County of Los Angeles Official Seal

The Native American woman represents the early inhabitants of the Los Angeles Basin, including the area we now call Los Angeles County.

She stands on the shore of the Pacific Ocean with the San Gabriel Mountains in the background.

The engineering instruments— the triangle and the caliper— relate to the industrial construction complex of the County and Los Angeles' vital contribution to the conquest of space.

The Spanish galleon is the San Salvador, which Cabrillo sailed into San Pedro Harbor October 8, 1542.

The tuna represents the fishing industry of Los Angeles County, and the championship cow, Pearlette, represents the dairy industry.

The Hollywood Bowl indicates the cultural activities, while the two stars represent the motion picture and television industries.

Mission San Gabriel, the first in Los Angeles County, represents the historic role of the missions in the settlement of the Los Angeles region.

The words "County of Los Angeles, California" surround the seal.

(The County seal was designed by former Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, drawn by Millard Sheets, and adopted by the Board of Supervisors January 2, 1957 effective March 1, 1957. It was modified by the Board of Supervisors on September 14, 2004 and again on January 7, 2014.)

Introduction

Los Angeles County is the most populous county in the nation with over 10 million people residing within its borders. To inform the public of available services, the Board of Supervisors ordered the preparation of this Guide to County Services. This is an update of earlier editions, and the information included was current at the time of publication.

Every effort has been made to ensure the accuracy of the material in this booklet, and we hope that it is helpful. For information and updates on this guide, please contact:

About Los Angeles County

Los Angeles County, one of California's original 27 counties, was established Feb. 18, 1850. Originally the County occupied a comparatively small area along the coast between Santa Barbara and San Diego, but within a year its boundaries were enlarged from 4,340 square miles to 34,520 square miles, an area sprawling east to the Colorado River.

During subsequent years, Los Angeles County slowly ebbed to its present size, the last major detachment occurring in 1889 with the creation of Orange County. Los Angeles County remains one of the nation's largest counties with 4,084 square miles, an area some 800 square miles larger than the combined area of the states of Delaware and Rhode Island. Los Angeles County includes the islands of San Clemente and Santa Catalina. It is bordered on the east by Orange and San Bernardino Counties, on the north by Kern County, on the west by Ventura County, and on the south by the Pacific Ocean. Its mainland coastline is 75 miles long.

It has the largest population (10,441,080 as of January 2010) of any county in the nation, and is exceeded by only eight states. Approximately 27 percent of California's residents live in Los Angeles County. The Board of Supervisors, created by the State Legislature in 1852, is the governing body. Five supervisors are elected to four-year terms by voters within their respective districts. The Board has executive, legislative and quasi-judicial roles. It appoints all department heads other than the assessor, district attorney and sheriff, which are elective positions. The Board has delegated its role in selecting all but a few of the department heads to the chief executive officer, but still must approve appointments.

As a subdivision of the State, the County is charged with providing numerous services that affect the lives of all residents. Traditional mandatory services include law enforcement, property assessment, tax collection, public health protection, public social services and relief to indigents. Among the specialized services are flood control, water conservation, parks and recreation, and many diversified cultural activities.

There are 88 cities within the County, each with its own city council. All of the cities, in varying degrees, contract with the County to provide municipal services. Thirty-seven contract for nearly all their municipal services. More than 65 percent of the County – 2,630 square miles – is unincorporated. For the one million people living in those areas, the Board of Supervisors is their "city council" and County departments provide the municipal services.

History of the County of Los Angeles

The area comprising present-day Los Angeles County was first settled by small groups of Native Americans for centuries before the first European contact in 1769 when Gaspar de Portola and a group of missionaries camped on what is now the bank of the Los Angeles River.

In September 1771, Father Junipero Serra and a group of Spaniards founded the San Gabriel Mission as the center of the first “community” in an area inhabited by small bands of Gabrielino Indians. Ten years later the Pobladores, a group of 11 families recruited from Mexico by Capt. Rivera y Moncada, traveled from the San Gabriel Mission to a spot selected by Alta California Gov. Felipe de Neve to establish a new pueblo. The settlement was named El Pueblo de la Reyna de Los Angeles (The Pueblo of the Queen of the Angels). In its early years, the town was a small, isolated cluster of adobe-brick houses and random streets carved out of the desert, and its main product was grain. Over time, the area became known as the Ciudad de Los Angeles, “City of Angels.”

In September 1797, the Franciscan monks established the San Fernando Mission Rey de Espana in the northern San Fernando Valley. Although the Spanish government placed a ban on trading with foreign ships, American vessels began arriving in the early 1800s, and the first English-speaking inhabitant settled in the area in 1818. He was a carpenter named Joseph Chapman, who helped build the church facing the town’s central plaza, a structure that still stands. California was ruled by Spain until 1822, when Mexico assumed jurisdiction. As a result, trade with the United States became more frequent.

The ocean waters off the coast of California were important for whaling and seal hunting, and a number of trading ships docked at nearby San Pedro to buy cattle hides and tallow. By the 1840s, Los Angeles was the largest town in Southern California. After a two-year period of hostilities with Mexico beginning in 1846, the area came under U.S. control. The Treaty of Cahuenga, signed in 1847, ended the war in California, followed by the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo in 1848 adding Los Angeles and the rest of California to American territory.

