SUBJECT: AGENDA ITEM 4a – TRAFFIC MITIGATION MEASURES WITHIN THE MARINA DEL REY AREA – QUARTERLY REPORT

Item 4a on your agenda is a quarterly report on traffic mitigation measures within the Marina del Rey area, which James Chon, Senior Civil Engineer of the Los Angeles County Department of Public Works (DPW) Traffic and Lighting Division, will be present to provide at your meeting. In connection with his presentation, Attachment A to this memo provides lists of transportation improvements that are completed, proposed and under construction.

To highlight the updates to the lists of proposed and completed transportation improvements since the April meeting, on the proposed transportation improvements list, the EIR/EIS completion dates on items one through three have changed to 2007. For items four through five, the completion dates have changed from 2011 to 2008. Item seven on the completed transportation improvements list is the demonstration shuttle service, which was added during the summer.

At your April 12, 2006 meeting, the Commission discussed whether the funds collected from developer fees are sufficient given the extended timeline on the Admiralty Way improvement projects. DPW staff is in consultations on increasing these fees and, if approved, expects it will take from three to six months to increase current fees.

Also at the April 12, 2006 meeting, the Commission asked whether the Palawan Way/Washington Blvd. Intersection Improvement Project could be given a shorter target date than 2011. As the intersection is under joint jurisdiction with the City of Los Angeles, County staff met with City staff on June 15, 2006 in an effort to secure City approval of the installation. In response, City staff required the County to prepare and submit a traffic signal warrant report, which DPW will prepare and submit to the City by the end of July 2006. We expect the construction to start in about 1½ years once the funding is identified.

Commissioner Landini inquired at the June 14, 2006 meeting whether Los Angeles County could fund a Los Angeles City DASH bus. The DASH shuttle bus system is operated by the City of Los Angeles Department of Transportation (LADOT) on routes approved by the City. During the summer of 2004, LADOT operated a Venice Beach Summer DASH for beach destinations, which also extended into Marina del Rey. That DASH route was cancelled by the City of Los Angeles due to lack of ridership.

In 2002, the County considered the possibility of a shuttle system in Marina del Rey, but did not submit it to the Metropolitan Transportation Authority (MTA)'s 2003 Call For Projects for funding. This is because, in conversations with MTA personnel, MTA's position was that the shuttle would not be cost effective and would not be effective in reducing peak-period travel demands. As it turned out, there was no MTA Call for Projects in 2003 or since then because of the State's funding shortfall.

It should be noted that MTA sponsors the capital costs of bus systems, such as acquisition of buses, but not operating costs, which are about 80% of the cost of bus systems. A preliminary review indicated that a shuttle service would have to provide many stops inside the mole roads throughout the Marina and run on short headways in order to make it convenient enough for Marina residents and visitors to use. For the buses to run on 20-minute headways, it would require three buses at a cost of about $500,000 per year to operate.

As mentioned also in your Ongoing Activities Report, in June 2006, the Board of Supervisors approved a one-year agreement with Playa Vista for operation of the Beach Shuttle Pilot Service project using funds available in the Fourth Supervisorial District's allocation of Proposition A Local Return transit funds, with a one-year option for the summer season of 2007. Prop. A funds emanate from a ½-cent sales tax collected by MTA and distributed to the local jurisdictions within Los Angeles County.

Attached is the Beach Shuttle brochure (Attachment B), which shows the route from Playa Vista to the Venice Beach Pier, by a red line, and the times of operation. The major stops are shown with a big red circle; however, the shuttle bus can stop at any bus stop along the route, shown by the small red circles. The Beach Shuttle operation is integrated with the Marina del Rey WaterBus. It will run during the summer on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, as well as during the Marina del Rey Summer Concert Series on Thursdays and Saturdays.

RE: AGENDA ITEM 4b – FOLLOW UP TO MEMORANDUM REGARDING COMMISSION'S AUTHORITY RELATING TO LIVEABOARD ISSUES; EFFECT OF POLICIES ADOPTED BY THE COMMISSION

At the April 12, 2006 meeting, your Commission requested a report from County Counsel on the Commission's authority relative to concerns raised by members of the public over asserted evictions of liveaboards from marinas in Marina del Rey. At your meeting of June 14, 2006, further questions relating to liveaboard concerns and the Commission's policy authority were raised by the Commission and the public. This memorandum is in response to those questions.

