PURPOSE

Community Outreach Services (COS) provide the mechanism whereby human service agencies can work together to foster mental health and prevent mental illness and its debilitating effects. COS affords an avenue for Department of Mental Health staff and agencies who contract with the Department to provide services such as education, consultation and information to individuals who are not formal clients of the mental health system and providers who are outside the county mental health system. Through the interaction of mental health professionals with other community care providers, COS enable non-mental health systems to attend to the mental health needs of its own clients.

Equally important is the community outreach to persons with mental illness. Some individuals who need mental health services do not seek traditional clinic-based services due to a multitude of factors.

The Los Angeles County – Department of Mental Health and its network of service providers believe community outreach is a key component in providing effective mental health supportive services to persons with mental illness.

The purpose of this manual is to provide:

- guidance for planning, managing and evaluating COS resources and programs to meet Department of Mental Health goals and priorities;
- specific information defining and explaining the Department’s COS program and policy;
- supplemental reporting and documentation instructions.

Note: This manual is for use by programs having approved Community Outreach Services: 1) cost centers in their budgets; and (2) reporting capability in the Information System.
POLICY FOR COMMUNITY OUTREACH SERVICES

PURPOSE: To define the goals and parameters of Community Outreach Services for Department of Mental Health staff and programs.

BACKGROUND: Community Outreach Services (COS) are central to the definition of the Los Angeles County Department of Mental Health as a community mental health system. These services include a wide variety of activities: consultation (case, program and administration); community education; information and referral; community organization; outreach; and program development. They include services aimed at prevention of mental disorders at all three traditional levels: primary, secondary, and tertiary. COS are delivered to human services providers and other community groups and individuals who are not currently part of the mental health system, rather than to or on behalf of specific clients who are receiving services from the system. Closely attuned to the changing needs of various communities, the planning and implementation of these activities is often the most creative of all the Department’s functions.

POLICY:

1. Community Outreach Services is defined as:
   a. expanding and/or enhancing the abilities of agencies and other groups and individuals, who are not part of the mental health system within Los Angeles County, to respond to the mental health needs of the community-at-large, special population groups, or individuals; and/or
   b. promoting mental health and/or reducing the risk or severity of mental disorders among persons not identified as clients receiving services through the mental health system.

2. Community Outreach Services resources are allocated in a manner reflecting current Department of Mental Health and Service Area planning priorities. Specifically, emphasis is given to activities on behalf of:
   a. the severe and persistently mentally ill;
   b. groups at high risk for the development of severe mental disorders;
   c. unserved or underserved ethnic/cultural/isolated populations; and
   d. the general population.

3. Community Outreach Services:
   a. support the goals of county-wide or direct service programs; and
   b. promote the mental health of the general population.

4. Responsibility for the quality and direction of Community Outreach Services rests with the Director of Mental Health. By designation:
a. responsibility for Community Outreach Services in specific local communities and for specific focal populations lies with respective Deputy Directors.

b. responsibility for countywide Community Outreach Services and for technical support to service areas/bureau programs lies with the Deputy Director of the Program Support Bureau.

GUIDING PRINCIPLES:

1. The planning, implementation and evaluation of all Community Outreach Services should be documented as to process, content and quantity.

2. Priority in planning and delivery of Community Outreach Services should be given to activities that:
   a. maximize the number of persons to benefit;
   b. increase mental health support services by allied social service agencies that are not a part of the mental health system;
   c. address needs where other resources do not exist;
   d. include goals and time frames.

3. All continuing Community Outreach Services activities should be evaluated at least annually.

4. COS forms are maintained in a locked file, separate from client records.
   a. at the minimum, COS forms should be maintained according to month.
   b. For Community Client forms, program managers can determine if the forms are to be maintained according to client.
   c. Since programs may be collecting financial, medical/mental health and demographic information about potential clients, Community Client COS forms, should be safeguarded as any other client record. This could mean a locked cabinet in a medical records room, a double locked cabinet or a locked cabinet in a locked room.

5. COS forms are to be retained for a minimum of four (4) years.
COMMUNITY OUTREACH SERVICES – GENERAL DEFINITIONS

I. General
Community Outreach Services enable the mental health system to reach the community-at-large, and provide a proactive way for the system to address the needs of those who do not or will not utilize traditional mental health services, especially populations at risk.

