

Dear Stakeholder(s):

My name is Max Tran, and I serve as an academic counselor at Manual Arts. I began working at Manual Arts in 2013 and have worked closely with each DPO that has been assigned to our campus. Each probation officer has been nothing less than wonderful and has tremendously supported the school and our students. Students on probation are an especially vulnerable population, and these youth have a considerable level of need. The probation department provides essential services that help these students achieve academic and postsecondary success and reorient their lives away from the criminal justice system. Notably, I firmly believe their support and presence on campus are vital and reduce the number of students that fall into the school-to-prison pipeline. Please contact me if you would like to speak further regarding this matter.

Respectfully,