1. Lawsuit Challenging the County's Liveaboard Eviction Ordinance.

Our June 5, 2006, memorandum referenced a legal challenge to former County Code § 19.12.940 (the "liveaboard eviction ordinance"). The name of that lawsuit was Villa Del Mar Properties, LTD, et al. v. County of Los Angeles, Los Angeles Superior Court Case No. WEC 059213 A (1981). The County did not appeal from the Superior Court judgment; however, the decision is discussed briefly in the appellate decision relating to its companion case, Interstate Marina Development Co, et al. v. County of Los Angeles, 155 Cal.App.3d 435, 202 Cal.Rptr. 377 (1984).

2. Legal Rights and Obligations of Liveaboards.

The Commission requested further information on the legal rights and obligations of liveaboards. The following is intended to provide the Commission with general information on the legal rights and obligations of liveaboards, not to provide specific legal advice on any particular matter, and is not intended to be an exhaustive discussion of all laws which may be applicable to liveaboards.

Liveaboards must comply with County Code §19.12.1110, which prohibits a person from using a vessel as an abode in excess of three days within any one-week period, unless authorized by the lessee and issued a liveaboard permit by the Harbor Master. A permit will only be issued upon compliance with the following: (1) compliance with the requirements of seaworthiness as described in County Code § 19.12.1060; and (2) installation of a federally approved marine sanitation device of self-contained portable toilet approved by the Harbor Master. Liveaboard permits are valid for a period of one year.

Boat slip rental agreements are generally negotiated by and between the vessel owner and the lessee. The County is not a party to these contracts. Most rental agreements are terminable on 30 days' notice. The termination of a boat slip rental agreement on 30 days' notice has been upheld in both State and federal court. See, Smith v. Municipal Court, 202 Cal.App.3d 685, 245 Cal.Rptr. 300 (1988); see also, Derfus v. Far West Villa Del Mar, LTD, et al., 471 F. Supp. 1082 (C.D.C.A. 1979). These cases treat a boat slip as real property, but they do not treat a boat slip as residential real property. In Derfus, which involved a liveaboard in Marina del Rey, the District Court held that: "The right to dock one's boat at a particular berth or marina cannot be equated with the right to decent low-cost housing even if one chooses to live aboard the boat. The nature of the right for which plaintiff seeks protection simply does not rise to the level entitled to constitutional protection which would override traditional landlord-tenant relationships in leases allowing, as here, for termination on thirty (30) day written notice by either party." In other words, the Court held that a person's liveaboard status did not entitle him or her to greater protection from eviction under the law than a tenant in any other real property lease.

Neither of the above cases directly raise or address the application of statutes specifically governing residential real property to boat slips rental agreements involving liveaboards. We find it unlikely, however, that a court would extend most statutes governing residential real property to boat slip rental agreements involving liveaboards because of the fact that the lessee is only renting the slip and not a habitable structure. The slip tenant is actually providing the habitable structure, namely, the vessel. Thus, many of the legal obligations of a lessee of residential real property would not be applicable to a boat slip rental because of lack of control over the habitable structure. Since there are numerous statutes that may be applicable to various circumstances, however, the applicability of each statute must be determined based upon the specific facts of the case.

It should be noted that, as of this year, the minimum notice requirements for termination of a residential real property lease is the same as for real property leases generally. California Civil Code section 1946 requires no more than 30 days' notice of termination for real property leases. Leases of shorter duration than 30 days may have shorter notice; parties may also provide by agreement for lesser notice, but not less than seven days. Former Civil Code section 1946.1 had provided for notice of 60 days for residential real property leases of one year or more; however, that provision by its terms only remained in effect until January 1, 2006. The provision has not been renewed by the Legislature. Thus, 30 days' notice of termination is generally the requirement for both apartment and liveaboard tenants in the Marina, except as set forth in the Floating Home Residency Law, as discussed below.