II. Community Outreach Services (Consultation, Education, Information, Community Organization and Community Client Contacts)

The purposes of Community Outreach Services (COS) are to:
A. Enhance the mental health of the general population;
B. Prevent the onset of mental health problems in individuals and the community; and
C. Assist those persons who are experiencing stress, but who are not reached by traditional mental health treatment services, to obtain a more adaptive level of functioning.
D. Promote mental health and/or reduce the risk or severity of mental disorders among persons not identified as clients within the mental health system; and
E. Expand the continuum of care through client-centered supportive services.

III. General Definitions of Community Outreach Services

Community Outreach Services are composed of: Mental Health Promotion and Community Client Services.

A. Mental Health Promotion includes activities and projects directed toward:
   1. strengthening individuals’ and communities’ skills and abilities to cope with stressful life situations, before the onset of such events (e.g., “primary prevention”);
   2. enhancing and/or expanding agencies’ and organizations’ mental health knowledge and skills related to the community-at-large or special population groups;
   3. providing education and/or consultation to individuals’ and communities’ regarding mental health services programs, in order to prevent the onset of mental health problems.

B. Community Client Services includes activities directed toward:
   1. Outreach to identify potential persons with mental illness;
   2. strengthening individuals’ and/or communities’ skills and abilities during a stressful life situation through short-term intervention (e.g., “secondary, tertiary prevention”);
3. Enhancing or expanding knowledge and skills of human service agency staff to handle mental health problems of their particular clients; and,

4. Linking persons with mental illness to appropriate resources in the community, e.g., health, mental health, social services, etc., supportive of recovery.

Under the broad categories of Mental Health Promotion and Community Client are the following types of services:

- Mental Health Consultation: The provision of culturally and linguistically appropriate technical assistance by a mental health professional, who shares his/her knowledge and skills with allied community health and social service providers, caregivers, groups or individuals. Consultation services should increase the mental health skills and the capabilities of caregivers or their agencies, as well as improve their work efficiency and effectiveness in meeting the mental health needs of the population they serve.

  Example: MH Promotion: Contact with school personnel, residential care providers/staff, criminal justice system personnel or the clergy in regard to meeting the mental health needs of the populations they serve.

  Example: Community Client: Contact and support of human services personnel dealing with specific mental health problems of particular individuals within their client population; i.e., consultation to police in a specific hostage negotiation situation.

- Mental Health Education: A learning process which imparts sound personal and community mental health principles to other professionals, individuals or groups and/or the general public, including special target groups such as parents, youth and individuals experiencing stressful life situations. The goals are to expand the community’s knowledge and skills; to change behavior and emotional response by changing attitudes and motivation; and, by teaching new personal and interpersonal skills. This activity may involve education of community care providers, parent groups, law enforcement agencies, etc.

  Example: MH Promotion: Conducting a three-session class requested by a local school PTA regarding parenting issues with high-risk, minority adolescents.
Example: Community Client: Making a presentation to laid-off workers experiencing stress response symptoms; or presenting specific client recovery needs to Department of Public Social Services workers regarding SSI eligibility of mentally disabled persons.

Mental Health Information: Staff share general or specific information about the availability and use of mental health services to the general community and/or particular target populations. These efforts are designed to reduce the stigma of mental disorders to maximize normalization of life style for those who have mental disorders. The goals of such services are to develop community awareness of its mental health resources, and the factors that call for mental health interventions. Such information may assure a higher comfort level in utilizing services. This activity may include dissemination of information about mental health resources in the community, hours of operation, program changes, significant legislation, etc.

Example: MH Promotion: Lead a question and answer session for a community group about upcoming changes in the provision of services to Fee-for-Service Medi-Cal clients.

Example: Community Client: Provide information-and-referral to a current Fee-for-Service Medi-Cal recipient requesting clarification of upcoming changes.

Community Organization: Mental health staff collaborate with others to help identify community mental health needs, locate appropriate resources and initiate problem-solving actions. The goal of Community Organization is to develop or modify mental health, social and other community systems to maximize mental health benefits in the community. This includes task forces, coalitions, self-help groups, community support network community coordinating councils, etc.

Example: MH Promotion: Providing leadership to organize a community advisory committee which will focus on identifying local minority mental health needs.

Example: Community Client: Providing leadership in organizing a support group for foster parents of difficult-to-adopt children.

Community Outreach: The focus of this activity is response to unserved and underserved populations, including children, minorities, and the elderly. Activities include case-finding and client linkages achieved by taking services to the community, particularly to individuals who are reticent about becoming mental health clients and/or about giving personal information.

