			Monisha Parker	Dear BRANDON T. NICHOLS, I hope this letter finds you well. I am writing to address a pressing concern regarding the Youth Permanency Partners Services Sole Source Contract for the Department of Children and Family Services. As we strive to optimize the efficiency and effectiveness of our services, it has become apparent that there is a need to reduce the scope and cost of this contract. In light of the current budget constraints and the evolving needs of our youth population, it is imperative that we reevaluate the terms and conditions of the existing contract. By exploring alternative options and potentially opening up the bidding process to other qualified vendors, we can ensure that we are getting the best value for our resources while still providing high-quality services to those in need. I understand that change can be challenging, but I believe that by working together and being open to new possibilities, we can find a solution that benefits all parties involved. Your expertise and guidance in this matter would be greatly appreciated as we navigate through this process. Thank you for your attention to this matter. Warm regards, Monisha Parker

		Other	GENEVIEVE M CLAVREUL	While it's understandable that circumstances dictate that a sole source contract is the only choice, our County appears to prefer sole source contracts over competitive bids. In a county our size with its diverse population sole source should be the exception rather than the rule.
