This training is intended to increase cross-cultural knowledge and skills with Korean-speaking populations, specifically to increase clinician and bilingual staff's vocabulary and use of terms related to providing mental health services, such as assessment, diagnosis, treatment and crisis intervention. Discussion will include the challenges which present when interpreting/translating, and when performing services in Korean, such as: using incorrect or misleading terminology, misunderstanding of translated information, misdiagnosis, inappropriate diagnosis, and other unintended consequences.

This training is designed for participants with varying levels of Korean-language proficiency. Written and conversational Korean language knowledge is highly recommended for participation.

TARGET AUDIENCE: For DMH and DMH Contracted agency staff, working with Korean speaking consumers and families.

OBJECTIVES: As a result of attending this training, participants should be able to:

- 1) Demonstrate, in Korean, translating/interpreting or overall use of appropriate terminology applicable in mental health treatment.
- 2) Demonstrate increased knowledge and skills of Korean terms associated with conducting evidenced based interventions such as cognitive behavioral therapy.
- 3) Identify ways to communicate cross-culturally with community members and others across diverse settings and situations.
- 4) Examine useful Korean terminology when working or collaborating with families, governmental institutions/partners and health professionals.
- 5) Identify Korean terminology to use in assessment, development of a treatment plan and related interventions and referral for services.
- 6) Utilize appropriate Korean terminology when discussing consent for services, hospitalization and reporting laws.
