the State of Emergency. Second, the language should be clarified to make clear that the County establishes a uniform floor upon which the cities can adopt stricter protections. The current language has the potential for ambiguity when part of a city protection is stricter than the County. Specifically, we recommend the following language in the County's Executive Order: "This Moratorium applies to all unincorporated areas and incorporated cities within the County of Los Angeles pursuant to Government Code section 8630, et seq. and Chapter 2.68 of the County Code. It is the intent of the County, in enacting this Moratorium, to provide uniform, minimum standards protecting residential, mobilehome space renters, and commercial tenants during this local emergency. Nothing in this Moratorium shall be construed to preclude any city from imposing, or continuing to impose, greater local protections than are imposed by this Moratorium if the protections are not inconsistent with this Moratorium. Examples of greater local protections include, but are not limited to, additional time to notify a landlord of inability to pay, no requirement that a tenant notify a landlord of an inability to pay, no requirement to provide certification or evidence of inability to pay, additional prohibited reasons for eviction, additional time to repay rent due, or the application of protections beyond the expiration of this Moratorium."
Jane Demian	I am providing written public comment on Items #8 and #25. We are faced with a pandemic that is affecting every aspect of our lives. Businesses are closing, workers are losing jobs, tenants are losing income and unable to pay rent, schools will not reopen in the fall, people are becoming ill and dying. There needs to be acknowledgment on the part of the LA County Board of Supervisors that the emergency will not end on September 30, 2020. Therefore, I urge you to extend the emergency tenant protections as far in advance as November 30th or December 30th, until we have some certainty that the virus can be contained, when workers can return to work safely, and when tenants can earn a stable income. Extending the emergency from one month to the next does not provide stability or certainty to tenants or property owners. If tenant protections are not extended LA County will see a HUGE increase in individuals and families becoming unhoused, beyond the already increasing numbers (over 60,000 and rising) of those living in their cars and on the streets of LA County. Further, the LA County tenant protections ordinance needs to be a baseline for the entire county, but if a local jurisdiction seeks to make their tenant protection ordinances stronger, they should be allowed to do so. The priority is to keep tenants housed through eviction protection ordinances, a strong eviction defense program, and to prevent more homelessness. Those who are presently unhoused need permanent housing with supportive services so that the trauma of street living, resulting in mental illness and substance abuse, can be treated. Shunting unhoused folks from one temporary shelter to the next without plans for more permanent housing only exacerbates the problem. Thank you.

Kaitlyn Quackenbush	As a member of the Right to Counsel &amp; HealthyLA Coalitions, I strongly support an extension of the county's emergency tenant protections. However, for the sake of providing certainty for both landlords and tenants &amp; safety and housing stability for tenants, the extension should NOT be revisited every month. This current method means that renters who are unable to pay next month's rent, due to COVID, are voluntarily leaving their homes in order to avoid an eviction, only to find out later that would not have been the case OR they are wracked with uncertainty, fear, and stress about what to do. The Board's current process unnecessarily produces fear, anxiety, toxic stress, and unnecessary displacement. The board should extend the protections until 90 days after the end of the State of Emergency, at a minimum. For the sake of clarity and consistency, we strongly support the Board adopting language that establishes its protections as the baseline protections for the whole County. This will prevent renters and landlords from suffering the current uncertainty of determining which rules apply to them. For the sake of clarity and consistency, we strongly support the Board adopting language that establishes its protections as the baseline protections for the whole County. This will prevent renters and landlords from suffering the current uncertainty of determining which rules apply to them. However, to accomplish the County protections being a uniform floor, current motion language must be changed in two ways: We recommend the following amendments: First, the language must make clear that the protections are reactive to March 4th, the establishment of the State of Emergency. Second, the language should be clarified to make clear that the County establishes a uniform floor upon which the cities can adopt stricter protections. As currently written, there is potential for ambiguity over whether an existing city protection is stricter than the County.
Lisa Irwin	Please consider extending the Moratorium in Evictions until the economy is open at least at phase 4 of re-opening. If this moratorium is lifted countless Angelenos will lose their homes all the while exposing themselves and their families to life threatening illness out of fear of losing their homes. It is irresponsible and inhumane to do so without additional financial disaster relief provided by the the City.

