One gentleman in 1750D was in a cell with a toilet that did not flush since Friday. He had reported it, and staff indicated they knew it didn't work, but said they submitted a work order, but left him in the cell.

1700 Row A has a plumbing issue. The toilets in cells 3, 7, and 10 were not flushing or only flushing intermittently, and the water pressure in cells 12 and 13 was inadequately low.

3 toilets had been broken for 5 months in 9500.

21. If deemed unsatisfactory or corrective action is needed please provide brief comment on why

Though the shower had just been fixed that day, the shower floor in 9500 lacked a drain cover, which is both a safety hazard and a recurrent source of blockages. There was black mold coming out of the shower: the dorm residents used stacked juice cartons to try to prevent the steam exiting the shower and dripping from the ceiling onto the top of the triple bunks.

22. COMMENT RE: Showers (water temperature, rust, mold etc.)

In 9500 (large dorm that houses LGBT individuals) has two security cameras that look directly into the shower area, including one into the transgender women's shower area, which the dorm residents had blocked off with cartons, The Deputy Observation Hutch also overlooks the shower, and even though the central panel is blocked by wood, the other two panels look into the shower. In addition, there is a QR code in the shower area that Deputies check on their safety check rounds.

24. COMMENT RE: Crowding

Triple bunking throughout both dorms we inspected. There was in excess of the Board of State and County Corrections Title 24 maximum of 64 people in both dorms.

25. Cleanliness/Graffiti Overall Rating ***

- ☐ Satisfactory
- ☒ Unsatisfactory

26. COMMENT RE: Cleanliness/Graffiti

The dorm was generally dirty, and the men and women complained that it was less clean than the dorms on the 5000 floor, where LASD had previously housed the LGBTQ+ dorms.

1700 and 1750 both reported rats. The floors were filthy with food throughout the cells and on the floor. The deputies reported the walkway is cleaned daily, but it did not appear as though that happens. There was hardened food and possibly other waste (human or otherwise) plastered on the columns outside the cells.

Staff reported they give ajax to people when asked. They reported they give it to them when they walk the rows completing their security checks.

42. COMMENT RE: Access to Toiletries, Appropriate Combs/Brushes, FISH Kits

Many of the women lacked razors even though they are cleared for razor use. This has an obviously demeaning effect on women unable to engage in necessary facial grooming. As the Commissioners have repeatedly observed, there are inadequate clothes (especially underwear) and hygiene (FISH) kits distributed to the men and women in the LGBTQ+ dorm. Multiple dorm residents complained that they had only one set of underwear per week, and so had to wash their underwear using soap. However, the men and women in 9500 are issued only one bar of soap, which is inadequate for both personal hygiene and clothes washing.

52. COMMENT RE: Special needs populations (pregnant, non-ambulatory, hearing impaired, mentally ill, medical conditions, developmental disability)

The dorms on 5000 are all P2 - which is completely inappropriate housing for anyone, but especially people with severe mental illness. P2 is defined as individuals with recurrent episodes of mood instability; Psychotic symptoms maintained by medication and frequent reliance on crisis Stabilization services.

There are no windows, people live in triple bunks in 80+ people in each dorm, and there are no mental health staff assigned full-time to the floor.

92. Narrative Report

It was Watch Commander Lee's first day on the job. Nonetheless, when Commissioners Veral and Miller arrived, Lt. Lee insisted that the Commissioners be accompanied by a sergeant with their body camera on. The Commissioners explained that Sybil Brand Commission inspections are both unannounced *and* unaccompanied. Commissioner Veral asked whether this policy of accompanied inspections was Lt. Lee's own or whether a senior officer had ordered him to adopt the policy. Lt. Lee stated that Captains Thomosal and Marcello had ordered the policy. When Commissioner Veral requested to speak with the Captains, Lt. Lee stated that they had left, that he did not know where they were, and that he could not telephone the Captains' Office because he did not know how to operate the telephone. Commissioner Veral then asked Lt. Lee to connect her with Commander Montoya: Lt. Lee stated he did not know how to do that. Commissioner Veral then flipped through the list of telephone numbers on Lt. Lee's desk: after failing to find Commander Montoya's number, Commissioners Veral and Miller walked to the Captains' Office and waited until the captains appeared. There were several staff members in the captain's office eating cake - the captain's assistant told us they were aware we were there, but they were wrapping up speaking with staff. After about 5 minutes, Captains Thomosal and Marcello came out to meet us. They stated that they had not adopted a policy requiring accompanied inspections nor had they communicated such a policy to Lt. Lee. Captain Marcello accompanied us back into the facility and explained to Lt. Lee that the Commissioners were to proceed unaccompanied around the jail.