Civil Code section 800, et seq., the Floating Home Residency Law, provides certain protections for owners of floating homes, including limitations on the reasons for terminating a floating home tenancy, and 60 days' notice of termination. However, the Floating Home Residency Law has no application at this time in Marina del Rey because of how the statutes define a "floating home" and "floating home marina". For the purposes of the Floating Home Residency Law, to be a "floating home" a vessel must be designed as a stationary waterborne residential dwelling, have no mode of power of its own, have a continuous utility linkage to a source on shore, and a permanent continuous hookup to a shoreside sewage system. To be a "floating home marina" under the Floating Home Residency Law, the marina must have five or more berths rented or held out to rent for floating homes as defined, but that does not include a marina with 10 percent or fewer berths rented out or held out to rent for floating homes as defined. It also excludes certain marinas managed by non-profit corporations. We are not aware of any vessels or marinas in Marina del Rey that currently meet these definitions, primarily because there are no permanent continuous sewage system hookups in Marina del Rey at this time.

It should be noted that the County's definition of a "floating home" in County Code § 19.12.345 does not include the utility and sewage system linkage requirements of State law, and therefore, there are floating homes in Marina del Rey that meet the County's definition of a "floating home," but not the Floating Home Residency Law definition. The County Code definition of a "floating home" does not alter the non-applicability of the Floating Home Residency Law to vessels that do not meet the State law definition.

With respect to discrimination, the same State laws would apply to businesses offering apartment rentals as would apply to the rental of boat slips. Civil Code section 51, et seq., the Unruh Civil Rights Act, provides that: "[a]ll persons within the jurisdiction of this state are free and equal, and no matter what their sex, race, color, religion, ancestry, national origin, disability, medical condition, marital status, or sexual orientation are entitled to the full and equal accommodations, advantages, facilities, privileges, or services in all business establishments of every kind whatsoever." As such, legal protection against discrimination is the same for any business in the Marina, whether it be a hotel, restaurant, boat slip rental or apartment rental.

3. Effect of Policies Adopted by the Commission.

The Commission has requested our opinion on the effect of a policy adopted by the Commission that is intended to govern the Commission's own actions. The request was raised with respect to a policy adopted by the Commission in October, 2002 that provided that the maximum height to be recommended for any new structure in Marina del Rey be no greater that 162 feet above grade, with the exception that Parcels 9, 10, FF and 145 may proceed at a maximum height of 225 feet.

As discussed in our June 5, 2006, memorandum, your Commission is an advisory body created by the Board of Supervisors ("Board") to make recommendations to the Director of Beaches and Harbors ("Director") and to the Board. Your Commission may publicly express its collective opinion by adopting a statement or resolution on issues within its jurisdiction. However, your Commission has no independent authority to adopt its own policies directly regulating the County's small craft harbor areas, and your Commission has no enforcement authority independent of that which may be delegated to the Commission from time to time by the Board.

Since your Commission is advisory only, a policy adopted by your Commission to govern your recommendations to the Board or Director serves to put the public and the lessees on notice of your Commission's position on a particular matter, and may serve as guidance for the Commission when considering individual projects in the future. Your Commission's policy, however, does not alter the legal standards that govern the Board's proprietary decisions or the regulatory entitlement process, or limit the discretionary authority of the Board or Regional Planning Commission within the parameters of those legal standards. While we believe that the Board values your recommendations and advice on Marina matters, neither the Board nor the Regional Planning Commission is legally bound by your recommendations. Indeed, your Commission's policy would not even alter each individual Commissioner's right to take a contrary position on a project on a case-by-case basis.

With respect to the height limitation policy, the Specific Plan sets forth maximum heights for most parcels and provides general height requirements for those not expressly set. Certain height limitations are dependent on the size of the view corridor provided. Rejection of the maximum height allowable for a particular parcel by the Regional Planning Commission or the Board would need to be justified on a case-by-case basis. County Code §22.46.1060(E)(5) provides that: "[m]aximum heights may be reduced during the coastal development permit process to preserve public recreation, solar access to the beaches, parks and boat basins and wind for sailing or as otherwise required in all other policies of the certified Land Use Plan and this Specific Plan." Thus, while your Commission may not recommend approval of a project based upon your Commission's height limitation policy, incorporation of that limitation in the entitlement process of a particular project would require specific findings by the Regional Planning Commission or the Board that the height is being reduced for one or more of the specified purposes.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS ACTIONS ON ITEMS RELATING TO MARINA DEL REY

At its June 20, 2006 meeting, the Board of Supervisors approved and authorized the Director of Public Works to execute a one-year agreement, with a one-year option, with Playa Vista for operation of the Marina del Rey Summer Shuttle Pilot Service Project commencing July 1, 2006 using funds available in the Fourth Supervisorial District's allocation of Proposition A Local Return Transit Program funds.

