Here are some suggestions: Addressing Immediate Concerns: Transparency and communication: Ensure clear and open communication between the County and CBOs regarding the rationale behind the retroactive amendments, the extent of financial impact, and potential solutions. Financial support: Explore options for providing financial support to CBOs impacted by the retroactive amendments, such as one-time grants, temporary extensions, or adjustments to contract terms. Alternative solutions: Collaboratively explore alternative solutions with CBOs, such as streamlining reporting requirements, modifying service delivery models, or finding efficiencies to reduce costs. Dispute resolution process: Establish a clear and fair dispute resolution process for CBOs who disagree with the amendments or face significant financial hardship. Building a Sustainable Future: Review and revise contracting practices: Analyze existing contracting processes to identify areas for improvement, such as clearer communication, more predictable timelines, and reduced administrative burdens. Increase collaboration and trust: Foster stronger collaboration and trust between the County and CBOs through regular communication, joint planning sessions, and shared data to better understand program needs and outcomes. Long-term funding strategies: Explore alternative funding models, such as multi-year contracts, performance-based funding, or public-private partnerships, to provide CBOs with greater financial stability and predictability. Capacity building support: Offer programs and resources to help CBOs strengthen their organizational capacity, financial management skills, and data collection capabilities. Advocate for policy changes: Consider advocating for state and federal policies that provide more consistent funding streams and reduce reliance on retroactive amendments for youth services. Additional Considerations: Data-driven decision making: Base decisions on clear data analysis

				showing the impact of CBO services on youth outcomes and community needs. Equity and inclusion: Ensure CBOs from diverse communities and serving diverse youth populations have equal access to contracts and resources. Community engagement: Involve youth, families, and communities in program development and evaluation to ensure services are meeting their needs. Remember: Strengthening this partnership requires ongoing commitment and collaboration. By addressing immediate concerns while building a more sustainable future, Los Angeles County can ensure CBOs can continue providing vital services to youth in probation and community settings.