Gold Rush and Growth

The annexation of California and the discovery of gold brought adventurers and immigrants alike by the thousands to the West with dreams of “hitting pay dirt.” Contrary to popular belief, California’s Gold Rush began in the hills southwest of the Antelope Valley in 1842, when Francisco Lopez, stopping for lunch while searching for stray cattle, pulled some wild onions and found flakes of gold clinging to their roots. The canyon was named Placeritas, meaning “Little Placers,” and today is called Placerita Canyon. Gold rushers soon flocked to the canyon and took an estimated $100,000 of gold from the region before heading north to the more exciting and well-known discovery at Sutter's Mill in 1848. A subsequent gold strike in the mountains to the north of Los Angeles provided the town with a booming market for its beef, and many prospectors settled in the area after the Gold Rush. Mining changed the region's history in profound ways, as gold seekers settled permanently in the Antelope Valley during the 1850s and 1860s. The area further grew during the Civil War (1860-1865), as gold, silver, and copper were extracted from the Soledad Canyon region and Fremont's Pass was enlarged to facilitate and speed up ore shipments.

After the Civil War ended, there was a large immigration into the Los Angeles area. Several large Mexican ranches were divided into many small farms, and such places as Compton, Downey, Norwalk, San Fernando, Santa Monica and Pasadena sprang into existence.

During its history, the size of the County has changed substantially. Originally it was 4,340 square miles along the coast between Santa Barbara and San Diego, but grew to 34,520 square miles, sprawling east to the Colorado River. Today, with 4,084 square miles, it is slightly smaller than its original size. The County was divided up three times: Kern County received a large slice in 1851; San Bernardino County split off in 1853; and Orange County was established in 1889.

Incorporation

On Feb. 18, 1850, the County of Los Angeles was established as one of the 27 original counties, several months before California was admitted to the Union. The people of Los Angeles County on April 1, 1850, asserted their newly won right of self-government and elected a three-man Court of Sessions as their first governing body. A total of 377 votes were cast in this election. In 1852 the Legislature dissolved the Court of Sessions and created a five-member Board of Supervisors. In 1913 the citizens of Los Angeles County approved a charter recommended by a board of freeholders which gave the County greater freedom to govern itself within the framework of state law.

In 1850, Los Angeles was statutorily declared to be the county seat for the County of Los Angeles. Later that year, Los Angeles was incorporated as the County's first city; today there are 88 cities. Los Angeles had a reputation as one of the toughest towns in the West. "A murder a day" only slightly exaggerated the town's crime problems, and suspected criminals were often hanged by vigilante groups. Lawlessness reached a peak in 1871, when, after a Chinese immigrant accidentally killed a white man, an angry mob stormed into the Chinatown district, murdering 16 people. After that, civic leaders and concerned citizens began a successful campaign to bring law and order to the town.

Immigrants

Los Angeles and its surrounding territories were built by immigrants. The village of Los Angeles was a fairly cosmopolitan place early on. By the 1850s, the Spanish-speaking Californios and Indians, Anglo Americans and former slaves of African descent were joined by settlers who included English, French, Basques, Spaniards, Mexicans, Germans, and Chinese. During the late 1800s and early 20th Century, foreign immigration to Los Angeles County was varied but continued to be steady.

The new immigrants arrived from Europe, Asia, and Central and South America. Distinctive ethnic communities of Japanese, Chinese, Russians, and East European Jews had developed throughout the county by the 1930s. These ethnic influences contributed to Los Angeles' cultural, economic and social dynamism. When the Immigration Act of 1965 opened the door to new immigrants, it initiated dramatic changes in the area. According to the U.S. Census, by 2000 36.2 percent of Los Angeles County residents were foreign-born—more than triple the 11.3 percent figure of 1970. The 2000 census showed the area was home to 4.2 million people of Latino/Hispanic origin—only Mexico City had a larger number.

A survey taken by the Los Angeles Unified School District that year counted more than 130 different languages represented among school-age children. By 2000 Los Angeles became the nation's major immigrant port of entry, supplanting New York City.

Ethnic Influences

People of African descent were prominent in the first Spanish settlement of Los Angeles in 1781. Twenty-six of the 44 original settlers (pobladores) were black or mixed ancestry (mulattos). Most came from Sinaloa, Mexico, where two-thirds of the residents were people of mixed African and Spanish heritage. Pio Pico, the last Mexican governor of California, was of African-Mexican descent. The number of blacks was eclipsed by new immigrants in the early American years. Only about a dozen of the 1,600 county residents listed in the 1850 census were black. During the next 80 years the influx of blacks grew, and by 1930 Los Angeles was home to the largest black community on the Pacific Coast.

The first Chinese-Americans in the city were laborers recruited in China by Chinese contractors and unknowingly brought to Los Angeles in 1850. By 1870 their numbers grew to more than 4,000. The Chinese dominated the agricultural business as growers, vendors and market proprietors. Others worked swinging picks and shovels laying the tracks for the Southern Pacific railroad, including carving out the San Fernando railroad tunnel through the mountains. During this time the Chinese endured racial hatred due in part to intense economic rivalries with whites, which resulted in the Chinese Exclusionary Acts in the 1880s.

Mexican-Americans—people largely of mixed Spanish and Indian descent—came to Southern California under the flag of Spain, having been recruited from Sonora and Sinaloa in New Spain (Mexico) beginning in 1781. Although their numbers were small, their language and culture prevailed over those of the local Indian inhabitants. Mexico ruled California from 1822, when Mexican rebels overthrew Spanish rule, until the end of the Mexican-American War in 1848. The Mexicans remained in the majority after the war but lost political and social dominance. Their numbers increased markedly after the Mexican revolution in 1910.

