

Enhancing Transparency and Community Partnership

This is Los Angeles County's (County) first-ever Unincorporated Communities Annual Report—a significant milestone for both the County and unincorporated area residents. The County is providing this comprehensive overview to help residents understand the scope of public services and impact of investments in their neighborhoods.

What is an Unincorporated Area?

County unincorporated areas are communities that are not part of any of the County's 88 incorporated cities. Instead, governance and representation are provided by the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors—fulfilling the role that a Mayor and City Council would play in an incorporated city.

There are more than 120 unincorporated areas with a total population of approximately one million residents. One out of every 10 County residents lives in an unincorporated community. These communities also cover a significant portion of the County's geography—2,600 square miles, or about two-thirds of the County's total land area.

The Board of Supervisors establishes policies and regulations that benefit all unincorporated area residents, while County departments provide the municipal services and infrastructure—such as law enforcement, firefighting, trash collection, road maintenance, and parks—that residents depend on every day.

Report Focus

At the direction of the Board of Supervisors, the annual report provides a review of services and investments made in the previous fiscal year for each of the 28 unincorporated communities with a population of over 10,000.

The County has invested billions of dollars in these communities, including significant resources for municipal services, quality-of-life programs, and construction and maintenance of public facilities and infrastructure. The annual report captures information from numerous County departments to enhance transparency and accountability, enabling the public to track the County's progress, celebrate successes, and identify opportunities for continued improvement.

Annual reports for each community are available on the County's Municipal and Unincorporated Area Services website at lacounty.gov/muas.

Beyond local services specific to your community, the County also provides countywide services that benefit everyone—from hospitals and museums to election services and emergency management. Most of the County's $46.7 billion budget in Fiscal Year (FY) 2023-24 funded regional services, including:

Health Services and Public Health

County clinics and hospitals (Health Services), food safety, environmental health, and vital records (Public Health), pest management, weed/brush clearance (Agricultural Commissioner/Weights and Measures)
