GUIDE TO UNINCORPORATED AREA SERVICES

First District

WELCOME TO YOUR LOS ANGELES COUNTY GUIDE TO UNINCORPORATED AREA SERVICES

Unincorporated areas in Los Angeles County are not cities; as a result, the County provides municipal services ordinarily provided by an independent municipality such as law enforcement, firefighting, animal control, trash collection, road maintenance, library services, and parks. In LA County, unincorporated areas include more than 1 million residents living in approximately 300,000 households. The areas cover 2,600 square miles and represent one-tenth of the County population and two-thirds of the land area. Some unincorporated areas are as small as a couple of blocks, while other areas are similar in population and development to cities.

Unincorporated area residents are represented by the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors. The Board is responsible for establishing policies and regulations that benefit all unincorporated area residents.

The County's clinics and hospitals keep communities healthy. Sheriff's deputies, firefighters and public works personnel keep communities safe, while County libraries, parks, and community centers keep residents cohesive with local festivals, fairs and farmers markets.

This guide will help residents become familiar with and make use of the many services that LA County has to offer its unincorporated residents.

The County appreciates the opportunity to serve the community and through the policies and programs adopted by the Board of Supervisors, the County aims to enhance County neighborhoods and businesses.

This digital guide will be regularly updated as additional information becomes available.

Land Acknowledgment

Los Angeles County recognizes that we occupy land originally and still inhabited and cared for by the Tongva, Tataviam, Serrano, Kizh, and Chumash Peoples. We honor and pay respect to their elders and descendants — past, present, and emerging — as they continue their stewardship of these lands and waters. We acknowledge that settler colonization resulted in land seizure, disease, subjugation, slavery, relocation, broken promises, genocide and multigenerational trauma. This acknowledgment demonstrates our responsibility and commitment to truth, healing and reconciliation and to elevating the stories, culture and community of the original inhabitants of Los Angeles County. We are grateful to have the opportunity to live and work on these ancestral lands. We are dedicated to growing and sustaining relationships with Native peoples and local tribal governments, including (in no particular order) the:

- Fernandño Tataviam Band of Mission Indians
- Gabrielino Tongva Indians of California Tribal Council
- Gabrieleno/Tongva San Gabriel Band of Mission Indians
- Gabrieleno Band of Mission Indians – Kizh Nation
- San Manuel Band of Mission Indians
- San Fernando Band of Mission Indians

Developed over many months of collaboration with leaders from local Tribes, on November 1, 2022, the Board of Supervisors unanimously voted to adopt a Land Acknowledgment for Los Angeles County.

About LA County

LA County was established on Feb. 18, 1850 as one of California's original 27 counties, just months after California was granted statehood and roughly two years after California became American territory under a treaty ending the Mexican- American war.

The County's original boundaries encompassed an area along the coast between Santa Barbara and San Diego that included present-day Orange County and parts of Ventura and Riverside counties. That map changed dramatically over the years, with LA County at one point stretching all the way east to the state's borders with Nevada and Arizona. By 1889, when Orange County was established, LA County occupied an area that roughly mirrored its modern-day boundaries. LA County now covers 4,084 square miles of land area, including Santa Catalina Island. It is bordered on the north by Kern County, on the east by San Bernardino County, on the south by Orange County and on the west by Ventura County and the Pacific Ocean.

It is the most populous county in the US, with more than 9.7 million residents—a number exceeded by only 10 states—and approximately one-quarter of all California residents live here. It is a charter county and its governing body is the five-member Board of Supervisors, created by the Legislature in 1852.

The County has a multi-billion dollar budget that is funded by federal, state and local revenues. Unlike the State or any of the 88 cities within LA County's jurisdiction, the County does not have the broad authority to assess taxes, but it generates local revenues through both property and sales taxes. It uses its overall budget to provide a wide range of programs and services to its residents. Traditional services mandated by State law include public healthcare and health protection, public social services, child welfare, law enforcement, managing elections, property assessment and tax collection. Other services include affordable housing, economic development, libraries, parks and recreation, arts and cultural programming, and anti-racism and justice reform efforts. More specialized services include flood control, water conservation and agricultural enforcement. In all, the County has 38 departments and a dedicated workforce of more than 100,000 employees to carry out this important work.

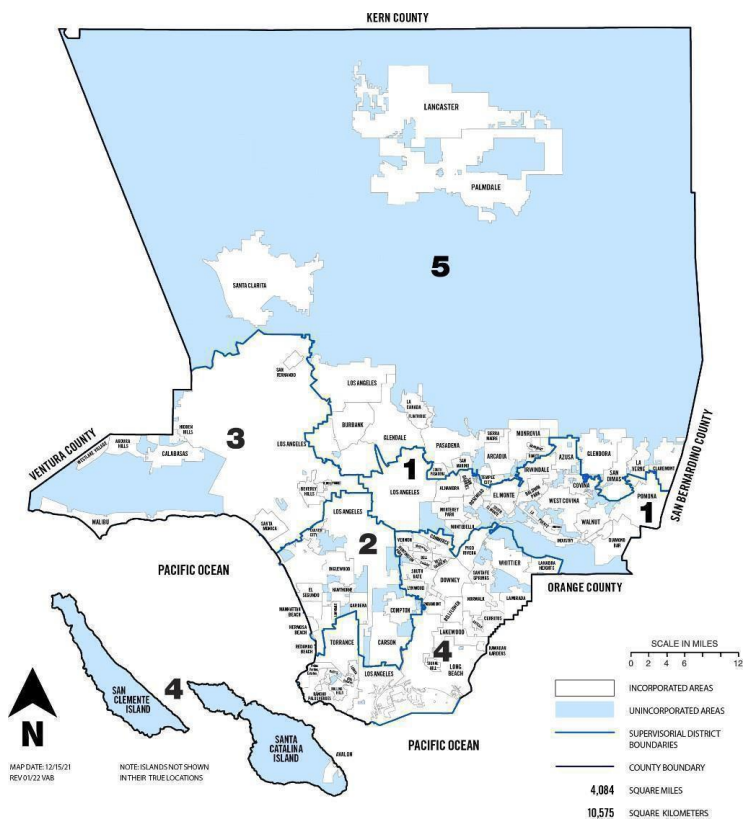

There are 88 cities within the County, each with its own city government. Roughly 65% of the County—more than 2,600 square miles—is unincorporated. For the more than one million people living in those areas, the Board of Supervisors serves as their "city council" and County departments provide municipal services like fire and paramedic services, animal care and control, water, road maintenance and trash collection.

Unlike federal and state governments, which rely on a separation of powers, the Board of Supervisors has executive, legislative and quasi-judicial powers. It sets policy and appoints all department heads other than the assessor, district attorney and sheriff, who are elected officials. Each member of the Board is elected to a four-year term by the voters in their respective district and is subject to a three-term limit. Under the State's Brown Act, with limited exceptions, all meetings of the Board are open to the public, and we welcome your participation in County government.