Railroads and Growth

The coming of the railroads changed everything. The Southern Pacific completed its Los Angeles route in 1880, followed by the Santa Fe Railroad six years later. With a huge investment in their new coast-to-coast rail lines and large Los Angeles land holdings, the railroads set forth a long-term plan for growth. Southern California citrus farming was born. Tourism and the building of towns were promoted to attract investors, to raise land values, and to increase the value of railroad shipments.

In the late 1860s there was a population boom as the marketing to “Go West” caught on. Thousands of tourists and land speculators hurried to Los Angeles County. Lots were bought, sold and traded, and an almost instantly created industry of real estate agents transacted more value in land sales than the county’s entire value of only a few years before. The boom proved to be a speculative frenzy that collapsed abruptly in 1889. Many landowners went broke. People in vast numbers abandoned the Los Angeles area, sometimes as many as 3,000 a day. This flight prompted the creation of the chamber of commerce, which began a worldwide advertising campaign to attract new citizens. The county as a whole, however, benefited. The build-up had created several local irrigation districts and numerous civic improvements. In addition, the Los Angeles population had increased from about 11,000 in 1880 to about 60,000 in 1890.

Black Gold

In 1850 the first salable petroleum in California was the oil found at Pico Canyon near San Fernando. But the real boom began in the 1890s, when Edward L. Doheny discovered oil at 2nd Street and Glendale Boulevard in downtown Los Angeles. His find set off a “second black gold rush” that lasted several years. Los Angeles became a center of oil production in the early 20th Century. By 1897 the area had 500 derricks, and in 1910 the area near Santa Monica Boulevard and Vermont Avenue was an unruly oil shantytown. Drilling activity in the county reached new heights in the 1920s when major finds were made in Whittier, Montebello, Compton, Torrance, and Inglewood. The largest strikes were in Huntington Beach in 1920, and Santa Fe Springs and Signal Hill in 1921. These three huge fields upset national oil prices and glutted existing storage facilities. By the turn of the century almost 1,500 oil wells operated throughout Los Angeles. Oil production has continued down to the present throughout the Los Angeles Basin; between 1952 and 1988 some 1,000 wells pumped 375 million barrels of oil from these pumps.

Agriculture

In the early 1900s, agriculture became an important part of the economy. The growth in the City of Los Angeles necessitated the annexation of the large San Fernando Valley. For about a half century between San Fernando's 1874 founding and the 1920s, the community was considered an "agricultural gem" set in the San Fernando Valley. An ample and reliable water supply was coupled with a coastal valley climate, in which the community's elevation of about 1,100 feet—along with its receiving about 12 inches of rain a year—made it ideal for growing crops.

Cattle ranching was common in the area when missionaries arrived in the late 1700s, but during the next 100 years the landscape became dotted with wheat plantings and fruit trees, whose growth was also aided by the irrigation systems in place from the mission's heyday. By the 1920s, fruit and especially citrus cultivation was San Fernando's biggest industry. The price of land for orange and lemon groves went as high as $5,000 an acre—as much as eight times more than the cost of other land—and the city had at least four packing houses with annual shipments of nearly 500 rail cars of oranges and lemons.

Olives also flourished in the Mediterranean-like climate, and the 2,000-acre Sylmar olive grove—then the world's largest—produced 50,000 gallons of olive oil and 200,000 gallons of ripe olives. Other crops grown in the County included alfalfa, apricots, asparagus, barley, hay, beans, beets, cabbage, citrus, corn, lettuce, melons, peaches, potatoes, pumpkins, squash, tomatoes, and walnuts. The area also had excellent dairy farms, including the world's largest Guernsey herd in the 1920s. The agricultural output led to other industries such as canning companies, a fruit growers association, and fruit preservers. The agricultural land gave way to development following World War II.

Harbors and Trade

The San Pedro harbor became operational in the late 1840s and became the principal harbor for the trade in the county. The first steamer to visit San Pedro was the Goldhunter in 1849. The construction of a railroad from Los Angeles to the harbor in 1869 gave a fresh impetus to the development of agricultural resources in the county. Later in 1911 the Long Beach harbor was established and the port at San Pedro was also added to give Los Angeles a position in the international trade market.

Motion Pictures and Television

In 1853 one adobe hut stood on the site that became Hollywood. The first motion picture studio in Hollywood proper was Nestor Film Company, founded in 1911 by Al Christie for David Horsley in an old building on the southeast corner of Sunset Boulevard and Gower Street. By 1930 the motion picture industry was in full swing. The county's good weather and picturesque locals lent itself to the production of the silent films and "talkies."

In the 1950s, the advent of television led to the opening of numerous television stations. Movie attendance fell to half its previous level during this time as audiences stayed home to be entertained in their own living rooms. Hollywood's yearly output in the 1930s had averaged 750 feature films; in the 1950s it was down to about 300 and still falling, despite efforts to win back audiences by installing new stereo sound systems, building wide screens, and employing new such visual techniques as 3-D. By the early 1970s the television and movie industries became interdependent with much crossover from one medium to the other. Today, each medium has found its niche. The Hollywood film has retained its position as the ultimate entertainment, but television has become the major disseminator of popular culture. Los Angeles has remained firmly in charge of American image-making.

Large manufacturing concerns began opening factories during that time, and the need for housing created vast areas of suburban neighborhoods and the beginnings of the area's massive freeway system. The Depression and the Midwestern drought of the 1930s brought thousands of people to California looking for jobs.