	2020. Additionally, many have struggled to access unemployment at all in the last few months. The volume of unemployment applications received by EDD has caused an extensive backlog and many have not yet received their payments. The County's Eviction Moratorium has provided many tenants with temporary peace of mind. Tenants know that if they are faced with the difficult choice of purchasing food or paying rent, they can ensure that their families do not go hungry and not have to worry they may end up homeless because of it. The limited extensions of the moratorium, however, has caused some uncertainty. Tenants must wait and see if the Board of Supervisors extends the moratorium before they can decide how to spend the limited money they have. A tenant may forgo essentials or medical treatment until they find out the moratorium has been extended. Additionally, there are multiple laws being referred to as Eviction Moratoriums in place at this moment. Many of these laws have different deadlines for expiration. Governor Newsom's executive order regarding evictions is in place until September 30. Having multiple deadlines for expiration of various moratoriums can be confusing for tenants creating greater uncertainty. Although the moratorium has provided tenants with peace of mind, this peace of mind is only temporary. Once the moratorium expires, many tenants will be faced with paying back months of unpaid rent within one year. Even before the COVID19 crisis, many of the county's tenants were subject to a severe rent burden. This meant after paying their rent, tenants had very little money left. With the increase in unemployment, this rent burden is likely to increase. It is unlikely tenants be able to pay much of their past due rent in addition to the current rent each month once the moratorium ends. Many will be unable to pay their rent back within a year. Finally, our office primarily serves Southeast LA. Many of the cities in southeast LA have not instituted their own eviction moratoriums and tenants have relied on the county protections. If one of the cities in southeast LA decided to institute a moratorium that was less restrictive than the county's, many tenants could lose protections they have relied on. If the County ordinance was the floor for protections, it would ensure that tenants would continue to maintain their current level of protection. Sincerely, Sangwon Ryan Choi, Esq.

			tenants. I want them happy and housed. I believe the eviction moratorium to be very unfair to landlords placing a huge, stressful burden on small landlords. The moratorium essentially requires landlords to provide housing to tenants impacted by covid-19 in exchange for high risk, zero interest rate loans. As the moratorium goes on, the amount on these loans rises as does the risk that the tenant will default on the loan. It is hard to imagine where back rent money will come from to satisfy these loans and I expect many tenants will simply walk away. The Eviction Moratorium has been going on for 3 months now. During this time, most people affected financially by this pandemic have received government aid of some sort. Also people are now going back to work. But even when either of these things are happening, there is nothing that requires the tenant to start paying their rent again. Why should they as there are absolutely no repercussions. There is also the reality that this moratorium allows some people to take advantage of the situation even if they are receiving unemployment or are working. They can enjoy free rent and the interest free money. Since there is no collateral on this owed money, the only risk is on the landlord. Please, PLEASE let this moratorium end. It is not right and not fair. I am all for helping tenants impacted by covid-19, but the government requiring me to use up all of my savings to do this is just not moral. The burden of this situation has caused me much anxiety and loss of sleep. It is wrong and needs to end. One last request. Please add a provision to the lifting order that the rent must be repaid amortized over the 12 month period. If a tenant doesn't have to repay anything for 12 months, this will encourage abuse and non-repayment of back rent. Thank you for all you do and your time today. Tom Bauer

Dear Office of the CEO,

On behalf of the 244,000 businesses in Los Angeles and 1400 member companies, the Los Angeles Area Chamber of Commerce would like to provide our comments to the following items:

Oppose- Item #8/25- The moratorium would apply countywide superseding local city eviction protection ordinance. The Board should allow local cities to have local decision making power over this policy issue.

Oppose- Agenda Item #10- It is over reaching to include a third party to be responsible for compliance. This should be handled directly with the County public health and not a third party. It will also create more costs for the county to train these third party compliance officers. Also, OSHA already provides a process to report complaints. The policy is proposed in response to some bad actors that were not in compliance. However, your own records show there is not a compliance issue with most businesses. There were 74 hotels visited, 97% were in compliance with face covering requirements, and 96% of more than 1,000 restaurants were in compliance. We agree that you should target bad actors but not at the expense of having this apply to all businesses especially when nearly 100% are compliant with public health orders.

Support-Agenda Item #51-E- We support this motion because studies have found that students of color are the most impacted by distance learning. We support your letter to request additional resources to try to address this learning gap. The business community would like to partner with schools and government leaders to advance policies and provide the necessary resources required by students of color to be successful.

I attempted to speak today but was not called upon. I would like to submit my comments on these items for the record. The attached coalition letter is in opposition to item 10. Thank you.

Regards,
Patricia

BOLD IN BUSINESS SINCE 1888

LA County Board of Supervisors
Supervisor Kathryn Barger, Chair
Via Email

Re: Item 10 – Expanding the Monitoring of Compliance with County Health Officer Orders in the Workplace to Slow COVID-19 Transmission (OPPOSE AS WRITTEN)

Dear Chair Barger,

We are a coalition of regional business organizations that are committed to supporting Los Angeles' economic recovery during and after the COVID-19 pandemic. COVID-19 continues to have devastating impacts in Los Angeles County as it negatively impacts public health and constrain the economy. With an unsustainable amount of people out of work – the County's unemployment rate was 19% in June - it is in everyone's best interest to slow the spread of COVID-19 and create safe workplaces in line with the County's Health Officer Orders (HOOs). Businesses failing to comply with HOOs must face the consequences and be held responsible for the safety and wellbeing of their workers and patrons.

