Subject: Victim of Discrimination

Date: 6/2/2023 12:21 AM

I am currently going through this situation with my job in that I had to take time off and currently exhausted my PTO. I can attend the meeting but is there also any resources that can share? Several people have accused them of racism but we all feel helpless. They have fired others.

I work for a mortgage company based out of Maryland, but I work remotely here in Los Angeles, California

Hello

Are there any updates or follow-up information you have regarding my comments and user journey maps?

Hello there prevention task force I would love to get hired to work in this department, especially because I have experienced lots of incidents in companies lacking the diversity, inclusion, and equality mentality and updates with in their company policies which includes discrimination at the work place and labor wage violations. I am talking about McDonald's franchised fast food restaurants and non franchised mcdonald's too. I am experienced listening to older women and present women complaining about labor wage violations of hours reduction as a retaliation and not getting all the worked hours paid. I got sick days paid in a separate check that means they got caught themselves in a violation what do you guys think ? Something drastic needs to be done now.

Thank you,

Jaime Salgado Gomez