Public Works Projects

In order to sustain future growth, the County needed new sources of water. The only local water in Los Angeles was the intermittent Los Angeles River and groundwater replenished by the area's minimal rain. Legitimate concerns about water supply were exploited to gain backing for a huge engineering and legal effort to bring more water to the city and allow more development. Approximately 250 miles northeast of Los Angeles in Inyo County, near the Nevada state line, a long slender desert region known as the Owens Valley had the Owens River, a permanent stream of fresh water fed by the melted snows of the eastern Sierra Nevadas.

Sometime between 1899 and 1903, Los Angeles Times founder Harrison Gray Otis and his son-in-law successor, Harry Chandler, engaged in successful efforts at buying up cheap land on the northern outskirts of Los Angeles in the San Fernando Valley. At the same time, they enlisted the help of William Mulholland, chief engineer of the Los Angeles Water Department, and J.B. Lippencott, of the United States Reclamation Service.

Lippencott performed water surveys in the Owens Valley for the Reclamation Service while secretly receiving a salary from the City of Los Angeles. He succeeded in persuading Owens Valley farmers and mutual water companies to pool their interests and surrender the water rights to 200,000 acres of land to Fred Eden, Lippencott's agent and a former mayor of Los Angeles. Eden then resigned from the Reclamation Service, took a job with the Los Angeles Water Department as assistant to Mulholland, and turned over the Reclamation Service maps, field surveys and stream measurements to the city. Those studies served as the basis for designing the longest aqueduct in the world.

By July 1905, Chandler's L.A. Times began to warn the voters of Los Angeles that the county would soon dry up unless they voted bonds for building the aqueduct. Artificial drought conditions were created when water was run into the sewers to decrease the supply in the reservoirs and residents were forbidden to water their lawns and gardens. On election day, the people of Los Angeles voted for $22.5 million worth of bonds to build an aqueduct from the Owens River and to defray other expenses of the project. With this money, and with a special act of Congress allowing cities to own property outside their boundaries, the city acquired the land that Eden had acquired from the Owens Valley farmers and started to build the aqueduct, which opened Nov. 5, 1913.

To accommodate its growing population, the County instituted a number of large engineering projects, including the construction of the Hoover Dam, which channeled water to the County from the Colorado River and provided electricity from hydroelectric power. The area's excellent weather made it an ideal location for aircraft testing and construction, and World War II brought hundreds of new industries to the area, boosting the local economy. By the 1950s, Los Angeles County was a sprawling metropolis. It was considered the epitome of everything new and modern in American culture—a combination of super highways, affordable housing, and opportunity for everyone.

Today more than 10.4 million people call Los Angeles County home, residing in 88 cities and approximately 140 unincorporated areas. It continues to be an industrial and financial giant, and is one of the most cultural and ethnically diverse communities in the world.

Contract Services Program

A unique plan for contracting municipal services through the County of Los Angeles, thus avoiding a duplication of services, is now an integral part of the services provided by county government in various municipalities of the County. The plan was inaugurated in April 1954 when a new series of city incorporations began with the incorporation of the City of Lakewood. The plan was offered by the County Board of Supervisors as a means of providing municipal-type services for the new cities so that they could administer city government without the costly establishment of numerous city departments.

County Contract Services allows a city to receive virtually all of its municipal services from various departments of County government and still maintain home rule through the medium of the city council.

Today, Contract Services has advanced to the point that, in varying degrees, all of the 88 cities in the County contract for at least one or more County services. Now, 37 of the newer cities incorporated since 1954 contract with the County for nearly all of their municipal services.

Under Contract Services, the County will, upon request, provide municipal type services to any city within the County at cost and at the same basic level provided by the County in serving the unincorporated territory. Cities may request that the level of services be increased, in which case the city pays for the accompanying increased cost.

The program provides that the County shall remain full supervisory control over County employees engaged in providing contract municipal services, while the city council or city administration shall generally determine the level and type of services it desires to receive. All service agreements contain a provision for their termination by either party. Both the County Charter Section 561/2 and the California State Government Code Sections 51300-51350 provide legal authority for the County to furnish such services by contract and permit the actual transfer of certain municipal functions to the County. In the consolidation of municipal functions, the County has charter authority to blanket in city personnel to County services through Section 56 3/4 of the Los Angeles County Charter.

Board of Supervisors Responsibilities

The governmental powers of the County of Los Angeles are exercised through a Board of Supervisors, through agents and officers acting under authority of the Board or by authority conferred by law. Provisions of the Los Angeles County Charter call for a five-member Board of Supervisors, each of whom must be an elector of the district represented, must reside therein during incumbency, must have been such an elector for at least one year immediately preceding election and be elected by the district. The Board of Supervisors fulfills three major powers in County government: executive, legislative and quasi-judicial.

In an executive capacity, the responsibilities of a county supervisor to constituents who reside in unincorporated areas are similar to those of a mayor of an incorporated city. The supervisor is required to administer all local governmental services. In its legislative role, the Board may adopt ordinances and rules, both to control the administration of County government and to regulate public conduct within the unincorporated areas of the County. Acting in a quasi-judicial capacity, the Board acts as an appeals board on zone exception cases of the Regional Planning Commission. It sits for hearings on county improvement districts and on appeals in licensing matters.

The Board of Supervisors is responsible for the adoption of an annual budget outlining the expenditures of all branches of the County on a fiscal-year basis. It also serves as the governing body of many special districts, including Flood Control and Fire Protection Districts. The Board supervises the activities of the chief administrative officer and all County Departments, determines County and special district policies and sets salaries of County personnel.