Under the Board of Supervisors' direction, the Department of Public Health (DPH) has undertaken important efforts to increase safety and ensure compliance during this time. We believe DPH is the appropriate entity to oversee businesses' compliance with HOOs and oppose expanding monitoring of compliance to third-party community organizations. We oppose this expansion as it would unnecessarily divert time and resources from DPH to train third-party organizations that could be spent on monitoring and enforcement; yields oversight power to undetermined organizations that may not be equipped to carry out these tasks and are not accountable to the public in the same way that DPH is; and does not consider the efficacy of already approved and proposed Board initiatives aimed at protecting workers from contracting COVID-19 on the job.

Expanding the monitoring and compliance authority to other organizations is not aligned with the need as most businesses surveyed by DPH's Environmental Health and Safety enforcement team are already complying with the HOOs protocols. Reporting shows that of 74 hotels visited, 97% were in compliance with face covering requirements, and 96% of more than 1,000 restaurants were in compliance. Face coverings are one of the many HOOs and a critical procedure that helps prevent spread. High rates of compliance are indicative of a shared awareness that reducing the number of COVID-19 cases in our communities is the best way to reestablish economic security and a better sense of normalcy for all industries.

The time and resources that DPH staff would spend training and providing technical assistance to organizations unfamiliar with overseeing business compliance would be better spent engaging directly with businesses especially since there is already a formal relationship between businesses and County departments. It is unknown at this time what qualifications a community-based organization would need to demonstrate in order to provide this oversight, but it is difficult to imagine that the systems and reliability could mirror DPH on the necessarily urgent timeline. Businesses pay for licenses and permits to operate in their respective cities and in the County as a whole. They have established relationships with government departments and should not during this extended period of uncertainty be subjected to additional scrutiny from outside organizations that have no real obligation to the Board of Supervisors nor County residents.

This motion does not present the only path to protecting workers and ensuring employer compliance during COVID-19. The Board approved a plan for instituting fines for first instances of HOO violations. We have yet to see how the fine structure will improve business compliance and it is worthwhile to determine the benefits of this strategy before shifting gears to another approach. We also encourage the Board to approve Supervisor Solis' motion, "Aligning the Public Health Response with Governor Newsom's Strike Team to Ensure Compliance with COVID-19 Safety Measures" as this recommendation calls for a report back on leveraging state-funded strike teams comprised of state agencies to ensure HOOs enforcement in the workplace. Our County has limited resources during this financially constrained time, and it may be more prudent to utilize state resources while protecting public health.

We are supportive of increased education and public awareness of HOOs to support workers' understanding of the new protocols and increase employer compliance when needed. We encourage the Board to advance an engagement strategy focused on information sharing. We also recognize the value in worker empowerment and opportunities to report employers' noncompliance without fear of retaliation and ask the Board to consider leveraging an online portal or hotline that workers could submit their COVID-19 workplace safety concerns to.

We thank you and the Board of Supervisors for your consideration of this issue and ask that you reevaluate how we can most effectively and efficiently ensure businesses are in compliance with COVID-19 HOOs to protect lives and communities during industry recovery.

I strongly urge you to oppose Agenda Item 8, which calls for the reduction in law enforcement budgets. The implementation of this agenda item would completely erode and destroy law enforcement in Los Angeles County and would mean less money for probation and district attorney offices. This massive budget cut would directly impact the safety of our kids, our neighborhoods, and our public safety as we know it. Additionally, it would redirect billions of dollars away from policing to fund untested community programs. As proposed, Agenda Item 8 has far-reaching effects that will negatively impact the residents in Los Angeles County with irreversible consequences.

Please oppose Agenda Item 8.

Sincerely,
Paula Guild

Temporary Eviction Moratorium

Honorable Supervisors,

Housing Is a Human Right applauds the efforts of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors to fight back against the displacement of working-class communities. The housing crisis due to COVID demands bold actions to tackle spiraling housing instability and homelessness. We must expand the eviction moratorium in Los Angeles County as a necessary answer to this crisis.

We must also prepare ourselves for the push for evictions that will follow once the eviction protections are lifted. We must make sure everything that can be done will be done to protect our working-class families from future displacement as well as right now. We can not afford to create more instability later while justifying the need for now.

We respectfully ask that the order be carried out through to the next year. September will be flu and cold season. We must do everything now to make sure that our hospital systems are not overwhelmed in what is predicted to be the next wave of COVID cases coupled with seasonal sickness. There is no reason to not allow for the protections to be extended "as long as there is a need to reduce the stress put on our hospital system".

By doing as much as we can now to prepare for the future, whatever it will look like, we only stand to be in a stronger position. We must make sure Right to Counsel is in place and funded on the level it will need to be at. We must expand the eviction protections until after the start of the New Year. And we must have adequate answers in place for long-term solutions for State and Federal policies.

Thank you for your time and your consideration of this matter.