Additionally, in last month's report, we neglected to include the Board's action at its May 23, 2006 meeting approving an amended lease with the Parcel 140 (Admiralty Apartments) lessee extending the term of the existing ground lease by 39 years through September 30, 2061, in exchange for the demolition of the existing improvements, construction of a new four-story 172-unit apartment building, and renovations in 2016, 2031 and 2046 to physically reposition the project to then current market requirements.

LOCAL COASTAL PROGRAM PERIODIC REVIEW – UPDATE

It has been confirmed that the Marina del Rey Local Coastal Program periodic review will not be heard at the Coastal Commission's July meeting. Although we heard the review was anticipated to be scheduled for the Commission's August meeting, we note County staff has not yet heard from Coastal staff with respect to the revised report to be presented to the Commission.

SUBJECT: ITEM 6C – PUBLIC REQUESTS FOR INFORMATION AT JUNE 14, 2006 MEETING

The following items respond to public requests at your June 14, 2006 meeting pertaining to the Department of Consumer Affairs Mediation Committee process, length of stay at the Chace Park transient docks, maintenance of the Admiralty Park entrance and Admiralty Way transportation improvement projects.

Department of Consumer Affairs Mediation Committee Process

Attached is information pertaining to the Department of Consumer Affairs (DCA) mediation process and dispute resolution services (Attachment A), which can also be obtained online on our website homepage (www.labeaches.info) via two links to the DCA. The first link, which is the mediation summary, also has an online dispute resolution form that can be printed and filled out by users seeking direct help.

The wait for a party requesting mediation could be from a week to two months depending on the other party's response. If DCA doesn't receive a response from the other party after repeated efforts, the case will remain open for two months but will eventually be closed.

Chace Park Transient Dock Policy and Length of Stay

Attached is Policy Statement No. 30 (Attachment B), which provides the regulations for vessels using the Chace Park transient docks. Additionally, listed below are rules pertaining to the length of stay at the docks, as there were questions regarding this subject at your June meeting.

- Seven-Day Maximum

Boaters are permitted to stay at the Chace Park transient docks for up to seven days within a 30-day period. This period commences upon arrival, e.g., if a boater arrives on the 17th of June, the boater can stay for up to seven days (consecutively or sporadically) from the 17th of June to the 16th of July. Thereafter, the boater can commence a new 30-day period on the 17th of July or any subsequent time. Extensions for up to an additional seven days within a 30-day period are possible but must be authorized by the Director of Beaches and Harbors or his designee.

- Four-Hour Dock

Vessels could use this area for up to four hours within a 24-hour period. The 24-hour period commences upon arrival, e.g., if a vessel arrives at 4 pm on Monday, it can stay for up to four hours (continuous or sporadically) to 4 pm Tuesday. The vessel can then commence a new four-hour period thereafter. Due to the proximity of the four-hour zone to the sewage pump-out station area, staff can monitor this dock at anytime to ensure compliance.

Admiralty Park Entrance/Landscape Maintenance

The entrance to Admiralty Park is fertilized twice per year. The standard for mowing is 2½ inches for water conservation purposes and is observed throughout the County, including facilities under the jurisdiction of the Department of Parks and Recreation. The surrounding trees have recently been trimmed.