Each supervisor has the responsibility of selecting citizens to serve on the various County commissions and committees. In addition to the duties specifically assigned to the Board of Supervisors by law, each Board office acts as a liaison between the public and the many branches of government.

Assessment Appeals Board

Kenneth Hahn Hall of Administration
500 W. Temple St., B-4, Los Angeles, CA 90012
Phone: (213) 974-1471, TTY/TDD: (800) 735-2929
Web: bos.lacounty.gov/Services/Assessment-Appeals

Under the authority of Article 13 of the Constitution of the State of California, the Board of Supervisors created five assessment appeals boards to sit as the local Board of Equalization for the County of Los Angeles. The function of the Assessment Appeals Board is to conduct impartial hearings on appeals filed by property owners who are seeking a reduction in the assessor’s valuation of their property. Based on the evidence presented at these hearings, the board determines the fair market value of the property assessment. The board is required by law to hear and make a final determination on an appeal within two years of the timely filing of an application.

Time for Filing:

- Regular Assessments: Filing period for the regular assessment (annual tax bill) for real and personal property is July 2 to Nov. 30 of each year.
- Supplemental Assessments: Filing period is within 60 days of the mailing date printed on the supplemental assessment notice or tax bill, or the postmark date of the notice or tax bill, whichever is later.
- Roll Change/Adjusted/Escapes Assessments: Filing period is within 60 days of the mailing date printed on the roll change/adjusted/escape assessment notice or tax bill, or the postmark date of the notice or tax bill, whichever is later.
- Misfortune or Calamity Reassessments: Filing period is within six months of the mailing date of the assessor’s proposed reassessment notice. If the final filing date falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday, an application that is mailed and postmarked on the next business day shall be deemed to have been filed timely.

Online Filing: Applications filed online require authentication of an electronic signature in accordance to the procedure set forth by the Clerk of the Assessment Appeals Board.

Hearing Process: Based on evidence presented at the hearing by the applicant and by the assessor, the Assessment Appeals Board determines the fair market value of each property for which an application for equalization is made. The board may increase or reduce individual assessments in order to establish the full cash value of property for the appropriate base year. The board has no jurisdiction to grant or deny exemptions or to consider allegations that claim for exemption from property taxes have been improperly denied. The board acts in a quasi-judicial capacity and has no legislative power.

An assessment hearing officer, rather than the full board, may conduct a hearing if the property in question is a single-family residence, condominium, cooperative, or a multi-family dwelling of four units or less regardless of value, unless otherwise requested in writing by the applicant. The valuation on other properties heard by the hearing officer may not exceed $3 million in assessed valuation on the current assessment roll. If the applicant/assessor does not agree with the hearing officer's recommendation, applicant/assessor must submit a written request for a board hearing within 14 days of the hearing officer's hearing date. The board is not bound by the hearing officer's report and recommendation and may accept or reject the recommendation. Assessment Appeals Board decisions are final unless appealed to Superior Court.

Public Education Seminar: Developed to help taxpayers better understand the assessment appeals process. Seminars, conducted year-round in various locations provides information on appeal rights; how and when to file an application for assessment reduction; how to prepare for a hearing; what is admissible evidence; what happens at the hearing; and what to expect after the hearing. Seminars are available to anyone interested in learning about the appeals process, including those who have already filed an application with the Assessment Appeals Board. Call (213) 974-4240 or visit: bos.lacounty.gov/Services/Assessment-Appeals.

The Department of Children and Family Services (DCFS) began operations on December 1, 1984 after being separated from the Department of Public Social Services. With 20 Regional Offices throughout over 4,000 square miles, DCFS employs social workers, attorneys, Public Health Nurses, mental health clinicians and administrative staff. The majority of functions performed by DCFS are required by federal or state statute. DCFS is statutorily charged with the following functions which are primarily carried out by social workers in the Regional Offices.

Child Protection Hotline: When DCFS becomes aware of an allegation of parental abuse or neglect, a social worker may conduct an in-person investigation to determine the existence of any condition that places any child in the household at risk of abuse or neglect, and in need of services.

Family Maintenance: When it is determined that a child is safe to remain at home, and that the family can benefit from services, families may volunteer to receive the Family Maintenance services or the court may order them for up to 12 months.

Out-of-Home Placement: When a child must be removed from his or her home, DCFS identifies temporary out-of-home placement with relatives, foster homes or Short-term Residential Therapeutic Programs. Of the approximate 18,000 children in out-of-home placements, over 50% are with relatives.

Family Reunification: When a child is removed from the home due to abuse or neglect, we make every effort to reunify that child with his or her parents when possible. Family Reunification services may be provided for a maximum of 18 months.

Permanent Placement: In cases when a child cannot be safely reunified with his or her parents, DCFS assists in identifying a safe, loving permanent home for the child, whether with relatives, guardians or adoptive parents. Permanent placement must be court-ordered.

