

- needs a little updating

- the textbook pages were way off from the syllabus. They need to update the syllabus.

- I do consider the campus to be safe, however I feel like one of the security guards would not know how to protect us very well: the day time guard. She spends a lot of time in the bathroom fixing her hair and lipstick, or on the phone. She also never seems too concerned with who comes through the door. Overall just doesn't seem like much of a "security" guard. The man at night is great - he is nice, and has martial arts experience and at least makes "rounds" around the campus, to check on everyone. He also checks on all students who may be staying late to study.

- I usually felt safe on campus, but I would have felt safer if the door near the parking lot was only opened with badge access, and if the doors facing Griffin were closed too.

- In consideration of the area, the campus itself is safe. It would be great to advise a buddy system if someone decides to study late, make sure to advise security of their location and when they leave the campus.

- Now they are starting to fix the campus but I remember one time when the ceiling collapsed because the water had build up from the rain.

- Overall I do feel safe in the campus and sometimes in the surrounding area. When it begins to get dark early, in the fall and winter, is when it is creepy to walk to lot 10. There was one time when 2 students walked to the parking lot after studying for a little while and a man who
