Failed police report	About 2 years ago in San Dimas at Home Depot was high beamed and gas missing. Request footage from Home Depot cameras but was told needed Police report. Called San Dimas sheriff station and asked to file at Altadena. Request denied and was sized up for a 5150 vacation at a psych unit. Daily problems continue in travels and that was one opportunity to get hard evidence. Other funnies include long Beach subpoena where body cam audio was deleted and fake water quality report where water kills plants and rusts pipes. These last funnies to county and state ag with also court letter deleted from county court database in Norwalk mental health court for sister conservatorship. International law requires exhausting domestic authority responses.	Bryan Ranger