Marina Expressway (SR90) Connector Road to Admiralty Way Project, the Admiralty Way Improvement Project and Reconfiguration of the Intersection of Admiralty Way and Via Marina

The County Department of Public Works hired a consultant to work on an EIR/EIS for the SR90 project, the Admiralty Way project and the reconfiguration of the intersection of Admiralty Way and Via Marina, which are three separate projects that can advance together or independently. The EIR/EIS will examine all scenarios and show traffic conditions with and without each of these projects. These potential projects are all described in the Marina del Rey Local Coastal Program as potential mitigation of traffic impacts of redevelopment in Marina del Rey and of all area developments on the regional transportation system. These projects are not mitigation measures for Playa Vista.

The Department of Public Works received input from members of the public, organizations, and government agencies on the scope and content of the information to be included and analyzed in the EIS/EIR at three public scoping meetings that were held at the Burton Chace Park Community Center on March 9, 2006, March 18, 2006, and May 9, 2006. The presentation and project information material that were distributed, as well as other information, are available on the projects' website at: www.sr90admiraltyway.org. The EIR/EIS is expected to be completed in mid to late 2007.

Mediation

Resolve your dispute without going to court

If you want to settle a dispute outside of court, mediation is a great alternative. We offer free mediation service to the residents and businesses of Los Angeles County.

We handle disputes between:

- Landlords and tenants
- Businesses and customers
- Neighbors
- Family members or roommates
- Contractors and homeowners
- Homeowner associations

What is mediation?

In mediation, a neutral third party helps you resolve your dispute. Participation is voluntary, so both sides must agree to mediation to begin the process.

The mediator is a neutral party who does not take sides. The mediator is trained to assist both of you in reaching a solution to the problem.

Mediation is confidential. Conversations and settlement agreements can be kept confidential.

Mediation is risk-free. If you cannot resolve your dispute in mediation, you can still go to court.

There are three kinds of mediation:

- Telephone Conciliation: You do not meet face-to-face with the other person. The mediator talks to each of you separately by telephone to solve the dispute.
- Face-to-Face Mediation: All parties meet in person with the mediator. We schedule the mediation at a time and location convenient for you.
- Telephone Caucus: All parties are available via phone at the same time and the mediator talks to each party individually.

How does the process begin?

We send you a mediation form to complete and send back to us.

When we receive your mediation form, we:

1. Send you a postcard telling you we received your mediation request.
2. Send a letter inviting the other party to participate. If they do not respond, the mediator will call them.

When both parties agree to participate, the mediator will call you to:

- Discuss the matter with you in more detail and listen to any concerns you may have.
- Ask you what type of mediation you would prefer, telephone or face-to-face mediation.

If the other party agrees to mediation it will be scheduled at a time convenient to both of you.

How is mediation conducted?

In all sessions, the mediator does the following:

- Helps each of you understand the other persons point-of-view.
- Helps you focus on the problem.
- Assists you in reaching a solution you are both comfortable with.

What happens after the session?

In a Face-to-Face Mediation, the parties may create and sign an agreement at the session.

If the dispute is not solved, the parties can take other action, such as going to court.

All sides are requested to complete and return a survey form.

Dispute Resolution Form (PDF format)

Please use this form (which requires the the FREE Adobe Acrobat Reader Software) to request our help in resolving a dispute between yourself and a business.

DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROGRAMS ACT (DRPA)
INFORMATION STATEMENT

The dispute resolution services you are receiving from The County of Los Angeles Department of Consumer Affairs Dispute Settlement Service are funded through the California Dispute Resolution Programs Act of 1986. They are being provided under contract with the Los Angeles County Department of Community & Senior Services.

A specially trained individual called a neutral will provide the service. The goal is to assist the parties in reaching a mutually acceptable agreement and/or understanding. The process will occur through a meeting of all involved fact-to-face, via separate telephone conversations with the neutral, or some combination.

The neutral will assist parties in better understanding each others goals, help avoid or break impasses, defuse controversy, and generate options that have potential for mutual gain. The neutral helps all sides to focus on their interests rather than their positions and to have a productive discussion. It is a flexible and informal process.

The neutral does not decide the outcome of the dispute. You and other individuals involved make this decision. The neutral does not make judgments regarding actions for which anyone is responsible. The neutral does not represent or advocate for anyone.

Legal Advice: This program cannot provide you legal advice or information but can refer you to other sources. You are not required to, but may be represented by an attorney during the services.

