108.		Favor	Joana Chai-Chang Azterbaum	The family policing system currently disproportionately surveils and punishes Black, Indigenous, and low-income families. Right now, Los Angeles County DCFS is spending over $2 billion per year keeping families apart. Only a tiny fraction of DCFS funds are spent on preventive programs that keep families together.  The Los Angeles Board of Supervisors must dedicate $10 million to support the Preventive Legal Advocacy Model's creation and operation.  Thank you for funding 1 million to our pilot already! But we really need the full 10 million on an ONGOING basis to make full equitable legal representation for youth and families in this system a reality.