Museum hours: 11am-5pm M, T, & Th; 11am-8pm F, 10am-7pm Sat-Sun

Since its inception in 1965, LACMA has been devoted to collecting works of art that span both history and geography, in addition to representing Los Angeles's uniquely diverse population. Today LACMA is the largest art museum in the western United States, with a collection of over 135,000 objects that illuminate 6,000 years of art history from new and unexpected points of view. A museum of international stature as well as a vital cultural center for Southern California, LACMA shares its vast collection with the Greater Los Angeles County and beyond through exhibitions, public programs, and research facilities that attract over 1.5 million visitors annually, in addition to serving millions more through community partnerships, school outreach programs, and creative digital initiatives. Among the museum's strengths are its holdings of Asian art; Latin American art, ranging from masterpieces from the Ancient Americas to works by leading modern and contemporary artists; and Islamic art, of which LACMA hosts one of the most significant collections in the world. The museum approaches the past from a contemporary perspective by through collaborations with artists and architects in the presentation of its collections, and through the installation of monumental artworks by the likes of Chris Burden, Barbara Kruger, Michael Heizer and others around its campus.

The museum is renowned for its educational and cultural programs, which annually serve hundreds of thousands of visitors, including children, seniors, and the physically challenged. Several tours (free with admission) are offered six days per week for the general public and school groups. The Boone Children's Gallery resides in the Hammer Building, where kids can learn about brush painting used in Korean art for free. The museum's film and music programs are among the most robust and diverse in the country. LACMA also engages with diverse audiences in neighborhoods throughout the County through exhibitions, workshops, and other programming. LACMA’s satellite gallery at Charles White Elementary School in MacArthur Park presents exhibitions and public programming free of charge, and highlights of LACMA’s collections are on view at Vincent Price Art Museum at East Los Angeles College in Monterey Park.

Parking for LACMA is in the Pritzker Parking Garage, accessed from 6th Street, just east of Fairfax Boulevard; on Wilshire Boulevard and Spaulding Avenue; and at metered parking available on neighboring streets. For those with disabilities, elevator access is in the parking garage or at the museum’s alternate entrance on Wilshire Boulevard and Spaulding Avenue. Free charging stations for electric vehicles are available on the first level of the Pritzker Parking Garage.

For non-LA County residents, general admission is $25, admission for students and senior citizens is $21. Children 17 and under are always free. Additionally, children may join Arts for NexGen, LACMA’s acclaimed youth membership program; as a benefit of this free membership, kids may bring one adult to the museum free of charge. The museum is free to all LA County residents after 3pm on weekdays (closed Wednesday). LACMA offers numerous opportunities for free admission, including on the second Tuesday of every month; select federal holiday Mondays, sponsored by Target; and on select days throughout the year. LACMA memberships begin at $60 annually for individuals.

NHM was the first dedicated museum building in Los Angeles, opening its doors in 1913. It has since amassed one of the world’s most extensive and valuable collections of natural and cultural history—more than 35 million objects. The curatorial staff not only cares for those collections, but uses them for groundbreaking scientific and historic research. Today, the museum incorporates on- and offsite nature and culture exploration in its community, a slate of community science programs, and active research – creating a new natural history museum experience that explores the past, but increasingly addresses the present and the future.

The museum also curates new, immersive exhibitions that give visitors the opportunity to explore the “big picture” of global topics, often seen through a local lens — specimens and objects, the stories behind them, and the ways that nature and culture interact. Natural History Museum permanent exhibitions include:

- Becoming Los Angeles
- Dinosaur Hall; Gems and Mineral Hall; Bird Hall
- Nature Lab; Nature Gardens; Age of Mammals
- Dinosaur Encounters - snarling, stomping, life size T. rex and Triceratops puppets in live presentations
- Dioramas filled with North American and African mammals
- Ralph M. Parsons Discovery Center
- Dino Lab: Real Dinosaurs, Real Paleontologists
- Visible Vault: Archeological Treasures from Latin America
- Butterfly Pavilion and Spider Pavilion
- Seasonal special exhibits focusing on Los Angeles

The museum is a teacher resource for Southern California educators: Its halls contain content for lessons that meet California state curriculum standards, and there are downloadable lesson plans and activities on the museum’s website. The museum houses the Ralph M. Parsons Discovery Center, an interactive, family-friendly space where visitors can handle artifacts and specimens, and watch live animal presentations while learning about camouflage, habitat and their important contributions to the planet.

The museum offers school tours, community outreach programs, free family programming on the weekends, and day camps called “Adventures in Nature.” Its nighttime First Fridays series attracts an adult crowd with compelling discussions, DJs, and live bands. Outdoor events such as Summer Nights in the Garden and the L.A. Nature Fest encourage engagement in the natural world by giving visitors access to community activists and international scientists.

General admission is $15 for adults; $12 for college students with ID, senior citizens, and youth 13-17; and $7 for children 3-12; Free for children 2 and under, Museum members, CA teachers and students, active military personnel and veterans, and EBT cardholders. 5801 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles 90036.....Web: tarpits.org
Phone: (323) 934-PAGE. Hours: Open seven days a week 9:30am-5pm
Closed New Year's Day, Independence Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The La Brea Tar Pits and Museum showcases Ice Age fossils from the most famous active, urban excavation localities in the world. Many of the permanent exhibits are designed with family interaction in mind: Visitors are invited to test their strength against the pull of asphalt, and touch a massive leg bone of an extinct giant ground sloth. Through the windows of the transparent Fossil Lab, guests can watch bones being cleaned and repaired by lab volunteers. Ice Age Encounters features a life-sized saber-toothed cat puppet in performances Fridays through Sundays, and the new Excavator Tour showcases indoor and outdoor highlights, including the newly-opened Observation Pit.

