W. F. Cooper served one term as county supervisor. He assumed office in March 1880 and served until 1882.

In 1871 Cooper came to California and was one of the early settlers in an area 10 miles east of Los Angeles called Gallatin, which today is known as Downey. Cooper was a goldsmith by trade and made a name for himself through hard work and quality product.

His reputation as an honest businessman and interest in public issues led to his election to the county supervisorial seat.