Example: MH Promotion: Making and maintaining contacts with community leaders in a low income housing tract so residents are better informed about services available at their local mental health center.

Example: Community Client: Staff making a home visit to a refugee family whose member is acting bizarrely, but who is not currently willing to seek mental health treatment; a field visit to a disaster victim displaced from home.

- Program Development: This activity consists of technical assistance and/or leadership in the development of specific programs to increase mental health and related resources within existing organizations/groups in the community.

  Example: MH Promotion: Providing assistance to a free clinic in efforts to obtain grant funds for a child abuse prevention program.

  Example: Community Client: Assisting with development of a counseling program for battered women with children at a women’s shelter.

- Media: This activity includes all mental health presentations by or interviews of COS staff for radio, television, internet information screens or newspaper media.

  Example: MH Promotion: Discussion of the “Hispanic Friends Can Be Good Medicine” campaign on a local Mexican radio station; an interview by a local TV newscaster regarding the homeless chronically mentally ill; preparation of a news release regarding a new program for mentally ill seniors; promotion of program utilization by conducting “open house” functions or various events for the general public.

- Hotline: Hotline is a separate activity in this section. Only those programs with specific cost centers for this activity should use this code.

  Example: The Suicide Prevention Center at Didi Hirsch CMHC and Children’s Hospital Adolescent Hotline responds to calls from distressed individuals.
Psychiatric Mobile Response Team: Only programs with specific Psychiatric Mobile Response Team (PMRT) cost centers should use this code.

Example: A family member, community member, or other agency requests a field evaluation for a person who is refusing mental health treatment and is a danger to self, danger to others, or unable to provide for food, clothing and shelter, by reason of apparent mental disorder. While these activities often are focused on evaluation of an individual for hospitalization, the secondary goal is early intervention to prevent disruption of the life of the individual and their family. Even if the potential client will not spend time with the mental health staff, COS can be billed for the time spent with the family, etc.

Target Group Characteristics
This section contains those elements which describe the primary characteristics of the population targeted by the COS, not necessarily the characteristics of the Service Recipient. INCLUDE BOTH THE CODES AND DESCRIPTIVE INFORMATION IN THIS SECTION.

7. Primary Language: Choices for this section are located on page 1 of the COS Codes listing. Enter the code and descriptive term best defining the primary language of the group (or individual) for whom services are being provided, regardless of the language in which the COS is delivered. If the COS is not specific to a particular language group, use the code and descriptor for English. (01, English)

Example: 18, Armenian; 60 Russian.

8. Ethnicity: Choices for this section are located on page 1 of the COS Codes listing. Select the one category best describing the majority of the target group toward which the consultation is aimed.

If this is a Community Client contact, indicate the ethnicity, best representing the potential client. If you are unable or it is inappropriate to ask the client about their ethnicity, use your experience and judgment to complete this field. The State DMH is requesting specific information related to Hispanics and American Indians.

Example: If the consultation is directed toward American Indians, ascertain the tribe and enter 04, then specify the tribe. If several tribes are represented, enter 04 and specify “other”.

9. Age Category: Choices for this section are located on page 1 of the COS Codes listing. Enter the age range describing a majority of the target group to which the consultation is directed, or in the case of Community Client, the age range of the client being served. Select “Multiple when the service is being provided to two or more consumers in different age groups or the audience (in the case of Mental health promotion) represents more than one age group.

If the staff person is a housing specialist on the Navigation Team, the program code would be “14 - Housing Activities/Community Care”. Staff working on the Psychiatric Mobile Response Team (PMRT) would use the program code “24 - Service Utilization Mental Health”.

TARGET GROUP CHARACTERISTICS:

Target group characteristics refer to those characteristics of the population served by the COS, not necessarily characteristics of the Service Recipient Type. For example, a consultation to three elementary school teachers of various ethnicities on behalf of 8 “09 - Other Non-White” speech-impaired children, the children, rather than the teachers, should be described in regards to Primary Language, Ethnicity, Age Category and Handicap status.

PRIMARY LANGUAGE: Enter the code from among those listed that best defines the primary language of the group for whom services are being provided, regardless of the language in which the service is delivered. If the COS is not specific to a particular language group, use the code for English 01, as the dominant language. Only one code may be selected. Use two digits only.

As part of a grant by the Federal government, the State Department of Mental Health has requested all counties indicate the specific ethnic or background regions under “03 – Hispanic”. Additionally, the specific tribe must be indicated for “04 - American Indian or Alaska Native”.

