

County of Los Angeles Board of Supervisors

SUPERVISOR EDWARD JAMES DELOREY

Term: 1917 - 1918
District: Second
Date of Birth: Unknown
Death: Unknown

Edward James Delorey served as county supervisor for one year. Delorey was appointed to the office on Dec. 17, 1917, replacing Richard H. Norton.

Delorey is credited with being one of the early pioneering businessmen of Los Angeles. On Oct. 11, 1917, the Second District supervisorial seat was declared vacant. The following month, Delorey took office. He ran for re-election the following year, on a platform of "business efficiency, intelligent economy and constructive citizenship." Delorey was defeated in the November election by Jack H. Bean.

Credits included membership in the Freemasons and Elk Lodge 99.
