- Ms. Jimenez, Field Recruiter for the South Bay Safety Staffing Agency

Friday, April 22nd was a day filled with networking and life mapping in Arcadia as the Los Angeles County Probation Department's Riverview Area Office hosted their Community Resource Fair. Probation clients, officers, and community residents attended the fair and engaged with over thirty community-based organizations and exhibitors.

"It feels really good to offer all these services to the community and see us make a positive impact. It's always good to offer services to the community and bring everybody together," expressed J. Esposito, Riverview Area Office Director.

Exhibitors included employment staffing companies, healthcare agencies, substance abuse and domestic violence organizations, record sealing, and many more valuable resources for probation officers and clients.

"We are happy to be here and understand the struggles of finding employment." explained Ms. Deloera of South Bay Safety Staffing Agency. "We strive to make that process easier and support populations that may find it more challenging to find jobs that will benefit them and the community."

Witnessing the exchange of information and seeing attendees' eyes light up when they discovered a service organization they had been looking for was priceless.

"We are very excited to be here hosting a resource booth and providing our services to community members," expressed Rose, the Southern California Program Coordinator for Mothers Against Drunk Driving. "We are very grateful to the Probation Department for inviting us."

Thank you to the Riverview Area Office staff for hosting this community event. And thank you to all the community-based organizations, service providers, and exhibitors for participating. Together we are rebuilding lives and positively impacting LA County communities.