Example: When COS are provided to the teachers of a school for emotionally disturbed Korean children, the number 10 would be entered in the Ethnicity box.

Example: If a Community Health Week seminar series is aimed at reducing stigma in the general population with regard to the mentally ill living in the community, the number 99 is entered in the Ethnicity box - the recipient ethnic characteristic is “All”. (Note: 99 is used for both All and Unknown.)
AGE CATEGORY: Enter the age category for majority or predominant age range of the target group. If the COS is not specific to a given age group, enter “unknown”. Only one age category may be selected from those listed on the form. Select “Multiple when the service is being provided to two or more consumers in different age groups or the audience (in the case of Mental Health promotion) represents more than one age group.

HANDICAP: In the box labeled “Handicap”, enter the code which best characterizes the target group served by the consulting agency. This is a two-digit code ranging from “00 - No physical Disability” to a variety of impairments or combination of impairments. Only one two-digit code may be chosen. Only the categories listed may be used.

1. “04 Physical Impairment” is a general term referring to any physical disability not otherwise specified on the list. For example, diabetes is usually controllable and, therefore, not disabling. It usually does not keep the client from working. COS directed to a group of deaf individuals with diabetes would be reported as “02 - Deafness/Severe Hearing Impairment”. In contrast, both speech impairment and the ambulation problems of stroke clients would be disabling. COS directed to such a group would be reported as “34 - Speech Impairment and Physical Impairment”. If a majority of the group toward which COS is directed is physically disabled in more than one of the specified areas and a code is not provided, use the following criteria:

   a. If it is discernable that one of the impairments is more severe, report the more severe handicap.

   Example: A COS directed toward a blind/speech impaired group whose visual disability is the more severe, the code would be reported as 01, Blindness/Severe Visual Impairment.

   b. If the comparative severity of the disabilities is not discernable, use “06 Other Disabilities”. “06 - Other Disabilities” may be used to indicate combinations of non-specified physical disabilities as well as combinations of specified and non-specified physical disabilities.

   c. A COS directed to a developmentally disabled group with severe hearing and speech impairment is reported as “57 - Developmental Disabilities/Multiple Physical Disorders”.

   d. Consultation to a group of parents of children with one or more genetic based birth defects is reported as “57 - Developmental Disabilities/Multiple Physical Disorders”.

   e. COS targeted to the deaf and blind with ambulation problems is reported as “12 - Blindness and Deafness”.

Note: To report a target group handicap as “80 - Mental Disability”, the target group should meet the criteria used by other institutions in the community, (e.g., 1) designation by schools as Emotionally Handicapped; 2) designation by Department of Social Services for financial assistance, based on inability to work; 3) designation by Court, under LPS conservatorship; 4) designation by Social Security, for SSI income due to mental disability.)

Example: A consultation to assist mentally disabled (SSI assisted) persons to use public transportation and public library services would be reported 80.

Example: A consultation targeted to the community in general would be reported “60 - No Physical or Mental Disability”.

Example: A consultation to teachers of emotionally handicapped/Developmentally Disabled children would be reported “85 - Mental Disability/Developmental Disability”.

Example: A COS targeted to pregnant minors would be reported “60 - No Physical or Mental Disability”.

Note: The code numbers from 12 to 57 and from 81 to 87 are combinations of previous category numbers and represent the combination of disabilities specified. For example, “45 - Other Physical Impairment/Developmental Disability” is a combination of “04 - Other Physical Impairment” and “05 Developmental Disability”. Digit order does not necessarily indicate order of severity of disability.

Enter the code that refers to the primary focus or content of the service being provided. Only one “Program Area” may be specified for each COS.

SAFE HAVEN PROGRAMS

A Safe Haven is a form of supportive housing that serves hard-to-reach homeless persons with severe mental illness, who are on the street and have been unable or unwilling to participate in housing or supportive services. Safe Havens serve as a refuge for the homeless mentally ill, and as a port of entry into the mental health system, providing for basic needs (food, showers, clothing, etc.). Safe havens also provide a safe and decent residential alternative for homeless persons with severe mental illness who need time to adjust to life off the streets and to develop a willingness and trust to accept services in order to transition to permanent housing.

There is no specific Program Area called “Safe Haven”. This allows staff providing supportive services in these programs to use whichever program code best identifies what they are doing.

Safe Haven staff are to complete COS Forms when they are engaging and linking clients.
