7.		Favor	Aradhana Tiwari	The Sunita Jain Anti-Trafficking Initiative (SJI) of Loyola Law School is committed to advocating for policies which prevent human trafficking. SJI supports this initiative because of the increasingly high number of transitional age youth (TAY) that are vulnerable to sex and/or labor trafficking. Many individuals in the TAY community remain vulnerable to commercial exploitation because they are unhoused or at risk of becoming unhoused. To prevent human trafficking within this population, it is important for Los Angeles to support access to affordable housing and other needs for this population.