Written Agreements: Agreements may be in writing. If you and the other individuals choose to have the agreement be admissible as evidence and/or enforceable by the courts, this needs to be stated in a signed agreement.

Voluntary Participation: Your participation is voluntary and you may cease participating in the services at any time.

Cost: There is no cost for this service.

Confidentiality: Anything said or anything written during these services, with some exceptions, cannot be used in any non-criminal proceeding in which testimony can be required, unless all involved agree. This is pursuant to the California Evidence Code.

Complaints: If you have any complaints about the services received, please contact the Program Manager at 213-974-0825. You may also contact the Los Angeles County Department of Community & Senior Services at (213) 738-2621.

1.0 INTRODUCTION/PURPOSE

1.1 The Burton W. Chace Park transient boat docks are public docks provided by the County Department of Beaches and Harbors, and whose use is managed by the Community Services Division. In general, these docks are available for use by vessels transiting the coast and which may be seeking refuge from inclement weather, or laying in for minor repairs, replenishing supplies, or visiting. A portion of these docks -- posted as "Park Dock, 4-hour maximum" -- may also be used by locally based vessels under a casual visitor status.

2.0 VESSELS PERMITTED

2.1 Casual Visitors: Includes any vessel desirous of using the docks up to four (4) hours, within a 24-hour period. Vessels may secure in the "Casual Visitor Area" at any time night or day, free of charge, without registering with the department. Casual visitors shall not secure in the overnight portion of the docks (LACC 19.12.1010).

2.2 Transient Vessels: Includes any vessel transiting the coast which wants to moor overnight or longer. Transient vessels shall be registered with the department, with payment of fees in advance for the number of days of expected occupancy. The vessel will then be assigned a slip at the "Overnight" portion of the docks.

2.3 Trailered Vessels: Boats launched locally will be accommodated only on a space-available basis.

3.0 VESSELS NOT PERMITTED

3.1 Description

3.11 Vessels that currently have a Marina del Rey slip; or

3.12 Vessels evicted from a Marina del Rey anchorage; or

3.13 Vessels whose owners claim a slip will be available for them at some future date; or

3.14 New or old hulls which are in the process of being fitted out; or

3.15 Vessels in excess of 100 ft and/or 60 tons gross; or

3.16 Transient vessels already berthed for seven (7) consecutive days at the Burton Chace Park facility.

3.2 The County recognizes routine vessel maintenance is a necessary and ongoing event aboard all vessels. However, major repairs, fitting out, spray painting, and engine overhauls are not permitted while vessels are at these docks. Arrangements must be made by the owner or operator of these vessels to do the work (or have it done) at a boat haul-out or repair yard.

3.3 The transient docks shall not be used by new or used vessels presently owned or under the control of a yacht broker for the purpose of demonstration, commissioning, sale or resale, or by vessels recently purchased merely because a slip is not available elsewhere.

3.4 If such vessels, as defined in Section 3.1 above, are found to be using the docks, said vessels shall be deemed as illegally moored and action will be pursued by the County to remove the vessel.

4.0 MOORING FEES

4.1 All transient vessels that moor at County facilities for overnight berthing prior to midnight shall be charged the prevailing fee (see Attachment). Fees are payable in advance on a daily basis (7 days maximum) and checkout time is noon on the last paid day.

5.0 FEE EXEMPTIONS

5.1 The following categories of vessels are exempt from charges;

5.11 Vessels mooring after midnight and departing prior to 0900 hours;

5.12 Transient vessels taking refuge from storms or Small Craft Advisories for the duration of existing conditions as posted by the Sheriff's Harbor Patrol;

5.13 Transient vessels with mechanical or rigging failure through the first working day after they enter port. The Transient Dock Attendant shall inform the owner or the operator of the vessel when he moors that charges will commence at noon of the second working day for commercial mechanics or repair companies;

5.14 Vessels cleared by the Director. (Memos from the Director will confirm the clearances.)

6.0 TIME LIMITS AND EXTENSIONS

6.1 Casual Visitor Area: Maximum time allowed is four (4) hours.

6.2 Transient (or Overnight) Area: Maximum time allowed is seven (7) days. Checkout time is noon on the last paid day.