Outside the museum, the 23-acre grounds feature the still-bubbling Lake Pit, life-size models of extinct mammoths, and a Pleistocene Garden which reveals what Los Angeles looked like 10,000 to 50,000 years ago during the last Ice Age, when animals such as saber-toothed cats and mammoths roamed the L.A. Basin. Visitors can also watch live excavation from July to early September as paleontologists extract fossils from asphalt as a part of Project 23 and Pit 91. The fossil observation areas are open free.

General admission is $15 for adults; $12 for college students with ID, senior citizens 62+, and youth 13-17; $7 for children 3-12. The museum is free for: children 2 and under, Museum members, CA teachers and students, active military personnel and veterans, and EBT cardholders. Admission is free every Tuesday in September and the first Tuesday of the month, October through June. Admission is also free for L.A. County residents Monday through Friday, from 3 – 5 pm.

Nestled in the Hollywood Hills, the John Anson Ford Theatres is one of the oldest and most historically significant performing arts venues in Los Angeles. Located in a 32-acre County regional park, the Ford is owned by the County of Los Angeles and operated through a partnership between Parks and Recreation and the Ford Theatre Foundation. With a mission of bringing people together for transformative arts experiences that inspire, empower and ignite cultural exchange, the Ford presents an annual summer season of music, dance, theatre, film and family events in its 1,200-seat outdoor amphitheater.

Partnership Program: The Ford partners with artists and producers to present a season that represents the diversity of the region. Unlike a traditional presenting model, groups apply to be part of the summer season and receive significant front of house, production and marketing support while keeping up to 90% of the box office proceeds.

Presenting Series: A new ten-part presenting series of nationally and internationally renowned artists, made possible through the support of Supervisor Sheila Kuehl.

Big World Fun: One-hour music and dance events take place on Saturday mornings during the summer. These events are designed for children ages 4-10 and their families and are free for children, $5 for adults.

JAM Sessions: Taking place at the Ford and at sites across the County, these free participatory arts events invite the audience to explore their inner artist through music and dance.

Sanitation Districts

1955 Workman Mill Road Whittier, CA 90607-4998 www.lacsd.org
Phone: (562) 908-4288 ext. 2300

The Sanitation Districts protect public health and the environment through innovative and cost-effective wastewater and solid waste management and, in doing so, convert waste into resources such as recycled water, energy, and recycled materials. The agency consists of 24 independent special districts and functions on a regional scale with a service area covering approximately 850 square miles including 78 cities and unincorporated territory within the County. The 24 districts work cooperatively under a joint administration agreement with one administrative staff headquartered near the City of Whittier. Each district has its own board of directors consisting of the mayor of each city within the district and the chair of the Board of Supervisors for districts with unincorporated territory.

The Sanitation Districts’ 1,400 miles of main trunk sewers and 11 wastewater treatment plants convey and treat about half the wastewater produced in LA County. The agency is a pioneer in the production of recycled water. Water reclamation plants produce high-quality recycled water that essentially meets drinking water standards and is reused at more than 880 sites throughout the county. Solid waste management facilities serve a portion of the countywide solid waste management needs. The Sanitation Districts operate two sanitary landfills, two landfill energy recovery facilities, a recycle center, three materials recovery/transfer facilities, and participate in the operation of a refuse-to-energy facility. The agency operates a food waste recycling program to help its member cities comply with state organic recycling requirements. Furthermore, in January 2016, the Sanitation Districts gained authority to help local cities with stormwater management.

New Case Intake (213) 974-0460

Wills: Written to direct how a person's property should be distributed after he or she dies. California's Probate Code Sec. 6100 et. seq. governs wills and their execution. The Probate Code is available in libraries, in many legal self-help manuals, and at www.leginfo.ca.gov. A will must be filed with the probate court within 30 days of notification of the will-maker's death. To learn whether a probate case has been filed or to obtain a case number, parties may search the case index or call and provide the decedent's full name and date of death. Once a case number is obtained, it is possible to monitor a case via the court's website or by reviewing a case file in the courthouse where it is stored.

Civil Cases: Allows the public, for a fee, unlimited downloading from the court's website of civil records in lawsuits greater than $25,000 filed at Stanley Mosk Courthouse in Los Angeles. The public may search for documents filed since 1997 by either a case number or a party name.

Criminal Case Defendants: Allows the public, for a fee, to access an index of defendants in criminal cases in the Los Angeles Superior Court online. Provides a list of case numbers and filing dates related to the party/company name submitted. If available, counts, current charges, disposition and disposition dates will be included. The site is updated daily.

Court Records

Copies of recent court documents - including orders regarding dissolutions of marriage and judgments of dissolutions, probate, name changes, criminal and civil cases – may be available at the courthouse in the judicial district where the case was handled. Conduct case research online to determine where the case was heard. If the case concluded more than 10 years ago, records are likely at the Archives and Records Center, 222 N. Hill St., Los Angeles 90012. No phone orders are accepted.

Some post-1999 civil case documents for cases heard at Stanley Mosk Courthouse may be found online, where they can be purchased and downloaded. In the Central District, visit or write the certification section in Rm. 112 at the Stanley Mosk Courthouse, 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles.

Ordering case documents requires a case number. To search for a civil case number, provide the names of the parties and the year the case was filed to civil index staff members. For civil cases, call the civil index clerk at (213) 830-0803. An in-person index fee for civil searches costs $25 per name if a search takes more than 10 minutes. Criminal case index searches for criminal cases filed before 1956 are performed at the Archives and Records Center, 222 N. Hill St., Los Angeles 90012; criminal cases filed 1957 and later are indexed at the Criminal Justice Center, 210 W. Temple St., Rm. M-6, Los Angeles 90012. California law allows misdemeanor case records to be destroyed five years after their disposition.

