			Kyrina Bluerose	No more oil drilling. Period. We all know this is more important than protecting profit for a few people.
			Laura Brown	Hello! I am a Santa Monica College Student and I think It would be great for cities and local legislatures to be able to ban oil drilling, because ultimately people are affected by environment at the local level, and because big oil has such a strong lobby at the federal level, being able to ban it from the ground up seems like the strongest actionable option.
			LJ Duey	We must affirm the right to ban, limit, or regulate the oil industry. Our leaders' top priority must be our collective health and the environment, and they must demonstrate this resoundingly.
			Massimo Lesti	local governments have the right to protect their constituents from harmful oil drilling and we need to ensure their right to do so.
