		Other	Katja Nelson	APLA Health understands that DPH will need the authority to adjust Ryan White contracts if federal funding levels change, and that DPH-DHSP will follow recommendations made at the Commission on HIV through the Planning, Priorities, and Allocations Committee. While APLA Health understands that cuts will need to be made, the allocation recommendations for the Ryan White services categories put some programs at risk, as those programs will no longer be viable with the amount of funding allocated to the category. Programs like RCFCI, Home Health, and Nutrition Services are at risk of receiving such large cuts that the programs cannot be supported. APLA Health urges the Board to work with DHSP on how cuts are made to ensure that life saving services are supported at the levels needed to keep programming robust and viable.