Hill St., Rm. 212, Los Angeles, CA 90012. Enclose a check, payable to the Los Angeles Superior Court, to cover the copying cost of documents, which is 50 cents per page and a certification fee of $15 per document. If the document is a final judgment of divorce, add $15 for the certification fee. If the copies are for official use in another country, there is a $20 fee for exemplification. If you do not know the number of pages or the cost for copies, write below the long dollar line on your check the phrase: "Not to exceed $30. The clerk processing the order will fill in the actual amount and return a receipt with the copies. Enclose a self-addressed, legal-sized envelope. Allow six to eight months for processing.

Adoptions Records (323) 307-8099 (8:30am-4:30pm M-F)
Adoption Unit, Edmund D. Edelman Children's Court
201 Centre Plaza Dr., Rm. 2100, Monterey Park 91754

Adoption records dating back to the 1800s are housed in the Adoption Unit at the Edmund D. Edelman Children's Court in Monterey Park. Persons seeking information about their adoption records for family medical background information may request a "Petition for Birth Record Information" pursuant to Health and Safety Code Section 102705. If the judge grants the Petition for Birth Record Information, the petitioner will get a copy of the court file and state file with identifying information redacted. Only if the petitioner specifically requests a copy of the birth certificate and only if the judge grants the request, will the petitioner get a copy of the original birth certificate. There is an approximate four to 8-month processing period after requests are submitted as the request must be coordinated with the State Department of Social Services and Vital Records in Sacramento. If the parents choose to remain anonymous, their identities will not be released.

To request adoption records unrelated to family medical background, the petitioner should request an "Application and Order of Approval of the Court to Obtain Information Regarding an Adoption" pursuant to Family Code Section 9200. If adoption information is found, a copy of the original adoption order (Adopt 215), adoption agreement (Adopt 210), and request for adoption form (Adopt 200) will be given to the petitioner. There is an approximate four to six weeks processing period after requests are submitted. Applications and Order of Approval of the Court to Obtain Information Regarding an Adoption forms will be reviewed by a judge if the petitioner is not the party involved in the adoption proceeding. If the parents choose to remain anonymous, their identities will not be released.

For unlawful detainer (evictions), small claims, civil post judgment/ defaults, civil filings, name change and civil index, call: (213) 830-0803

Name Change: Mandatory Judicial Council forms are required for changing your name. To change your name by the court petition method, contact your local Superior Court clerk for the proper forms or print them from the website. You will need the Petition for Change of Name, Decree Changing Name and Order to Show Cause for Change of Name. It is not necessary to obtain a court decree to change your name. Generally, you just start using the new name, and change every place where it appears - driver's license, bank records, Social Security, etc. However, it is illegal to change your name to hide your identity to commit a fraud (such as concealing the fact that you're a registered sex offender).

Women are not required to obtain an order in a divorce decree to restore their maiden names, though it may assist in keeping vital statistics straight. Women do not need to petition for a name change upon marriage. The marriage certificate is recorded and provides all documentation needed to provide a record at the state and county level of the basis for the change of name. This is true whether the wife decides to adopt her husband's name, use a hyphenated name, or just keep her maiden name.

Liens on Real Property, Tax Sales, Auctions(213) 974-2045, (213) 974-2040

Email: auction@ttc.lacounty.gov

Residential or agricultural properties that are tax-defaulted for five years and vacant residential or commercial properties that are tax-defaulted for three years become Subject to the Tax Collector’s Power to Sell and are offered for sale at public auctions each year. For information regarding upcoming auctions, how to purchase an auction book, and how to register, contact us and speak to the auction staff. Prospective bidders should read all the information provided on the website, particularly the terms and conditions because all sales are final.

Prospective bidders should thoroughly investigate the properties prior to the auction. The County makes no guarantees as to the condition of the properties, nor assumes any responsibility for conformance to codes, permits, or zoning ordinances. The burden is on the purchaser to thoroughly research before the sale as to the usability, the ground location, or property lines of the properties. Properties are sold “as is” and no refunds for any purchases are made due to bidder error.

Judgment Liens..... (888) 474-0244

If the Tax Collector obtains a civil judgment, an abstract of judgment, also known as a judicial lien, it is recorded. The lien has the effect of attaching to any real estate, or personal property owned by a debtor and prevents the debtor from recording real estate and loan transactions. In addition, most major credit reporting bureaus report the tax liens. The lien can be released after the judgment is paid in full.

Public Health License Liens (Obtain a release of lien).....(626) 430-5350
If a business fails to pay its annual public health license fee by the designated due date, Public Health files a lien with the Registrar-Recorder. The lien is recorded in the name of the business or the owner.

Unsecured Tax Liens / Personal Property Taxes(213) 893-7935
225 N. Hill St., Rm. 122, Los Angeles 90012
Email: unsecured@ttc.lacounty.gov

Obtain a release of the lien. Unsecured tax bills are mailed beginning in March of each year and continuing through June. The bills are payable upon receipt and become delinquent if payments are not received or postmarked by August 31. If unsecured taxes are not paid as of November 1 of each year, the Tax Collector files a lien with the Registrar-Recorder. Typical items assessed and collected on the unsecured tax roll include boats, airplanes, business property, escape and supplemental assessments against former owners of real property. This lien prevents the assessee from recording real estate and loan transactions in LA County. In addition, most major credit reporting bureaus report the tax liens.