The Commissioners visited 1700 rows A and D and then 9500 and visually inspected 5800.

The entire facility smelled like a camp fire. Some areas had a much stronger odor than others.

Deputy Gutierrez told the Commissioners the men in A unit were individuals who had overdosed in the past and were not on discipline but rather waiting for reassignment to a dorm. However, many of the men in the unit had been housed there for over one month and some as many as four months. Many of the men had not overdosed and did not know why they were there. We received a copy of the 14 people in that row and requested the length of stay for those people. We were told they could not determine that info easily, so SBC will follow up with LASD separately to ascertain how long people were in this "temporary" housing.

In addition, Commissioners observed tenting in four cells across two rows and the deputies did not comment upon it or seek to remove any tenting. One of the reasons the Commissioners decided to visit 1700 was representations from Civilian Oversight Commissioners Newhouse and Garcia at the November 20, 2025 Civilian Oversight Commission meeting that there was no tenting in Men's Central Jail 1700 or in the LGBTQ+ dorms. Sybil Brand Commissioners have regularly observed tenting around Men's Central Jail, and so were surprised to hear that representation. Our visit to 1700, 1750, and 9500 confirmed our experience of tenting in the jail.

Row A was dirty and dark, with some tenting. There was 2 square feet of Black mold on the wall and over the vent opposite cell 20. The ceiling, walls, and concrete columns down the row outside the cells were encrusted with what looked like food or vomit.

Multiple men in Row A complained that they had filed grievance forms about lack of night lights, lack of adequate toilets, lack of adequate visiting with lawyers, and being held in the unit indefinitely. These men claimed that their grievances went unaddressed. If true, this may constitute a violation of the LASD's settlement agreements in Rosas v. Luna or Johnson v. County of Los Angeles.

One man in 1700 is required to attend classes, including domestic violence and anger management, in order to regain visitation rights with his children. He has tried to sign up, but he does not have access to these classes in 1700A (where he reported he has been for nearly 3 months). The dependency court social worker requires that he give her documentation that this is unavailable if he can't actually attend the classes but LASD has refused to give him anything that says those classes are not available to him there. SBC will follow up on this issue separately to ensure the court understands the limitations of programming access for this particular individual.

In row A, many of the cell lights did not work: Cells 12 and 13; in addition, the people in cells 2, 3, and 7 complained of lack of a nightlight to read after the lights go out at 9:30pm.

The men in cells 12 and 13 had stuffed a shirt down a hole in the floor to prevent roaches coming out of a hole. Many of the men in the row complained about rat infestation.

Cell 10 had a leak in the ceiling.

One gentleman in 1700 was listed as K-19U which Mr. x said meant that he was a disabled person. He needed a cane, but his cell was not ADA compliant, because Cell 6 was a "top bunk" cell. The empty cell 5 next to him was a bottom bunk cell. Mr. x claimed that LASD officials had told him he would be moved to Wayside where he could be better accommodated, but after briefly being moved elsewhere in Men's Central Jail, the jail officials had returned him to 1700(A). Mr. x claimed to have filed multiple grievances.

1750(D)

In addition to mold on the vents and multiple tented cells, the toilet in cell 5 (which was empty) flushed nonstop, disturbing the sleep of the men on either side. In addition, the doors in some of the cells periodically did not work: they had been non-functional earlier in the day, though they were working when the Commissioners did their inspection. The men also complained that the row was cold and asked for more thermal underwear and blankets.

9500 is an LGBTQ+ dorm.

Only four of the ten telephones worked.

The transgender women housed in the 9500 dorm complained that they lacked adequate underwear: often LASD deputies delivered bras with no panties, and the LASD issued bras were often the wrong size for the women. The dorm residents also complained that LASD did not change their blankets regularly.

9500 Dorm's hair clippers were broken, two of the three televisions were broken.
