NARRATIVE:

James Ellis Marks is a documented gang member with an extensive criminal history that began at the age of 18. His convictions include human trafficking of minor, carrying a loaded firearm with prior, grand theft, vehicle theft, contempt of court, credit card fraud, transportation of controlled substances and DUI. He has served multiple state prison terms, the longest being a 6 year term for human trafficking of minor. Marks was released from state prison to the supervision of the Los Angeles County Probation Department on October 22, 2018. Under the Governor's Public Safety Realignment Act of 2011, better known as Assembly Bill 109 (AB 109) the responsibility of lower-level offenders was shifted from the State to Los Angeles County. He subsequently failed to report to his probation officer and an arrest warrant was issued in October 2018 after he absconded from post release community supervision (PRCS). Marks qualified to be released to the supervision of probation, under AB 109, because his current commitment offense for human trafficking of minor is defined as non-serious and non-violent under the California penal code. His criminal history, gang member offender status and current failure to comply with the terms of release make him a most wanted. If you know his whereabouts please contact...
